Admittedly a Blow to Third Term Boom.

The text of John L. Lewis' attack on the Roosevelt administration and prophecy of doom for a third term attempt is on page 6.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—John L. Lewis' repudiation of the Roosevelt administration and prophecy of doom of the third term movement for the President created a political sensation in Washington today.

Senator Wheeler, who will address mine workers tomorrow.

Lewis, speaking before the United Mine Workers of America convention in Columbus, O., said that if the Democratic national convention should be "coerced or dragooned" into renominating Mr. Roosevelt "his candidacy would result in ignominious defeat." He accused the Democratic party of failing to keep faith with labor and asserted that the Roosevelt administration in seven years had failed to solve the problems of unemployment, low national income, mounting internal debt, increasing direct and consumer taxation and restricted foreign markets.

Nation Just Where It Was.

"There still exists the same unhappiness that the nation faced seven years ago," said Lewis.

The incident signalized a definite break between the President and the C. I. O. generalissimo who raised a labor fund of $600,000 for the reëlection of Mr. Roosevelt in 1936.

Another incident that aroused intense interest among Democratic politicians was the speech delivered by Postmaster General James A. Farley at Winston-Salem, N. C., tonight. Reading between the lines many of them thought they perceived—in the following passage of his speech—an intimation that Farley would bolt his party if the President were nominated for a third term:

"I would like to make it perfectly clear, without pretense or flag-raising, that I am partisan in politics and honestly devoted to the success and welfare of my party. I also want to make it clear that if at any time I am confronted with the issue of the welfare of my party, on the one hand, or the welfare of my country on the other, that that issue already has been decided.

Ponders Effect of War.

"I love my country better than I love the Democratic party. It is my constant hope that I never will be confronted with such an issue; but if it should come in this hour of international chaos, I owe too much to America to sacrifice my first loyalty upon the altar of party expediency or party fealty.

"The effect of existing wars upon American politics is utterly unpredictable, and the judgment of our people in patriotic devotion will subordinate partisanship to the public good."

Some Democratic leaders thought Lewis had spiked effectively the third term boom for Mr. Roosevelt. Others scouted the importance of the radical labor leader's pronouncement, pointing out that the President already has been indorsed for a third term by three of the most important C. I. O. unions, the textile workers, clothing workers, and hosiery workers.

New Dealers Aroused.

There was general agreement, however, that Lewis' denunciation of the Roosevelt administration had served to widen the Democratic party split over the New Deal and the third term.

Administration leaders in congress privately boiled with indignation at Lewis' utterances, but grimly declined to be quoted. What angered them more than anything else was Lewis' assertion that the Democratic party has not kept faith with the unions that contributed so heavily to the Roosevelt campaign fund.

"The fact is that we kept faith only too well," snorted one Democratic leader. "It's what we did for labor

Canadians Quit Seaway Conference

REPORT DELAY NOW MAY STOP PACT FOR 1940

Accord Reached on Power Alone.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—Negotiations looking toward conclusion of a new treaty authorizing joint American and Canadian development of President Roosevelt's pet power and navigation project—the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway—appeared to have collapsed tonight as a Canadian treaty delegation packed its bags and started for Ottawa.

A. A. Berle.

The abrupt departure of the Canadians, who had been expected to remain here until the treaty was drawn and submitted to the senate, indicated that a snag had been struck in the discussions.

At the outset of the third day of deliberation it was reported at the state department that the Canadian and United States delegates were settling engineering problems and would be so engaged for several days.

Berle Sees Roosevelt.

Later in the day Assistant Secretary of State Adolph A. Berle, chief American negotiator, paid a hurried visit to the White House. He would not reveal the nature of his conference with the President, altho he said that it was about the waterway project.

Several hours after Berle's White House visit the state department issued a brief announcement saying Dr. O. D. Skelton, Canadian under secretary of state for foreign affairs, and his associates had left Washington during the afternoon for the Canadian capital.

The statement said progress had been made in the discussions and gave as the reason for the departure of the Canadians the fact that both delegations desired to report on various matters of policy to their governments.

Delay Means Defeat.

This version of the Canadians' withdrawal was greeted with skepticism on Capitol hill, where congressional leaders are agreed that delay now is fatal to the President's project.

Unless a treaty is submitted to congress in the next few weeks there will be no possibility of its consideration at the session of congress in a presidential and congressional campaign year. The departure of the Canadians was considered an indication of a definite break and signaling enough delay to balk treaty consideration at this session.

Two reasons were advanced for the purported breakdown of the negotiations:

First, it was believed, that the Canadian government has become convinced that its wartime power needs will not be great enough to warrant interest in the project. The war had induced the Canadian government to withdraw objection to the treaty and enabled President Roosevelt to revive a project he said yesterday he has been interested in since early manhood.

Second, it also was believed, recent clashes between Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario, long time foe of the waterway scheme, and Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada have induced the Canadians to withdraw.

Forced to Return Home.

After the delegation had departed it was learned at the state department that the row between Hepburn and King is so grave that whispers had reached here a week ago that the Canadians would be forced to drop the seaway plan on one pretext or another.

The state department supported its claim of progress with a statement that engineer advisers of both delegations had agreed on the power development with a compromise of the Canadian two-dam plan of the 1932

Every One Able to Enjoy Bandit Raid Save Abel

Five of the boys were whooping it up last night in the tavern at 4506 McDowell avenue when in walked two men carrying revolvers.

"Where's the money?" demanded one of the gunmen.

"There is no money here," replied Jacob Abel, the manager. Since he was robbed of $600 two months ago, Abel had taken to hiding his money. Last night a sheaf of $230 reposed under a pile of newspapers on the bar.

"We know this joint better than you do," replied the bandits. "Get in there." And the robbers herded Abel and his five patrons into a washroom.

Pass Whisky to Imprisoned.

Then they set about a systematic search of the barroom. From time to time, one would open the washroom door, and hand in a bottle of whisky. Or gin. Sometimes cigarets.

As the search continued, sounds of merriment drifted from behind the washroom door. The husky voices of a mixed quintet could be heard, with the bass of Abel conspicuously absent.

Two hours later the robbers knocked on the door and announced the money had been found. But Abel was to count to 60 before he and his cronies came out, so the robbers could get away.

Bandits Demand a Longer Count.

Abel counted, but when he emerged the two bandits were still drinking at the bar. Abel was reprimanded and sent back to count to 60 all over again.

And when the imprisoned customers staggered out, the bandits had vanished. On the bar lay a $10 bill to pay for the liquor.

U. S. LINER'S CAPTAIN SAYS BRITISH CAUSE UNNECESSARY DELAY

New York, Jan. 24 [Special.]—The long delays to which American ships are subjected by the British contraband control authorities at Gibraltar are wholly unnecessary, asserted Capt. George V. Richardson as he docked the United States liner Manhattan today to end its first round trip in service to Italy. The ship's North Atlantic beat was closed by restrictions of the neutrality laws.

"They took off 235 sacks of mail for Germany and other countries and didn't return them," said Capt. Richardson. "We felt they shouldn't have held us at all. They looked over the ship's papers and inspected 900 tons of cargo, but did not touch any of it."

Capt. Richardson criticized the fact that "any British patrol boat can take you in, but orders for a ship to be released must come from London." This, he said, is one of the reasons for the unnecessary delays.

Protests on the 40 hour tieup on the eastbound voyage were lodged with both the United States consul and the British commandant, but were futile, he said.

Delay at Gibraltar on the return trip was 11 hours. In addition to inspection of papers and 970 tons of cargo, British authorities questioned some of the 52 German Jewish refugees on board, but did not take them off the liner.

Britain Seizes American Cash Mailed to Nazis

LONDON, Jan. 24 (AP).—A description of jewelry, cash, drugs, food, cameras and other "contraband" seized in examination of 25,000 parcel post packages from the Americas during the three months ended Jan. 12 was released tonight by informed British sources.

Of 6,000 letter items seized, more than half were from the United States. Among them was found American currency totaling $9,900. There were also checks for 5,279,750 reichsmarks [$2,111,190], checks for £17,800 [$71,912] and checks for 426,355 American dollars. The money was destined for Germany.

British informants said the seizure of the cash counted double against the Germans since they not only would be deprived of it but the British would be enriched by that much.

Seize $32,320 Necklace.

A pearl necklace valued at $32,320 was among the articles of contraband seized from between 16,000 and 17,000 parcels examined from the United States alone.

During the three months the British examined at least $8,080,000 worth of industrial diamonds but none were seized inasmuch as some were addressed to countries other than Germany.

A British spokesman declared evidence had been uncovered also that traffic in food for Germany from the United States and South America was organized on an "enormous scale."

Take Coffee, Beans and Soap.

The shippers were described as both private well-wishers and German firms in the United States, with sample mail the most popular method employed in attempting to get food into Germany. The seized sample packages contained principally small bags of coffee, beans, soap and edible and inedible fats.

Besides food, the British charged a large scale racket had sprung up in the United States to get foreign exchange to Germany by sending large quantities of cash and checks thru the mails. Of 1,590 Europe-bound parcels examined on two American ships, 1,403 were seized as contraband.

In another instance, examination of 4,462 packages enroute to Germany resulted in 4,063 of them being branded as contraband.

Finns Closing Ring Around Two Divisions

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Jan. 25, Thursday (AP).—Soviet bombers, swarming again over Finland, yesterday sank a Finnish ship in the Aaland Islands and tried to bomb a German vessel while Finnish land armies tightened a steel trap around a big soviet force cut off from help northeast of Lake Ladoga.

For the third successive day the Finns, northeast of Lake Ladoga, repulsed and inflicted heavy losses on Red army units trying to batter thru to the relief of two marooned soviet divisions on the flank of the Mannerheim line.

The precise manner of the entrapment was still a military secret, but one reason for the plight of the Russians was said here to be the Finns' usual tactics of swift raids, and their stubborn refusal to be frightened by tanks.

Red Tanks Fire Wildly.

Maneuvering swiftly on skis, white clad Finnish riflemen worried soviet tank crews by their sniping to the point that the tanks began charging in circles, firing in all directions.

Excitement was mounting in Helsingfors, where the Finns said important developments were only half revealed by laconic Finnish communiques.

The army communique yesterday said: "The enemy attacked . . . in the greatest strength at Kollaanjoki and Aittajoki. All attacks were repulsed. The enemy's losses in this fighting were heavy."

On Tuesday the communique said that in the "fighting at Kollaanjoki the number of enemy dead has mounted during the last two days to upward of 1,000." Monday's communique said the Russians had lost 570 dead in fighting about Aittajoki and Kollaanjoki.

The Russian Tactics.

That was the official version, but the unofficial version of what is happening was like this:

Early in the invasion of Finland the soviet generals sent large forces northwestward along the shores of Lake Ladoga with the idea of threatening the Karelian isthmus Mannerheim line from the rear.

Two columns rushed forward in characteristic "blitzkrieg" style, but at Loimola and Syskyjarvi they were smashed.

Again a big force was sent northwestward along the lake shore—this time more cautiously. But the advance was stopped at Kitela.

Kitela, Loimola, and Syskyjarvi all are in a line about 20 miles from the Russian border. Kitela is the southernmost, only six or seven miles from the lake shore, Syskyjarvi about 12 miles north of the lake, and Loimola about 28 miles north of the lake.

Send Troops Over Ice.

Several attempts were made to send troops across the ice of Lake Ladoga to the relief of the force at Kitela, but every attempt was frustrated.

Then more desperate efforts were made to rush supporting forces to Kitela along the railway line which runs southwestward from Suojarvi, 55 miles to the north, near the soviet frontier. But this attempt was halted where the Kollaan river intersects the railway in the region of Loimola.

'COME OVER AND TAKE A BATH!' IT'S POPULAR INVITATION IN BERLIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 24.—Berlin's problem of the hour is whether to take a bath. Lack of hot water in most homes and hotels is leading to a new form of social invitation. Instead of asking friends in for a game of cards, it is fashionable to say, "Come up and take a bath." This offer is possible only for the comparatively few who have hot water and they now are busily arranging "bath time tables" for friends.

Many residents sought to evade the ban on the use of coal or hot water systems by heating water on kitchen stoves, but the mayor today decreed that the use of gas must be restricted on the grounds that the limit of production has been reached. It is forbidden to use gas for heating rooms except on Saturdays and Sundays. The use of ovens and gas stoves to heat rooms also is banned.

Nazi party officials have been ordered to see that the public uses as little gas, electricity, and coal as possible. Shopkeepers have been trained to deal with the food problem and the coal shortage. They have been admonished not to tolerate grumbling customers in their stores.

HOLLAND TURNS DOWN ENGLAND AS ALLY IN WAR

Hits Churchill's Bid to Join Empires.

Holland's leaders yesterday decisively rejected the proposal of Winston Churchill, British first lord of the admiralty, that Europe's small neutral nations enter the war against Germany. Meanwhile England continued its suggestion that some of these neutrals, at least, eventually will be involved in the war. Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain told the British house of commons that England was ready at any time to help Belgium against aggression, but stipulated that the British government retains the right to decide what constitutes aggression or threatened attack. Chamberlain's speech provoked in Belgium an immediate reaction somewhat similar to the reaction to Churchill's speech in Holland. In Belgium government officials declared that no assistance can ever come to Belgium from England or France unless Belgium itself decides whether such help is needed. Details of these developments are contained in the following dispatches.

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, Jan. 24 (AP).—Representatives of all parties tonight rejected, during a foreign affairs debate in the Netherlands first chamber, the thesis of Winston Churchill that the collective safety of Europe's small neutrals lies in "united action" with Great Britain and France. The British first lord of the admiralty advanced this thesis in a radio speech last Saturday night.

Dutch speakers voiced approval of the neutral foreign policy of Eduard van Kleffens, foreign minister of the Netherlands, who will close the debate tomorrow. Churchill's speech was assailed vigorously, and unswerving neutrality was applauded as the only course for Holland.

Defends Right to Neutrality.

"Holland has a moral right to neutrality and has nothing to do with endeavors like those of Churchill to draw us into battles for which we have not a single responsibility," declared Prof. B. de Savornin Lohman, member of the Christian Historical party of Premier Derek Jan de Geer.

Britain and France, not the neutrals, "have killed collective security," said Lohman. He suggested, also, that the Netherlands stay aloof from soviet Russia and the league of nations alike.

Members of the Catholic party asked why Churchill had addressed himself to small European neutrals instead of to the United States, Italy, and Japan.

Points to Versailles.

One speaker contended that membership in the league was not dangerous to Dutch neutrality, but declared all neutrals should refuse to cooperate in any projected international organization for settlement of European problems after hostilities cease.

"We must understand the lessons of Versailles and Geneva," he said.

Both Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain and Premier Edouard Daladier of France have spoken hopefully of some sort of a United States of Europe after the war is over.

Claims Argument Lacks Force.

A Calvinist party speaker, Prof. Anema, declared: "The argument of Churchill that neutrals have to fight lacks any real force."

"The war," he continued, "was not begun in the interest of civilization, of the right and for small nations, but for a particular purpose. England and France are not fighting for the Jews, or for Ethiopians, Albania, Austria, or Czecho-Slovakia.

"Neither is England fighting for Poland, but for her own vital rights. Therefore there is no ground for asking Holland and other neutrals to go into the war.

Admits Interest in Result.

"This, of course, does not mean that the neutrals have no interest in the result of the war."

One of the four National Socialist [Nazi] members of the chamber, Van Nessen, demanded that the Netherlands withdraw from the league.

"There are tendencies in Belgium which might be fatal to us," he said.

The government today restored periodic leaves for the military services, canceled 10 days ago, indicating the government's belief that dangers of invasion have lessened. Belgium also has restored army leaves.

BRITAIN OFFERS HELP

LONDON, Jan. 24 (AP).—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, avoiding a stand on the subject of a break with Russia, told the house of commons today that Great Britain was ready at any time to fulfill its pledges to Belgium.

Reviewing treaties and declarations from the signing of the treaty of Locarno in 1925 to as late as last Aug. 27, a few days before Germany invaded Poland, Chamberlain said Britain had undertaken "to go to the immediate assistance of Belgium in the event of unprovoked aggression by Germany."

Under these pledges the British government retains the right to decide what constitutes aggression or threatened attack.

Avoids Direct Reply.

Chamberlain avoided a direct reply when asked whether Britain would break off relations with Russia in view of the invasion of Finland. Such a move, he said, "would require most careful consideration in all its aspects."

He declined to reply to a further inquiry from Maj. Alfred William Fortescue Knox as to whether a break with Moscow would not be "logically and morally right" and "politically sound."

A usually reliable source predicted this week that Ivan Maisky, the Russian ambassador, would return to Moscow soon, altho the reasons were not given. Maisky is an expert on Finnish affairs. Sir William Seeds, the British ambassador to Moscow, recently returned to London for a vacation.

Trade Military Information.

Chamberlain told commons that Britain and Italy were exchanging military information as provided in the British-Italian agreement of 1938 and that the exchange of naval and aviation information would be completed before the end of the month.

He added that prior to the outbreak of the war Italy stated she was unable to accept British proposals regarding the frontiers between Italian East Africa and Sudan, Kenya and British Somaliland. These and related questions are under diplomatic consideration, he said.

OFFER IRRITATES BELGIUM

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Jan. 24.—Belgian government officials, tho pleased with Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's statement in London that England is ready to protect Belgium in case of attack, tonight emphasized that no such help can ever come from either England or France according to the stipulations mentioned by the prime minister unless Belgium decides whether such aid is needed.

Chamberlain's assurance was regarded here as an effort to remove the strong resentment aroused in small neutral countries of Europe by the speech of Winston Churchill, Britain's first lord of the admiralty, last Saturday. In that speech Churchill said that the neutrals by not fighting Germany were cowardly in refusing to perform a national duty.

Foreign Office Irritated.

Chamberlain's declaration that "the test" of whether the neutrals were being attacked was a question for Britain to decide caused the foreign office to stress that the decision rests entirely with the Belgian government.

"If there is no attack there can be no aid, and Belgium must first ask for aid before it can be given," a high government official said. "And no aid from any side will be asked if there is no attack."

The general effect of Chamberlain's statement seemed to observers to be an effort to remove the "stupor and indignation" [THE TRIBUNE'S correspondent uses the phrase used in the majority of Belgian newspapers] resulting from Churchill's speech.

Protest Churchill's Speech.

Despite the British government's explanation that the first lord of the admiralty was speaking only for himself, each of the 24 newspapers in Brussels has protested vehemently. Most of them have rejected British efforts in dismissing the speech as unimportant. The reason given is that Churchill is a leading government official, his speech was prepared in advance, passed by the tight British censorship, and then broadcast to the four corners of the earth.

Nearly all of these papers are pro-French and heretofore were leaning toward the British. But some of these, and of them the most conservative, bitterly recalled Churchill's 1914 advice to Belgium to hold out at Antwerp, saying that help would arrive. The help never came, and if his advice had been taken, Belgians said, it would have meant the capture of the Belgian king and government.

Other newspapers ridiculed British aid to Poland. They asked why England, after promising assistance to Warsaw, never sent "one soldier when Poland was being annihilated."

TURKEY TO SIGN NEW GERMAN TRADE PACT; CLAIMS ADVANTAGES

ANKARA, Turkey, Jan. 24 (AP).—The ministry of commerce announced today that Turkey would sign a new trade agreement with Germany which it declared would be highly favorable to Turkey.

The agreement, replacing one which expired last August, is based on an exchange of German chemicals and other manufactures for Turkish cotton, wool, and fruit. Germany assumes full risks of transportation, including possible confiscation by the British and French blockade.

[Turkey has pacts of mutual assistance and economic agreements with Britain and France.]

EMPIRES MASS FORCE IN SYRIA, SAY RUSSIANS

SHANGHAI, Jan. 24.—Mysterious enlistment activities of British and French agents, who have been busy in Shanghai, Tientsin, and Manchukuo, particularly Harbin, since early November, may be explained by charges made in the Russian newspaper Red Star, organ of the Red army.

The Red Star charges Britain and France with secretly arranging concentrations of men and supplies in Syria and Palestine for use against potential enemies of the Anglo-French bloc.

British and French agents have been enlisting White Russians in the far east, selecting only those from Georgia or the Caucausus regions who are familiar with the languages of those areas. The recruits have been departing by scores on British and French ships bound to Suez. Foreign military observers estimate 2,500 or more have left China and Manchukuo in the last three months.

NO MORE CANDY ON THE CUFF FOR ETON'S RICH BOYS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 24.—Eton college boys, sons of the wealthiest families in Britain, are feeling the pinch of the wartime economy drive launched by the headmaster, C. A. Elliott. Running up credits at the college sock [candy] store will be banned henceforth, it has been announced.

Elliott also has advised the parents that they now may buy school outfits for their sons at London stores instead of having them especially made by Eton tailors. This concession is described as "revolutionary."

Economies have been decreed in the use of textbooks.

SWEDES ASK KING TO ACT FOR PEACE IN FINN-RED WAR

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Jan. 25, Thursday (AP).—A massmeeting for Finnish relief decided early today to appeal to King Gustav V. of Sweden to take the initiative in mediation action between Finland and the soviet union, and to invite the kings of Norway and Denmark to a conference on the subject. The suggestion was made that if the rulers of the Netherlands and Belgium also would attend, the mediation offer might be extended to the war in western Europe.

FINNS DRIVE BACK REDS FIGHTING TO SAVE 2 DIVISIONS

peated attacks in the last three days, but their men were thrown back with heavy losses in each case.

Meanwhile, the trapped Kitela force is reported here to be in a precarious situation, with the soldiers reduced to eating horse meat.

Planes Sink Finnish Ship.

The Russians continued their attacks on the Karelian isthmus. Yesterday's communique said all new attacks, including an attempt to pierce the Mannerheim line by crossing the ice of Lake Muola, had been thrown back.

Dumping 10 or 15 bombs, the soviet planes which attacked the Aaland Islands sank the 1,133 ton Notung, of Finnish registry, near Sottunga, a small island in the eastern part of the archipelago. Other bombs barely missed a German ship, unnamed in dispatches reaching here, which had run aground nearby. A third ship, also unidentified, was machine gunned from a plane near the island of Houtskar.

No direct hit was scored on the Notung, but one bomb fell close enough to cause a leak. After the Notung had foundered, the planes were reported to have machine gunned the crew as they rowed toward shore, but no one was hit.

Bomb East Front Towns.

Waves of 5, 10, and 15 planes bombed Kuhmo, in eastern Finland, damaging one frame building and firing another. The towns of Vuokatti and Taivalkoski also were bombed and the populations machine gunned.

The Russian bombing raids showed no signs of letting up. The Finns' communique said two hospitals were subjected to bombing at Nurmes yesterday in northern Finland; 21 civilians were killed and 21 wounded.

The Finns carried out several reconnaissance and bombing flights of their own yesterday, and reported nearly 300 enemy planes brought to earth since the start of the war.

MOSCOW, Jan. 24 (AP).—Leningrad military headquarters tonight issued the following communique thru Tass, the official soviet news agency:

BILL PAVING WAY FOR FINNISH LOAN GIVEN APPROVAL

Boosts Lending Power of Export-Import Bank.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—The senate banking and currency committee today reported a bill to increase the lending authority of the Export-Import bank from 100 million to 200 million dollars. The bill made no reference to financial assistance for Finland or any other foreign country.

Senator Brown, who agreed to substitute bill.

The committee thus tossed the politically hot potato involved in the Finnish loan issue to Jesse H. Jones, federal loan administrator. The bill reported stipulates that not more than $30,000,000 may be lent by the Export-Import bank to any one borrower. Since Finland already has received credit of $10,000,000, the bill, if enacted, would permit Mr. Jones to advance another $20,000,000 to that country.

Up to Second Committee.

Under a unanimous consent agreement previously adopted by the senate the bill must be considered by the foreign relations committee before it comes up for action in the senate itself. Altho the banking and currency committee reported the bill by a vote of 17 to 2, it is expected to meet strong opposition in the foreign relations committee.

Members of the foreign relations committee, including some who supported President Roosevelt's neutrality revision program at the recent special session of congress, have denounced the practice of leaving important questions of foreign policy, such as political loans to foreign governments, to the determination of the Export-Import bank.

Reported as Substitute.

The bill reported today was a substitute for the proposal of Senator Prentiss M. Brown [D., Mich.] to authorize the Reconstruction Finance corporation to make a direct loan of $60,000,000 to the republic of Finland. Senator Brown agreed to the substitute after conferences with Jones and other administration officials.

Senator Robert A. Taft [R., O.] and Senator John A. Danaher [R., Conn.] voted against the bill, Taft because he believed 100 million dollars to be too much and Danaher because he opposed the principle of lending money to nations at war.

The substitute measure substantially follows the recommendations made by President Roosevelt in his communication to congress Jan. 16. Mr. Roosevelt said there was without doubt "a great desire for some action to assist Finland to finance the purchase of agricultural surpluses and manufactured products, not including implements of war." A reasonable approach, he said, would be to increase the revolving credit fund of the Export-Import bank.

Other Pleas Expected.

"This government," the President said, "will have early occasion to consider a number of applications for loans to citizens and small countries abroad, especially in Scandinavia and South America."

Norway, Sweden, and Denmark, as well as various South American countries, are said to be seeking loans.

The banking and currency committee followed the President's recommendation in providing that no loans shall be made for the purchase of arms, ammunition, and implements of war. It is conceded, however, that there is nothing in the terms of the existing loan or the proposed law to prevent Finland from exchanging so-called nonmilitary supplies purchased with Export-Import bank credit in this country for munitions in other countries.

Rescues Dog

A big Dobermann-Pinscher, carried out into the lake on an ice cake off Sherwin avenue, was rescued yesterday after a bath in the frigid water. Sam Leone, director of the Touhy avenue beach and skating rink, rowed a boat out a quarter of a mile and pulled the shivering dog from the water.

The Dobermann, a female, was frolicking with two other dogs on the shore. All three jumped on a floe, but one retreated to land before the ice started drifting into the lake. The second jumped into the water and swam a few yards to shore. The Dobermann remained on the ice cake.

After the cake had floated far into the water the Dobermann took to the water, evidently intending to swim ashore. But she found the water too cold and attempted to scramble back on the floe. She couldn't make it, and so she clung by her paws to the cake for half an hour until Leone came to her rescue.

FRIENDS REJOICE AS MISSIONARIES ESCAPE POLAND

A cable dispatch in THE TRIBUNE announcing the arrival of 31 American refugees in Bucharest, Rumania, was read with joy yesterday at Holy Trinity church. Five missionaries in the party were well known at the church, and the Rev. Borislaw J. Sztuszko, one of the refugees, is the nephew of the Rev. Casimir Sztuczko, C. S. C., pastor of Holy Trinity.

No word had been received from the missionaries since November, when it was learned here that they were attempting to escape the Russian occupation of eastern Poland. The Rev. Anthony Rozewicz, an assistant pastor at Holy Trinity, said that he spent seven months with the group in 1938.

"We first learned that the priests were on their way to Rome," Father Rozewicz said yesterday. "Then we heard that they had been stopped somewhere in Poland."

2D AUSTRALIAN FORCE EMBARKS; 500,000 CHEER

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 24.—Five hundred thousand Australians packed streets here today and roared a farewell to the second Australian imperial force to embark for service on the western front.

At many intersections the troops were forced to wade thru the crowd in single file. At parliament house, Governor General Lord Gowrie took the salute of the troops, which included infantry, artillery, engineers, signallers and a motorized unit.

Premier R. G. Menzies told the soldiers: "In this war the real frontier is that separating those believing in a noble, unselfish cause and those standing for selfishness and violence. However far apart the British peoples live geographically, they are together in this matter."

SWISS PREPARE EVACUATION OF 2 LARGE CITIES

Measure Called Routine by Army Staff.

BERN, Switzerland, Jan. 24 (AP).—The Swiss general staff tonight published instructions for possible removal of populations of two of Switzerland's largest cities—Zurich and Basel. It also strongly advised civilians to refrain from hostile activities in event of invasion unless the military command proclaims a mass rising.

This mass removal, if carried out, would involve about 864,000 people. Instructions to the populations of Zurich and Basel, both on or near the German frontier, were issued just four days after similar orders were posted in the Kreuzlingen district, at the western end of Lake Constance.

Called Routine Measures.

The general staff, however, informed the public these measures were routine and should cause no alarm. The communique said preparation for removal of civilian frontier populations in event of danger was begun before the German-British-French war and had now reached such a point that the public must be advised.

In the near future all citizens will receive identification cards and all children will be given identification tags. German frontier guards meanwhile are stretching several miles of barbed wire barriers along the Swiss frontier at Lorrach, immediately north of Basel.

Factory Workers Exempted.

They are strictly enforcing a ban against Germans crossing the frontier between sundown and sunrise. A week ago German frontier authorities announced all local frontier traffic there was suspended, but since then they have permitted skilled Swiss workers employed in German factories to cross at any hour.

BRITAIN GIVES UP HOPE FOR 2 SHIPS AND 18 SEAMEN

LONDON, Jan. 24 (AP).—Britain gave up hope today for two British vessels long overdue and notified relatives of the crews that they must be considered lost. The boats were the 500 ton freighter Parkhill and the trawler New Haven. Each carried a crew of nine.

The 726 ton Belgian freighter Meuse and her crew of seven were feared lost. The Meuse has not been reported since she radioed on Jan. 18 that she was en route to Zeebrugge, Belgium.

Stig Bergstrom, 27 years old, the only survivor of the Swedish freighter Foxen, reached an English port and told of four days of terror on a flimsy raft. Eight comrades, including his brother, slipped off one by one to a watery grave.

Mines, planes, and submarines were blamed for 21 ship sinkings reported since Sunday.

GERMAN FLYERS RAID SHETLANDS; DROP 11 BOMBS

LONDON, Jan. 24 (AP).—Three German bombing planes scouted the Shetland Islands, northeast of Scotland, for two hours today. They dropped eleven bombs, all of which are said to have fallen harmlessly into the sea or on land, before fighting planes chased them away.

Some of the bombs were aimed at a trawler and a steamer. It was the 13th attack on the Shetlands since the war opened.

Late tonight searchlights swept the sky over a town on the English coast and antiaircraft batteries fired. Residents said they saw no planes.

NOBLES IN BRITAIN DEFEND HITLER'S BLONDE FRIEND

Peers Rebuke Critics of Wounded Woman.

LONDON, Jan. 24 (AP).—Members of the house of lords spoke up tonight to rebuke public critics of Unity Freeman-Mitford, Adolf Hitler's blonde friend. They spoke after Joseph Henderson, a Labor member of the house of commons, had served notice he would ask that she be placed under guard because of "her recent hostile associations."

Miss Freeman-Mitford, daughter of Lord Redesdale, was sent home by Hitler early this month. She is reported to be in a nursing home, preparatory to an operation to remove a bullet from her neck. The wound, London newspapers have said, was inflicted in Munich last August.

Attacks Newsreel.

A news reel commentary about her spectacular return to England on Jan. 3 was singled out by Lord Denman for noble disdain.

Lord Denman, who several years ago was a sponsor of the "right to die society," which sought to legalize mercy killings, said:

"I can understand how the activities of Miss Freeman-Mitford caused annoyance and exasperation to many people in this country but, considering the uphappy plight in which she returned, to poun ridicule as was done in the commentary was unfair and ungenerous."

The marquess of Dufferin and Ava, for the government, agreed that the Freeman-Mitford film was "an example of sadistic brutality."

Blames Gag on Press.

For the Labor peers, Lord Strabolgi said the ministry of information was keeping the press so short of news that "unfortunate journalists" grasped at any story they could write.

Lord Denman also asserted a news reel company had erred in presenting the resignation of Leslie Hore-Belisha as war secretary in the way it did.

"May I remind the house that a British army did exist before Mr. Hore-Belisha became secretary of state, and that not all officers in the army were a set of reactionary Col. Blimps," he said.

CANALS FROZEN; FRANCE BATTLES TRANSPORT WOES

Rail Passenger Service Is Cut to Move Freight.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 24.—France's weather has been so cold in the last few days that canals have frozen and caused the government to cut down railroad passenger traffic in order to speed the movement of freight.

This was announced tonight by the newspaper Le Temps, which is the nearest thing to an official organ existing in France. The news previously had been suppressed by the censor but the ban apparently has been relaxed.

Le Temps states that this winter is the most rigorous Europe has known since the world war but that France is more fortunate than many of the neutral countries.

Coffee Supply Runs Short.

There has been no lack of vital commodities and difficulties have been met only in transporting certain supplies, due partly to the weather and partly to the requisitioning of trucks and the mobilization of transport workers.

Even the shortage of coffee, which annoyed Parisians and still more the inhabitants of the provinces, is attributed less to a cutting of the supply at the source than to a lack of domestic transport. In many cases the waterfronts of France's Mediterranean and Atlantic ports have been loaded with foodstuffs which were delivered to the interior only after considerable delay.

Coal Transport Hit.

According to Le Temps, the difficulties Paris has suffered during the current cold wave resulted from the freezing of navigable routes along which heavy materials, including coal, ordinarily pass, thus causing a new overloading of the railways. The situation has been complicated by the necessity for keeping the army supplied with rail and road transports.

Le Temps suggests that to provide the civil population with necessities and to increase production, which Finance Minister Paul Reynaud has described as a vital necessity, a division of transports between the army and civil industry is imperative.

Hour Added to Night Life.

Parisians who have been distressed by the freezing weather and the shortage of coal were given something to rejoice about tonight by the police department. This was an announcement that by agreement with the military governor of the Paris region, cafés, restaurants, and night clubs will be permitted to remain open until midnight. Heretofore every one, including soldiers on leave, has had to stop his merrymaking and go home at 11 p. m.

With the relaxing of rules on night entertainment, the fun spots of the Montmarte and Montparnasse are expected to begin looking like their true selves again, save for the absence of the free spending Americans.

SERB WARSHIP SINKS; SKIPPER SUICIDE; SAVE 300

SPLIT, Jugo-Slavia, Jan. 24 (AP).—The Jugo-Slav destroyer Ljubljana, 1,400 tons, sank within an hour at the naval base of Sibenik today after it struck a submerged cliff.

Commander Ahlin committed suicide when the boat sank. The rest of the crew, numbering approximately 300, jumped overboard and were rescued.

ROSE SORENSON.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 24 [Special.]—A mutual friend introduced Rose Sorenson of Preston, Kas., waitress in a local café, to a Mr. Ferris, 35 years old, who said he owned a fleet of trucks. They had gone together only a week when he proposed and was accepted. Last week they went shopping.

Rose picked out engagement and wedding rings, expensive looking furniture, a trousseau, a de luxe model automobile, a grand piano, even a five room $6,350 house.

In each case, Ferris told the sellers to set their products aside, that he would be in with a check. The gifts totaled $11,230. The real estate dealer became suspicious and notified police. They didn't find Ferris, but did find Rose. She didn't know where her fiancé lived and she had spent all her money, $3.50, trying to find him.

ITALIANS BLAME FRENCH FOR LOSS OF LIFE ON LINER

Charge Delay Caused by Navy Was "Fatal."

ROME, Jan. 24 (AP).—Il Popolo D'Italia, Premier Mussolini's Milan newspaper, today published a Genoa dispatch blaming the French for the loss of life aboard the Italian liner Orazio because the French navy halted the ship four hours to remove 12 German passengers. The Orazio burned Sunday.

The dispatch called the delay "fatal," asserting that otherwise the Orazio "would have been able to reach Barcelona and save all her passengers." The Orazio was en route to South America via Barcelona.

52 Unaccounted For.

GENOA, Italy, Jan. 24 (AP).—A checkup on the number of survivors from the liner Orazio left at least 52 persons unaccounted for today. Italian Line officials expressed fear the total might reach 100.

The unknown number of survivors taken to Marseilles by French rescue boats before the Italian liners Conte Biancamano and Colombo arrived here yesterday with more than 500 others led to uncertainty over the exact loss of life.

Fuel Oil Blast.

The Orazio's original passengers and crew lists totaled 643, but 12 German passengers had been taken off by a French patrol ship last Saturday, the day before a fuel oil blast turned the Orazio into a blazing hulk off the French Mediterranean coast.

HOLD UP TWELVE IN TAVERN.

FRENCH COMBINE HOSPITAL UNITS IN 'CITIES OF REFUGE'

Wounded May Find Help Safe from Bombs.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE, Jan. 24.—Medical service in this war is obviously much different from that of the world war and beyond doubt superior. For this war the service's preparedness was thoro. In fact, the war having become one of inaction, the medical service is largely superfluous for the moment and is waiting for something to do.

I have the impression that the wounded and sick soldiers in this war are being not only more competently but more humanely treated than were those in the last war. Many soldiers who served on the world war's western front had terror of military hospitals, but French soldiers with whom I recently talked at the medical center of Vittel expressed confidence they were getting the best of treatment. They pointed out, in fact, sometimes with bitterness, that in civilian life they would be unable to afford the expert care which they are receiving.

"Cities of Refuge" Created.

Among innovations in the medical service is a feature worth noting. The French have constituted large medical centers which really are neutral cities, and there they are grouping services that formerly were scattered. They thus expect to improve service to the sick and wounded and to save such places from bombardment by making them clearly known to the enemy.

As the sites of these "cities of refuge" the French have chosen places that have no military or strategic importance or, if necessary, have stripped them of anything that might be so classified. No military man, except patients, doctors, and nurses, is allowed to enter. One such center is at the spa of Vittel, in the heart of the Vosges mountains. Another is at the little Lorraine city of Phalsbourg [Pfalzburg].

Army Goes into Business.

Military forces occupying the plain of Alsace are being partly organized as a large scale business enterprise, giving the phrase "total war" its real meaning. They are reviving industries for the service of the armies, mainly opening up factories that were abandoned at the beginning of the war.

Local labor that was made idle when the factories were abandoned thus is finding employment and many a soldier with technical skill is finding an outlet for his energies.

At a small Alsatian town I was shown three such industries, and one was completely new. An abandoned garage had been converted into a shop, and there soldiers, aided by girls, were making flashlight batteries, of which there is a shortage in France.

Another military enterprise was operating a shoe factory to turn out shoes for the army. The shoes were no brown paper product, but the manager, a major, said they were unlikely to last more than two months in the mud and barbed wire front line service.

Save Meat Once Wasted.

Another factory is concerned with meat to be served to soldiers. Incredible as it may seem, the idea of utilizing meat by-products and scraps is just beginning to make headway in the French army. This canning factory receives from the army butcher shops portions of animal carcasses that formerly were thrown away.

Its manager told me that from the head alone of each slaughtered ox they recover three kilograms [about 6.6 pounds] of edible meat. It is made into a paste that looks and tastes like the so-called liver paste I got from the German army in Poland. The chief output of this enterprise until the present had been canned tripe.

The ambition of the factory's management now is to make a variety of canned products such as bean pot with chunks of meat in it. These cans would be ready to serve in the front lines after being heated, thus giving the soldier a hot, palatable food instead of cold canned corned beef and hardtack.

Visits Deserted Strasbourg.

On a visit to Strasbourg I found it as it has been described in stories published around the world. There still were some dogs straying about the streets and whimpering in the bitter cold wind.

It was Sunday and a few hundred civilians, who carry on the necessary services such as the railway, the water system and fire protection, were gathered with some soldiers and mobile guards for mass in the cathedral. Following the strains of music thru the nave and choir, I found the throng down in a crypt like a band of primitive Christians gathered in the catacombs.

The priest gleamed in white and gold vestments, but all the other persons were in drab civilian dress or in khaki. Instead of the pealing organ and the sonorous choir of Strasbourg, there were a little harmonium [reed organ] and four bearded soldiers who sang.

LUTHERANS PEN PROTEST AGAINST ENVOY TO POPE

Church Council to Act on Committee's Draft.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

A protest against the appointment of Myron C. Taylor as President Roosevelt's representative to Pope Pius XII. was being formulated last night by a committee of the National Lutheran council at its meeting in the La Salle hotel. The protest is expected to come up for action at the closing session today. The council represents the coöperative activities of two-thirds of all Lutherans of the country.

It was announced that the protest being drafted covers the same points in opposition to the Vatican appointment that were emphasized previously by Dr. Frederick H. Knubel of New York, president of the United Lutheran church, and Dr. Emanuel Poppen of Columbus, O., president of the American Lutheran church. These two Lutheran branches include two million of the three million Lutherans represented in the council.

Not Needed, Say Protests.

The Knubel-Poppen protest asserted that there is no necessity of a representative at the Vatican, that the President's appointment sanctions un-American views of union of church and state, and is disruptive to the country's unity.

Diplomatic relations between the United States and the Vatican were severed in 1867 when Italy was unified as a nation. The papal states then ceased to exist until 1928 when the rapproachement between the Vatican and the Quirinal was concluded by Mussolini and Pope Pius XI. This rapproachement reëstablished a small geographical papal sovereignty.

The council approved a plan for raising $500,000 during February for Lutheran war relief needs. Dr. Knubel said Lutheran churches in the United States are the only ones of that communion not directly affected by war. Yesterday's action looks chiefly toward Finnish relief where, it was announced, the population is 98 per cent Lutheran.

$375,000 Allotted to Finns.

The plan allots $375,000 for Finnish and other European projects. The balance will be earmarked for German missions in India, Africa, Palestine, and elsewhere. In several places German missionaries were interned by British and French authorities for the duration of the war and the fund is designated to continue the work of the missions.

Dr. Ralph H. Long of New York, executive director of the council, denounced radio crime thrillers which, he said, tend to make neurotics of children. He asserted that a storm of protest against such programs was rising among teachers, pastors, and parents who find school work damaged by emotional tensity created by the radio features.

HITLER SETS UP PRUSSIAN KING AS GREAT EXAMPLE

Frederick the Great Lauded by Fuehrer.

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 24.—Adolf Hitler today addressed 7,000 army and air force cadets as they prepared to go to the front. Speaking in his capacity as supreme commander of the German armed forces in the Berlin sports palace on the 228th anniversary of the birth of Frederick the Great, he told the cadets that Berlin again is filled with the "spirit of Prussia's greatest king."

He likened greater Germany's "struggle for existence" to the military victories credited to Frederick which resulted in the creation of Greater Prussia. He also praised Frederick and his soldiers as "examples of soldierly virtue."

Cite Frederick's Campaign.

Frederick's campaigns against Austria, France, and Russia always have been held up by German strategists as the best example of how victory can be achieved with inferior numbers. The elements that the German military experts described as mainly responsible for Frederick's military success are speed of movement, concentration of superior forces on a decisive spot, and attacking the enemy on the flank and in the rear.

The same tactics that Frederick employed in the battle of Leuthen when he turned both flanks of his Austrian foe were successfully employed in the Polish campaign last fall and in the Spanish civil war in which a number of German staff officers served as military advisers to Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

On rejoining their units at the front the cadets will be given their commissions. Contrary to world war methods, Germany's future officers do not join the forces immediately as cadets but as privates. Only after they have shown their "mettle before the enemy" are they promoted and sent to military camps for a training course of several months.

All Have Seen Action.

The cadets addressed by Hitler have seen action, either in Poland, in the Siegfried line, or in air raids over England or France.

The new officers will greatly increase the striking power of the German army, military circles said.

The Nazis announced they are well on the way to building up a large officers' corps, which was one of the main problems when they started their large scale rearming. The number of officers in service is estimated to be far in excess of 100,000, or more than the total military force allowed Germany under the Versailles treaty.

Germany is continuing to have difficulties in handling railroad traffic. The line from Berlin to Basel, Switzerland, was reported tied up when two freight cars crashed over the bumping post at the end of a spur and ripped up the main line tracks near Offenburg.

Berlin officials said the line was not blocked, but passengers on the Basel train declared they had to pile out with their luggage and get into military buses. The buses carried them to another point where they boarded slow local trains. They arrived in Basel five hours late, they said.

Rumors continued to circulate in Berlin that the navy will take over the managment of the railroads if accidents and uncertain schedules continue. All terminals in Berlin have scheduled reductions of nearly a third of the normal traffic. Many trains have been discontinued temporarily. Trains are running 2 to 8 hours late. The Nazis blame the difficulties in distributing coal and the use of the trains by the military for the delays.

Wheaton Students to Forgo Gaiety to Aid War Victims

For fourteen years the gala event of Wheaton college's social season has been the Washington birthday banquet. Yesterday the student-faculty committee confirmed a vote last week of the college students. Instead of holding a banquet this year on Feb. 23, the students will start a drive to raise more than $1,000 for relief of the Finns and the Chinese. An address by the Finnish vice consul in Chicago will open the drive on Feb. 1, and a meeting in Pierce hall on Feb. 23 will close the campaign.

Death Decreed for Raising Food Price in Nazi Poland

BERLIN, Jan. 24 (AP).—The governor general for the German occupied regions of Poland has fixed penalties including death for usury, hoarding goods, and raising prices of foodstuffs, states the Warschauer Zeitung [Warsaw Times].

JAP VESSELS BAR GERMANS LIABLE TO WAR SERVICE

Captain of Ship Halted by British Retired.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 24 (AP).—Officials of the Japanese Nippon Yusen Kaisha Steamship company said tonight no more Germans subject to military duty would be accepted as passengers. Two of the line's vessels have been stopped in the Pacific by warships.

Germans seeking passage will be required to present affidavits stating they are not in active army or navy service and are not returning to Germany by government order, K. O. Takahashi, N. Y. K. general manager, asserted.

Within the last week a British warship removed 21 German seamen passengers from the N. Y. K. liner Asama Maru, near Japan, and an unidentified warship halted the liner Tatuta Maru between here and Honolulu and inquired if she carried any German passengers.

Vessel Not Boarded.

The Tatuta Maru, which reached Honolulu today, was not boarded. She carried five German nationals among her passengers.

Takahashi's order will prevent 512 crewmen of the scuttled German liner Columbus from returning home via the Pacific on an N. Y. K. liner. The Germans arrived from New York, booked passage on the Tatuta Maru, but then canceled it.

Ship Captain Retired.

TOKIO, Jan. 25, Thursday (AP).—Capt. Yoshisada Watanabe, master of the Japanese steamer Asama Maru, was retired from active service today by the owners, the N. Y. K. line, on grounds of misconduct in connection with the halting of the steamer last Saturday by a British warship which took off 21 Germans. Capt. Watanabe's retirement was not further explained.

The master reported last Sunday, after the steamer was halted in sight of Japan's shores, that he first protested there was "no reason why the Germans should be handed over."

A fist fight was said to have occurred between one of the German passengers and a British sailor.

British Feel Japs' Anger.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 24 (AP).—Repercussions of Japanese resentment against the British for halting the Japanese liner Asama Maru and removing 21 Germans from it were reported from Tientsin today. British and other foreign employés of British companies were kept waiting in bitter cold at the entrances to the blockaded British and French concessions in Tientsin instead of being allowed to pass straight thru the barriers, as they usually are. Americans were not affected.

Conference in London.

LONDON, Jan. 24 (AP).—The Japanese ambassador, Mamoru Shigemitsu, conferred with Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax today on the Japanese protest against British removal of German seamen from the Japanese steamer Asama Maru. The British were said to be preparing a reply to the protest, dealing with the legal phases.

13 MUSEUM BIRDS FLY THE COOP; IT GOES ALONG ALSO

The owl actually had a somewhat low I. Q., but he had a trick of looking profound. So the Field museum stuffed him and sent him out to play the wise old owl in a display troupe that traveled in a glass case.

With him went a couple of nuthatches, a crow, four woodpeckers, a bluejay, a goldfinch, two meadow larks, and a chickadee .

These 13 birds were tagged, "Birds, American, native habitat group, K-3742, suitable for lending public schools, boys' clubs, etc. Inventory, $150." They were sent out to the Y. M. C. A. at 3210 Arthington street two weeks ago, and Manager Frank J. Wieting put them on display in the lobby. The display was well lighted, and it was a dull moment when boys weren't looking at them.

All the same, the museum attendants went out to change the display yesterday, and pouff: They found birds and case had vanished, just as if they'd gone up the rope in the Indian rope trick.

Canada to Spend 30 Million on Naval and Air Program

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 24 (AP).—A $30,000,000 naval units and aircraft purchasing program for Canada was outlined today by C. D. Howe, minister of transport. Orders have been or are being placed for 46 steel antisubmarine boats—$25,000,000 worth—28 minesweepers, and a large fleet of motor boats, lighters, and loaders. For the British commonwealth air training scheme in Canada the parts for about 4,000 craft have been ordered in Canada, Great Britain, and the United States.

SEIZED AS ROBBER SUSPECT.

Ben Sitko, 23 years old, a graduate of the St. Charles School for Boys, yesterday was arrested in his home at 1333 Walton place. A bandit suspect who was arrested Tuesday said Sitko accompanied him on fifteen robberies.

Dams Suggested in Seaway Plans

The American plan for a dam in the power development program of the proposed Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway treaty called for construction of dam and power plant at Massena Point opposite Barnhart Island. The Canadians proposed two dams, one at Barnhart Island and another at Chrysler Island. They also wanted to erect a control station at Galops Island. The area covered by the larger map is shown in black on the small map.

CHINESE LAVISH FUNERAL HONORS ON WAR LORD WU

80 Bear Patriot's Body in Mile Long Parade.

PEKING, China, Jan. 24 (AP).—A mile long funeral parade of 5,000 individuals, brass bands, flute bands, chanting monks, and yellow robed lamas today honored Marshal Wu Pei-fu, the model war lord who bitterly defied Japan.

It was the most elaborate funeral here since the death of the empress dowager in 1908. Wu's body was in a huge catafalque on the shoulders of 80 coolies clad in ancient Ming costumes.

Expert Throws Money Away.

Peking's most celebrated money thrower emerged from several years' retirement to toss bunches of currency into the sky near the funeral procession to invoke the influence of spirits.

Ahead of the catafalque marched the family mourners, clad in white and surrounded by a portable tent to protect them from the stares of spectators, and bearers of hundreds of eulogistic plaques.

Behind were carried 100 paper effigies of Wu's favorite aids—his cook, his chauffeur, his bodyguards, and others. All of the effigies will be burned later to carry, the Chinese believe, the aids' beneficent influences into the next world.

Japanese Trucks Pass.

Occasionally the solemn procession was interrupted by Japanese army truck drivers insisting on passing thru the dense traffic.

Wu died suddenly of blood poisoning on Dec. 4. Every Chinese knew him as one who always paid his troops and never permitted looting. He had been in retirement since 1927, steadfastly refusing Japanese demands that he emerge to head a régime coöperating with Tokio.

TWO FLYERS DIE IN NAVAL PLANE CRASH INTO SEA

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 24 (AP).—Two navy flyers died today in the crash of their scouting observation plane into the sea eight miles west of the Coronado Islands. They were Ensign Edmund E. Severns, 25 years old, naval reserve, pilot, and Edward R. Rouscher, 22, aviation machinist's mate, second class. Their plane, from the cruiser Detroit, was engaged in maneuvers.

Bombers Return to Base.

March Field, Cal., Jan. 24 (AP).—Thirty-seven army bombers today completed a storm interrupted test flight to demonstrate the possibility of transporting troops by air under simulated war conditions.

Only one of the 38 planes which left Hamilton field in northern California yesterday made the flight on schedule. The others were forced down at Bakersfield.

Another bomber which had been engaged in separate maneuvers and had six men aboard crashed yesterday, bringing death to four. Two escaped in parachutes.

HOUSE GROUP ON OIL CONTROL BILL VISITS CITY ON RETURN EAST

The house subcommittee on oil conservation, which is considering a bill for federal regulation of the oil industry, stopped in Chicago briefly yesterday on its way from California to Washington, D. C. Edward A. Kelly [D., Chicago], is the Illinois member of the subcommittee.

Edward A. Kelly.

"We have no conclusion to report from our investigation of the oil industry in Louisiana, Illinois, and California," said the chairman, Representative William P. Cole [D., Md.], who drafted the bill at the behest of the administration. "The present hearings, which will continue in Washington, are to decide if we should have federal control. If the states would control production and prevent waste under agreed formulas for removing oil from underground reserves, there would be no occasion for federal regulation."

At Topeka, Kas., yesterday the governors of Kansas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico urged governors of 17 other states to oppose the Cole bill at a Washington hearing Feb. 5.

CANADIANS QUIT SEAWAY PARLEY IN WASHINGTON

Delegates Agree Only on Power Scheme.

treaty, killed by the senate in 1934, and the American plan for one dam.

The American plan called for a dam and power plant to be built at Massena Point, opposite Barnhart island, a few miles above Cornwall. Two power houses were to be built with a combined power installation of 2,200,000 horse power, and a minimum development at low water stages of 1,440,000 horse power.

The Canadian plan changes nearly all the technical problems involved in power development. It contemplated the lower of two dams below the Massena Point site, running from the American shore to the foot of Barnhart Island and thence to the Canadian shore. The plan contemplated two power houses, as in the American single stage plan, one on either side of the river and having a combined power installation of 1,607,000 horse power.

Second Dam Smaller.

Fifteen miles up the river, at Chrysler Island, the Canadians proposed to build a second dam. This would also have two power houses—one on either side of the river and with an installation of 592,960 horse power. Finally, at Galops Island, still farther up the river control works directing the flow of water were to be erected.

"The engineering advisers of the two governments have reached substantial agreement on the feasibility and desirability of a project in the International rapids section of the St. Lawrence river which would involve a main dam in the vicinity of Barnhart Island, with a power house in each country and a control dam upstream," the state department said.

"This project is based upon a plan which was discussed in some detail in the 1926 report of the joint board of engineers. The engineers of the two countries are in agreement that such a project is sound from an engineering standpoint, cheaper in cost than the project on which the 1932 treaty was based, and affords full protection for all the interests in the various sections of the St. Lawrence river."

Omit Chicago Problem.

Nothing was said of the discussions on the two major features of the 1932 treaty, which caused its defeat, American sovereignty over Lake Michigan and the employment of Canadian labor and materials with American money.

The 1932 treaty insisted upon freezing diversion of Lake Michigan water at Chicago for navigation and sanitary purposes to 1,500 cubic feet per second—the present limitation under a Supreme court decision.

The midwest is asking diversion be stepped up to as much as 5,000 cubic feet in the interests of health and navigation of the Illinois waterway. This plan has the support of army engineers. Yesterday Mr. Roosevelt indicated he was in favor of easing the rigid restriction if necessary to maintain a nine foot channel in the inland waterway, but was opposed to diversion of a drop of water for sewage disposal.

Expense Left to United States.

The other major fact for the defeat of the first treaty was that it would have had the United States advance almost all of the 500 million dollars for the project. American funds spent in Canada would go for Canadian labor and materials.

Other factors in the defeat of the plan were waterway competition with existing forms of transportation and the fact that the development of cheap power on the St. Lawrence would benefit industry in that area of New York state and Canada to the injury of established American plants.

The European war gave foes of the project a new argument. They were preparing to attack it when a treaty was submitted to the senate on the ground that the administration was circumventing traditional American neutrality in aiding warring Canada.

CROMWELL TAKES UP DUTIES AS NEW ENVOY TO CANADA

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 24 (AP).—James H. R. Cromwell, new American minister to Canada, today presented his credentials to the governor general, Lord Tweedsmuir.

"The President has asked me to convey to your excellency the assurances of his friendship and sincere good wishes for the continued welfare and prosperity of the Canadian people," Cromwell told the governor general.

Lord Tweedsmuir assured the minister of "the wholehearted coöperation of his majesty's government in Canada in preserving and furthering the friendship and understanding which has for so long existed between our two countries."

LEWIS' ASSAULT WIDENS SPLIT IN NEW DEAL RANKS

Roosevelt Bloc Resents Blow to 3d Term Boom.

Among the Democratic leaders who refused to comment on Lewis' utterances were Vice President John N. Garner, Speaker William B. Bankhead [Ala.], Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley [Ky.], and Majority Leader Sam Rayburn [Tex.] of the house.

Viewed as Bid for Power.

Some of the Democrats professed to see in the Lewis broadside a purpose on the part of the C. I. O. dictator to gain a position of influence in shaping Democratic party policies and particularly to steer the presidential nomination in the direction of Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], whom Lewis conspicuously favors. Wheeler is to address the mineworkers' convention Friday night at the invitation of Lewis.

Previously Lewis had turned thumbs down on Vice President Garner as a presidential candidate, calling him a "whisky drinking, poker playing, labor baiting, evil old man."

He branded another Democratic presidential aspirant, Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt, a "political adventurer" who, when governor of Indiana, used troops against labor.

He doesn't like Secretary of State Cordell Hull or Postmaster General Farley. Thus Lewis narrows down the Democratic field to Wheeler.

Wheeler Opposes Third Term.

Senator Wheeler partly agreed with Lewis, saying he always had opposed a third term for any President.

"Notwithstanding President Roosevelt's great personal popularity," said Wheeler, "I think it would be extremely difficult to elect any one for a third term."

He disagreed with the Lewis assertion that the Democratic party has broken faith with labor.

"The Democratic party and President Roosevelt," said Wheeler, "have done more for organized labor in recent years than any administration in the history of the country."

Republicans Elated.

Republican leaders found much satisfaction in the latest evidence of Democratic schism. Said Representative Joseph W. Martin Jr., Republican leader of the house:

"I am very much interested in the statement of Mr. Lewis, especially when he says 'the Democratic party is in default to the American people because after seven years of power it finds itself without solutions of the major questions of unemployment, low national income, mounting internal debt, increasing direct and consumer taxation and restricted foreign markets.'

"This brief indictment of the administration might well serve for the platform of the Republican party and basis for success in 1940."

G. O. P. Gains in Popularity.

Discussing the declaration of Mr. Lewis that Illinois, Indiana, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and New York are trending toward the Republican party in 1940, Martin said that private canvasses made by Republican workers show that all these states are from 52 to 55 per cent Republican.

"I am confident," he added, "that we will carry these states unless there there is a radical change in sentiment not now apparent. The trend at present is more favorable to the Republican party than some months ago."

Text of John L. Lewis' Attack on 'Broken Faith' of New Deal

In the nation the Democratic party is a minority party. Substantially, the party defines its own limitations by its sectional prejudices and its free trade fallacies. It comes into office under abnormal circumstances when it receives the support of the national independent vote.

In 1932 this party was ushered into power. This was not because of the virtues of the party, nor the talents nor policy of its leaders. It was an act of a despairing population; a population stricken by an economic depression of the first magnitude; a population sickened by the moral and intellectual bankruptcy of the Republican party then in control.

In 1936 a coalition was effected between the Democratic party and organized labor. The resources of both interests were pooled—the objective being the return of the party to power in the election of the same year.

Labor Provides Funds.

Organized labor furnished money, speakers, party workers in every political subdivision, and many millions of votes. It substantially financed the national committee, various state committees, congressional committees, labor's Non-Partisan league, the American Labor party, the Progressive national committee, and the Good Neighbor league.

Psychologically and politically, organized labor created the atmosphere of success that returned the Democratic party to power with an ample margin of safety.

A political coalition at least presupposes a postelection good faith between the coalescent interests. The Democratic party and its leadership have not preserved this faith. In the last three years labor has not been given representation in the cabinet, nor in the administrative or policy making agencies of government.

The current administration has not sought nor seriously entertained the advice or views of labor upon the question, of national unemployment or lesser questions affecting domestic economy, internal taxation, foreign trade, military and naval expansion, relations with foreign nations or the issues of war or peace.

Assails Labor Baiters.

Labor today has no point of contact with the Democratic administration in power except for casual and occasional interviews which are granted its individual leaders. In the congress the unrestrained baiting and defaming of labor by the Democratic majority has become a pastime, never subject to rebuke by the titular or actual leaders of the party.

As the current year opens the Democratic party is in default to the American people. After seven years of power it finds itself without solution for the major questions of unemployment, low national income, mounting internal debt, increasing direct and consumer taxation, and restricted foreign markets.

There still exists the same national unhappiness that it faced several years ago. Labor and the people are losing confidence.

It is estimated that approximately 25,000,000 men are under arms in Europe and in Asia. Nearly 70,000,000 other men are engaged in servicing these contending armies. When these men are returned to the pursuits of peace, as eventually they must be, the effect upon our nation's remaining foreign trade will be devastating.

Politics Blocks Program.

The present congress is without a program except to enact necessary appropriations in ample time to engage in the national quadrennial political marathon.

I am one who believes that President Roosevelt will not be a candidate for reëlection. Conceding that the Democratic national convention could be coerced or dragooned into renominating him, I am convinced that, with the conditions now confronting the nation and the dissatisfaction now permeating the minds of the people, his candidacy would result in ignominious defeat.

It is true that at the present time the states of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and New York are trending toward the Republican column in the campaign year of 1940. This trend can be corrected, and the Republican party prevented from winning, only by an accord between the Democratic party and organized labor and the adoption of an intelligent and rational program to be written into the platform of the Democratic party and placed before the American people as the issues of the election.

Asks Guarantees for Labor.

Even then guarantees of good faith and fulfillment of party promises would have to be made to labor and the people by responsible Democratic leaders.

In view of these facts and the attendant conditions it would be unwise, in my judgment, for this convention at this time to bestow its indorsement upon any candidate for the presidency of the United States.

In lieu thereof I would recommend that the international executive board be given authority by the convention to deal with this problem as conditions warrant and the interests of our members justify.

Nye Will Succeed Borah in Foreign Relations Body

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24 (AP).—The vacancy on the state foreign relations committee caused by the death of Senator William E. Borah [R., Idaho] will be filled by Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], Republican Leader Charles L. McNary of Oregon said today. Nye and Borah were in agreement on many foreign questions, and both opposed the administration's recent neutrality legislation. Nye consistently has demanded that this country keep out of involvement in European conflicts.

Philippine Isles Population Officially Set at 16,000,303

MANILA, P. I., Jan. 24 (AP).—Official population of the Philippine Islands was 16,000,303 on Jan. 1, 1939, when a census was completed, stated a proclamation issued today by President Manuel Quezon. Excluding United States army and navy forces, there were 4,144 Americans, of whom 3,120 were residents of Manila. The population of this city was 623,362.

CONTINUE FREE RELIEF MILK PLAN TO JULY 1

Families on relief in Chicago will continue to get free milk daily at least until July 1, the department of agriculture announced yesterday in Washington. The department said it had accepted bids of the Meadowmoor and Westbrook Farms dairies to continue delivering milk daily to 21 distributing stations. A plan to continue home delivery is under consideration, it was said.

The free milk plan was inaugurated Nov. 13 and the first phase ends Feb. 1. The Chicago relief administration shares in the cost per quart of milk with the government.

Under the new contracts, the CRA will pay 4 cents and the agriculture department .98 cent per quart. About 75 per cent of the city's 200,000 relievers have been receiving free milk.

SETTLE ONE SUIT ON PORTER ART; FACE TAX CLAIM

The art collection of Washington Porter II., housed in his Kiosk Sphinx museum at 4044 Oakenwald avenue, was saved from one threat of dispersal yesterday, but still faced another.

Mrs. Dorothy Farwell Kolb of Beverly Hills, Cal., dropped her 4 year old suit in federal court against Porter for recovery of $8,300 and a $2,000 diamond ring, stating that her claims had been settled out of court. She said she had loaned Porter the cash and the ring in 1932 and that he had given her a mortgage on the art objects in the museum as security for the loan. Her lawyer told Judge Charles E. Woodward that the ring had been returned and a settlement made on the cash claim.

Porter still faces the threat of having his collection sold by the sheriff to satisfy unpaid personal property tax obligations of $50,318 for the years 1934 thru 1937.

CANDIDATES OPEN OFFICES OF G. O. P. DOWNSTATE RACE

Green, Lyons and Brooks Greet Backers.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 24.—Dwight H. Green opened his downstate campaign for the Republican nomination for governor in a hotel here today, while one of his leading opponents, Richard J. Lyons, held open house on the next floor. A few doors away from Lyons' suite was another occupied by Wayland Brooks, whose candidacy for the United States senatorial nomination is teamed with Lyons' gubernatorial aspirations.

A giant portrait of Green dominated the hotel lobby, and a "Lyons for governor" sound truck stood in the street outside. In and out of Green's suite streamed a line of men and women wearing green paper replicas of carnations and Green buttons. On the floor above, a procession of persons with Lyons streamers almost a foot long on their coats greeted their candidate.

Talk to County Chairmen.

Green, Lyons, and Brooks spent a great deal of time talking with downstate G. O. P. county chairmen arriving for tomorrow's state-wide meeting of their association. Most of the other state candidates were on hand also.

There was some possibility that tomorrow's gathering would result in a tug-of-war between Green and Lyons forces over the question of an indorsement. There is a precedent for such action in the association's support of the state slate which Lyons headed as candidate for United States senator in 1938.

Both Lyons and Green asserted, however, that they would not seek an indorsement tomorrow. Lyons and Brooks said positively that they would not try for the organized support of the chairmen.

Chairmen May Seek Indorsement.

Green put it this way: "The chairmen will, of course, do what they see fit to do, but I will not ask an indorsement from them."

Chairmen from the counties making up three of the four Appellate court districts of Illinois already have rejected the indorsement idea in sectional meetings. Such action was taken in the 1st [Cook county], the 2d [northern Illinois], and the 4th [southern Illinois] districts.

Chairmen from the 3d [central Illinois] district approved indorsement, however, and it is likely that any move of that sort tomorrow will originate with a 3d district chairman—perhaps with Nobel Johnson of Ford county, a Green supporter.

Green Claims 70 Chairmen.

Green managers said at the opening of headquarters today that more than 70 county chairmen are aligned behind their candidate.

The Lyons camp said 40 Chicago ward committeemen and 28 country town committeemen in Cook county were behind Lyons solidly.

In midafternoon Green stopped his handshaking long enough to announce the appointment of John W. Brown of Kansas, secretary of the Edgar county central committee, as his downstate campaign manager.

Charles A. O'Connor, state's attorney of Kane county and president of the county chairmen, will call tomorrow's meeting to order at noon. He is a Brooks-Lyons supporter, as are Edward F. Moore, Cook county chairman and head of the association's executive committee, and James E. Hill of Streator, association secretary.

Lyons will begin his downstate tour on Feb. 2. The last three weeks before the April 9 primary will be spent in Cook county. Green will launch his downstate campaign speaking tour in Pontiac on Tuesday, and then swing south to Harrisburg for seven weeks of traveling.

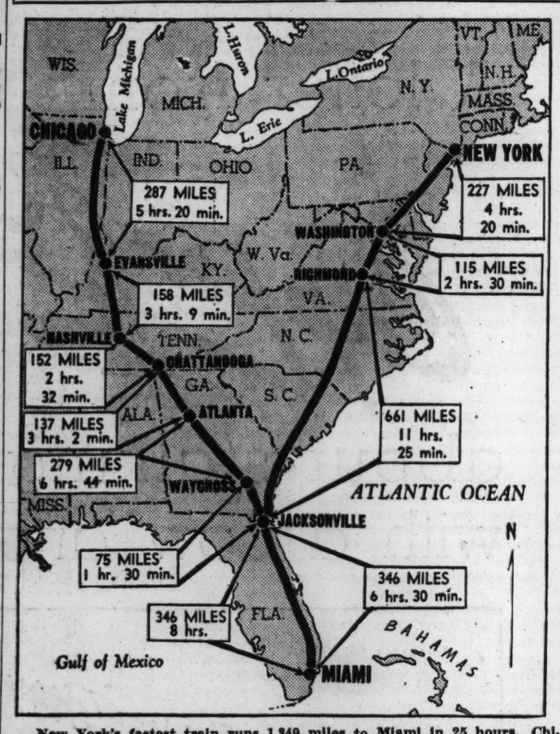
THERE'S NO 'BUT' ABOUT IT: GOATS BACK OF GOATEES

The goatee—that hirsute adornment of the dignified man—derives its name from its resemblance to a billy goat's beard, according to the ninth section of the new American English dictionary which is now in proof at the University of Chicago. The section starts with "flinty" and ends with "gold region."

The earliest use of the term goatee was in a history of Oregon published in 1844. The tuft of whiskers was the object of much amusement and chiding at the time. The description of a character in "Squatter Life," a book published in 1847, related that "a kind of half burnt prairie garnished his chin, which would have made a very warm looking goatee, if it could have been transplanted to one spot."

The dictionary is being compiled by a staff of University of Chicago scholars under the supervision of Sir William Craigie. It is expected to be completed by 1942.

Rail Service to Florida



New York's fastest train runs 1,349 miles to Miami in 25 hours. Chicago's fastest travels 1,434 miles in 31 hours and 40 minutes. The map shows the mileage and the scheduled running time in traveling between the principal cities en route. Time used in standing in stations for connections is not included. Mileages between Miami and Jacksonville and Jacksonville and Richmond are shorter by 20 miles than distances shown in timetables because trains travel over cut-offs.

Besides faster service, New York has more modern trains. It has a choice of two daily streamliners, whereas Chicago has none. Its second fastest trains are 26¼ hour de luxe Pullman trains. Chicago's second fastest trains take 34¾ hours. New York has thru coach trains to Miami. Chicago coach riders must change cars at Jacksonville.

CHICAGO TRAILS N. Y. ON TRAIN SERVICE TO MIAMI

6 to 8 Hours Behind on Line Schedules.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

[This is another in a series of articles comparing train service to Florida from Chicago and New York.]

New York has the edge on Chicago in the number of fast trains to Miami and in types of trains. Altho New York is only from 85 to 150 miles closer to Miami than is Chicago — depending on the railroad route — it is from 6 hours 40 minutes to 8 hours 30 minutes closer in time.

New York has two Diesel electric powered de luxe streamlined coach trains which travel 1,349 miles to Miami in 25 hours. Chicago has no streamliners to Florida, altho the streamlined train is a Chicago development.

New York has two 26¼ hour de luxe Pullman trains to Miami. A description of one of them advertises: 'Recreation-entertainment car: Music, games, hostess." Chicago's fastest train — and there is only one at the speed — is the 31 hour 40 minute Dixieland. It is a standard Pullman and coach train.

Other Chicago Trains Slower.

New York has several trains with 26½ hour and slightly longer schedules to Florida. After the Dixieland, Chicago's fastest trains take 34¾ hours for the trip to Miami.

New York has a number of thru all coach trains to Miami. There isn't even a thru coach car from Chicago to Miami. If a Chicagoan wants to save money by riding in a coach to Miami, he must change trains in Jacksonville.

They think so lightly of the Chicago service down south that they take off the name of its fastest train—the Dixieland—and give it another name—the Gulf Stream—when it arrives in Jacksonville.

The railroads estimate that five times as many passengers are carried from New York to Miami as from Chicago to Miami. Last year 18,460 persons were carried on seasonal trains from Chicago to Florida, which indicates that the New York trains carried at least 100,000. Business so far this year has been much better than a year ago.

Rider Compares Services.

A TRIBUNE reporter recently was assigned to ride the Dixieland—the fastest Chicago train—and the Champion, one of the two New York 25 hour streamliners.

The Dixieland was composed of conventional Pullman equipment similar to that used on other typical trains built before the development of light weight equipment. In addition to the sleepers, the train carried its own diner and a lounge as far as Jacksonville and a combination sleeper and observation car thru to Miami.

The Champion has three things to offer—speed, economy, and modern equipment. It's a handsome train from the stainless steel exterior to the pastel shades of its simple interior decorations. First in the train is the 4,000 horsepower Diesel-electric locomotive, then a combination baggage car and coach with seats for 22 persons, two coaches each seating 60 persons, a large diner, then a 60 passenger coach, a 52 passenger coach, and finally a tavern-observation car.

Passenger Seats Total 254.

Passenger seats total 254, from which must be deducted 22 that cannot be used to the fullest extent in the south because of the Jim Crow laws.

The train is ideal for day travel. Windows are large and permit a clear view of the passing country. The diner is ample in size. The tavern-observation car serves as a club.

At night the bed problem consists simply of pulling a knob at the side of the seat. The seat drops back to permit the rider to recline. A few persons bring blankets with them. At about 10 p. m. the bright lights are turned out, leaving dim blue lights.

Some may be able to sleep well sitting up all night, others may not. But the saving for sitting up during the night is considerable. A one way ticket from New York to Miami on the Champion costs $23.62. A one way and lower berth ticket in a sleeper costs $51.65.

Coach Rider Saves $28.03.

The coach rider saves $28.03 and he has had a pleasant ride in the streamliner. The coach rider from Chicago pays $23.15 for a one way ticket to Miami, but must change trains.

New York's streamlined service was started last year when the Seaboard Air Line placed its stainless steel Silver Meteor in operation. It was successful from the start. The Champions of the Atlantic Coast Line and the Florida East Coast railways started their service this year.

DEWEY SWINGS INTO MAINE ON CAMPAIGN TOUR

Hundreds of Republicans Meet Candidate.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Portland, Me., Jan. 24.—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, seeking the Republican presidential nomination, wound up his New England visit here in rock ribbed Republican Maine tonight.

Gov. Barrows.

After a whirlwind round of receptions with G. O. P. workers and conferences with party leaders, which he deemed highly satisfactory, the prosecutor stepped aboard a train for New York City.

Heading the list of Maine's Republican officials who greeted the New York district attorney were Gov. Lewis O. Barrows, National Committeeman William S. Linnell, and State Chairman J. Fred O'Connell.

Throngs Greet Candidate.

It was estimated 2,500 persons shook hands with Dewey and his wife at a reception in the white colonial home of the ancient Portland club this afternoon. Young Republicans turned out en masse. State legislators, county attorneys, sheriffs, and members of women's clubs were in the throng.

"At the conclusion of my trip thru New England I am convinced more than ever that the people of New England look to the Republican party for leadership in 1940," Dewey said in expressing his gratitude for courtesies shown by New England Republicans.

Maine will send 13 unpledged delegates to the Republican national convention. Party leaders are talking of having the Maine delegates vote for Senator H. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire at least on the first ballot as the neighborly thing to do.

Senator Robert Taft, also an avowed candidate, has visited Maine and is reported to have made a favorable impression.

Against Lifting Debt Limit.

Dewey's major speech in the New England tour, a vigorous denunciation of the spending-borrowing policy of the Roosevelt administration, was delivered last night in Boston. He made no speeches here today, but issued a statement in connection with Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau's proposal to raise the nation's debt limit to 50 billions.

"There is grave danger in a policy which continues to expand the debt of the United States," declared the young prosecutor. "No one can foretell the exact point at which ever-increasing debt leads to serious consequences. It is evident from history that it is a most serious kind of burden for a nation to carry."

ROOSEVELT TO INVEST 50 CENTS FOR RALLY ON LINCOLN BIRTHDAY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24 [Special]. President Roosevelt will pay 50 cents for two tickets to a Lincoln's birthday rally of Republicans at Naperville, Ill., but he won't be able to attend in person, Stephen Early, White House secretary, said today.

The invitation was extended by the Republican central committee of Du Page county, Illinois, for a "two-bit nonpartisan" dinner, the letter of invitation made public by Representative Chauncey W. Reed [R., Ill.], revealed, "because of the President's good neighbor attitude toward some of our boys in Washington." Mr. Roosevelt extended invitations to three Republican leaders to attend the Jackson day $100 a plate dinner. The Republicans declined the invitation.

Early accused the Republicans today of being copycats.

PREVIEW NOTES FROM I. H. M. (2)

By CALEB

BROWSING the International Homefurnishings Market in The Merchandise Mart, a showing of manufacturers' lines to retail merchants, I find that these merchants will be offering you this spring furniture more than ever to your liking. Traditional, always in mode, has now lost its aloofness from Modern; both can be good friends in the same room. Pieces are less heavy and less ornamented, without loss of character. Another practicality you'll like is the way designers are giving you "interchangeable groupings" for living and dining room both. As my accompanist expressed the idea: "Customers can now select certain furniture as they do china—from 'open stock'."

Regency? That, too, is in top taste—in fact, growing in importance, because its new dignity and simplicity will so easily ensemble with modern pieces. Yes, and something else is happening, that I think was "unexpectable." Thanks to books and movies like Jezebel and Gone With the Wind, marked flavors of the Old South will soon authenticate our interiors: sewing stands, canopied beds and quaint chairs that whisper of Natchez or Charleston . . . not to mention, too, "Victorian" touches straight from Dixie like button tufting, fringe edging, and quilting in upholstered pieces.

Then there's Modern. You'll find the newest developments here reflecting a design-mood keyed to modern needs—and very helpfully. Less cumbersomeness. More grace and delicacy in line and weight, yet plenty of serviceability, too. New tops in "free" or curved triangle shapes. Most pieces done in mahogany middle tones; although one line also features, as a nice departure, two tones—amber and dark mahogany—in the same piece.

"Space-savers" are still another very timely innovation. You'll see and welcome, I think, more and more modern suites in combination units. Server and china cabinet, for example, in one piece. Ditto with bookcases and tables, upholstered pieces and tables, and so on.

Colors? Designers, here, have been interpretive both of beauty and temperate taste. Grayed colors are numerous . . . grayed yellow-greens, French blues, soft wines, corn golds, cocoa, turquoise, and yellow-browns. "For accent in unusual rooms" you'll also see vividly-keyed colors like tangerine and nasturtium. Dominant wood, of course, is still mahogany: due to French influences, more walnut arrives; oak appears in bleached or brushed finishes. As for fabrics: expect stripes! Plus happy harmonizing of drapery and upholstery fabrics—whole series of them in the same color-range.

3 FEDERAL GRAND JURIES WILL SIT HERE NEXT MONTH

Gambling, Building Probes to Occupy Two.

Three federal grand juries will sit simultaneously in the United States courthouse next month, William J. Campbell, United States attorney, announced yesterday. This is the largest number permitted by law in any federal district.

One jury will continue the investigation into incomes of Chicago gamblers; one will continue the inquiry into alleged trade restraints in the building industry in this area; the third will handle routine cases of federal law violations.

Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward yesterday ordered the term of the gambling grand jury continued at Campbell's request. This inquiry began last summer and has been handled by three grand juries before the present one.

Only One Indictment.

To date, the only action was an income tax evasion indictment returned in September against William R. Skidmore, alleged political go-between in the Chicago gambling racket. Prosecutors have permitted the announcement that William Johnson, reputed head of the syndicate, is also under investigation.

Campbell yesterday hailed action on another gambling front as a victory for the government. This was the refusal of the Illinois Commerce commission to grant a rehearing of State Senator Daniel A. Serritella's petition that the telephone company be restrained from cutting off telephone service to his two racing news publications. The services are the Madison Publishing company and the Jockey Publications, Inc. Joseph Rosenberg, representing Serritella, then filed a plea for review of the case in Circuit court. It will be heard this morning by Judge Harry M. Fisher.

State's Attorney Courtney charged that the publications furnished race results to bookies and therefore furthered gambling. During the I. C. C. hearings, Samuel Klaus, assistant to Campbell, appeared for the federal government and argued that the telephone service should be discontinued. The telephones are scheduled to be cut off tomorrow.

Arraign Defendants Tuesday.

The special grand jury investigating the building industry has already been ordered continued for another month. This inquiry is being conducted by Leo F. Tierney, special assistant to the attorney general. Tierney announced yesterday the 41 defendants named in the first indictment returned by this group, charging alleged monopolistic practices in the tile industry, will be arraigned Tuesday before Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe. Meanwhile the jury is investigating the plywood and stone phases of the industry in a search for further violations.

The regular grand jury for next month to handle routine cases will be impaneled Feb. 5 before Judge Woodward.

Each grand juror receives $4 for every day the grand jury is in session. For every week that the jury sits the jurors also receive round trip traveling expenses from home at the rate of 5 cents a mile. The building grand jury which was impaneled Dec. 18 has already cost the government $2,400 and $180 in transportation fees. Expenses of the gambling grand jury, which went into session Jan. 3, are nearly $1,485 making the total thus far $4,065. If the three juries sit thruout February, the additional expense will be approximately $5,676, bringing the total since the first of the three groups was impaneled to $9,741.

FINE DESTROYER OF CLOTHES.

Peter Vainauskas, 829 West 33d street, was fined $100 yesterday by Judge Gibson E. Gorman. Testimony showed that Vainauskas, on Christmas day, burned up some clothing that had been given by a charity organization to the children of his sister.

Wins Support

Mrs. Daisy Doyle at court with daughter, June.

Otis Doyle is a salesman. More than that, he's a supersalesman, said his wife, Daisy, yesterday for he not only failed to support her and their daughter, June, 5 years old, but he borrowed $3 from her. Judge Oscar Nelson in Superior court ordered Doyle to pay his wife $12 a week as temporary alimony and support for the child. Mrs. Doyle, who is 27 years old and lives at 1214 Montrose avenue, has a divorce bill pending, charging cruelty. In a cross bill, Doyle, who is 30, charges desertion.

BAR HEARS MORE WITNESSES IN M'GARRY PROBE

The judiciary committee of the Chicago Bar association, investigating charges of judicial misconduct placed against Municipal Judge Eugene L. McGarry, heard several witnesses yesterday in a closed meeting. Oscar M. Wolff, chairman, said the committee would hold another session before reporting its findings to the association's board of managers.

Among those who presented information to the investigating lawyers were Richard Austin and William Crawford, assistant state's attorneys; William Dolan, clerk of the bond department of the Municipal court; Herbert Scheer, bond appraiser for the state's attorney, and Harold Gendon, whose property is alleged to have been pledged at a fantastic value for bond making purposes.

Judge McGarry, according to Wolff, may be allowed to testify. He is not assigned at present to any court. He was indicted on charges of malfeasance and conspiracy to accept false bond acknowledgments, but the indictment was dismissed by Judge Joseph A. Graber.

ADMIT BERWYN RECORDS IN TRIAL OF 2 FOR THEFT

Judge William J. Lindsay in Criminal court yesterday tentatively admitted into evidence a check and a special assessment sheet which the state asserted would help prove a $3,726 embezzlement charged to Ernest W. Mau, city treasurer of Berwyn, and Matthew Berg, former treasurer, now on trial before a jury.

Judge Lindsay, however, refused to admit at this time a detailed list of payments to individuals holding special warrants. The state contends that the list shows that after converting the $3,726 to their own use, the defendants disbursed an identical sum to pay off the warrant holders in the amount already charged off as paid.

The court's hesitation in allowing the exhibits to be entered in evidence was occasioned by an admission by Fred Kauth, Berwyn city bookkeeper, that he had never studied bookkeeping. The defense contended that auditors had reported the books were hopelessly garbled.

'MISSING' RECORD OF FIX CASE COP IN FILES OF FBI

State Police Head Refuses Comment on 'Find.'

Puzzling circumstances came to light yesterday as to the manner in which John Howe won appointment as a state highway policeman despite a criminal record.

Howe is one of those involved in the 11th ward jury fixing case. After he had been accused of trying to bribe a juror it was discovered that he had escaped trial on four holdup indictments in 1930 by commitment to an insane asylum from which he speedily escaped. He was nevertheless turned loose on the state highways with a policeman's gun and star in 1936.

No Criminal Record Found.

F. Lynden Smith, state director of public works, reported that Howe's finger prints had been sent to the federal bureau of criminal investigation at Washington and that the bureau had reported that Howe had no criminal record. Smith said he learned this from Chief Walter Williams of the state highway police, which is a branch of Smith's department. Williams confirmed Smith's statement.

The federal bureau disclosed yesterday, however, that Howe's records are in its files. Department heads declined to comment on the state authorities' accusations, but made it clear that most of the nation's police departments use the bureau's finger print files as a clearing house for criminal records and that the Illinois state police force is no exception.

Chief Williams refused to discuss the matter further when the bureau's report was made known to him last night. He said any more comment must come from Gov. Horner's office.

Son Denies Sponsorship.

It was the governor's office which on Monday answered the question of who sponsored Howe. The governor's office said the sponsor was the late Henry F. Schuberth, south side real estate man. The dead man's son, Elmer Schuberth, voiced regret that the blame had been pinned on a dead man and said he felt that the state administration should offer proof. He asked that his father's signature on the sponsor card be produced, but the signature has not been forthcoming.

Howe refused yesterday to submit to the mental examination ordered by Chief Justice John Prystalski as a preliminary to the sanity hearing scheduled for Monday. Dr. Harry R. Hoffman, head of the Criminal court behavior clinic, told the judge that Howe had claimed the constitutional right to refuse. Judge Prystalski said Howe could not be forced to take an examination before the inquiry.

Three Jurors Bribed.

The trial which brought Howe's record to light was that of Sam Orlando and Joseph Vinci, Democratic leaders of the 11th ward's 52d precinct. They were acquitted Dec. 20 of conspiracy to violate the election law. It was recently discovered that three of the jurors were bribed. Howe was suspended when accused of trying to bribe another juror. The holdup charges, which had been dropped, were reinstated and Howe was locked up.

WIDOW OF PANA JUSTICE DIES.

Pana, Ill., Jan. 24 (Special).—Mrs. Emma Pierce, 77 years old, died yesterday at the home of her son, Fred Pierce, in Decatur. She was the widow of William Pierce, who for 24 years was justice of the peace in Pana and for many years a commission merchant here. Justice Pierce died in December, 1915. Mrs. Pierce was born in Pana and was the former Miss Emma Gilbert.

PLEDGES U. S. AID IN VOTE QUIZ IF PROOF IS OFFERED

William J. Campbell, United States attorney, informed the Joint Civic Committee on Elections yesterday that if sufficient evidence were placed before him, he would go before the grand jury to seek federal indictments against persons responsible for election frauds. Albert J. Meserow, chairman of the committee, asked Campbell last week to make an investigation on the basis of widespread frauds disclosed before County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki.

Campbell emphasized that no vote fraud matters are now pending before him, nor is his office investigating any, but he added that he was ready to coöperate when evidence is forthcoming.

John Garbacz, 27 years old, of 2650 24th street, who failed to appear Tuesday when three other officials of the 38th precinct of the 25th ward were arraigned before Judge Jarecki, on charges of vote fraud, was arrested yesterday in his home. Garbacz, a Republican judge, was held in $2,500 bond.

A letter from Capper & Capper LTD. about stalking game with a bow and arrow

MICHIGAN AVENUE • at • MONROE STREET • CHICAGO

December 30th 1939

Mr. D. F. McMahon
Manager Retail Advertising
Chicago Daily Tribune
Chicago, Illinois

Dear Mr. McMahon:

Last April I wrote you about the extraordinary response we had had to a series of four relatively small ads in the Tribune (introducing a new line of better fitting shirts) .. which resulted in an increase in our shirt sales of 148% for March 1939, over those of March 1938.

I also told you that while the initiative and research responsible for these new shirt patterns were ours .. we had had the cooperation of the Excello Shirt Company in adapting our design to the production of ready-to-wear shirts at competitive prices ... and that the mere mention of their name in the Tribune had been sufficient to bring them a great many inquiries .. and led to the opening of several very substantial accounts in New York, California and elsewhere.

I felt sure, therefore, that you would be interested to know that following six more comparatively modest ads in the Tribune, our shirt sales in December have been 97%, for colored, and 56%, for white, ahead of those of last December, when we had some of the same shirts in stock .. but didn't feel quite ready to advertise them.

To us this is incontrovertible evidence of the responsiveness of the Tribune audience ... and it seems equally obvious that any manufacturer who fails to use the Tribune in this territory, is stalking his game with a bow and arrow when he might be using a repeating rifle.

Cordially,
CAPPER & CAPPER, LTD.

E.McBarnhart:ET

P.S. Incidentally, since virtually all our advertising appears in the Tribune, I believe you will be glad to hear that our sales for the year just ending were not only ahead of 1938 and 1937, but also better than those of 1936 .. which was our banner year since the fabulous twenties.

CHICAGO DETROIT

READ the letter above if you are seeking ways to increase your sales in Chicago this year.

The Tribune is able to produce results such as those reported by Capper & Capper, Ltd., because, every day of the week this newspaper gets the attention of Chicago's largest constant audience.

Seven days a week, Tribune circulation exceeds 1,000,000 total net paid. Right in metropolitan Chicago the Tribune every day of the week sells more than *780,000 copies—the equivalent of a majority of all the families in Chicago and suburbs. This is from 335,000 to 500,000 more copies than are sold in Chicago and suburbs by other Chicago newspapers.

Tribune readers are accustomed to base more of their buying on what is advertised in the Tribune than on appeals to them thru any other medium. This is a fact proved by the practice of Chicago retailers who, as a group, place more advertising in the Tribune than in any other Chicago newspaper.

As the medium which has the largest, most responsive following in every income group, the Tribune is basic to any selling job in the Chicago market. To sell more in Chicago, build your advertising program around the Tribune.

Stera-Kleen Prevents False Teeth Odor—Cleans Without Brushing

"False teeth odor" is the curse of denture wearers. Ordinary brushing or antiseptics often will not remove scum and food particles that collect on your plate or bridge. This uncleanliness gives off the most offensive of breath odors—you do not know if you have it—but others do.

Stir a little STERA-KLEEN in water, put in your plate or bridge for a few minutes. Rinse, and it is ready for use without brushing. Daily use prevents "false teeth odor." Get STERA-KLEEN today. Only 30¢ a package at any drug store.

REALTY VALUES RISE IN TOWNS OF LAKE, HYDE PARK

First Gains to Be Shown in Quadrennial Survey.

Higher real estate values for 1939 in two south side townships, Lake and Hyde Park, were shown in quadrennial reassessments released yesterday by County Assessor John S. Clark. Valuations of properties in Lake township were raised 2.8 per cent and those in Hyde Park were increased 1.16 per cent above 1935, when the last quadrennial reassessment was made.

In Lake township, Clark said, gains resulted from increased building activity and greater demand for land, mostly in the Beverly Hills district. There was more residential building in Lake township than in any other section of the city over the four year period, he asserted.

Structural Values Increase.

In Hyde Park values of buildings were boosted in business and industrial areas, including the steel mill district, Clark said. The building markups more than offset a drop in land values. Comparative assessments for 1939 and 1935 follow:

Township.	1939.	1935.	Pct. Incr.
Buildings.	110,551,082	107,270,471	3.06
Total	$186,977,324	$181,882,003	2.80
Hyde Park:
Land	$ 76,148,384	$ 79,055,932	*3.68

*Decrease.

Assessed values are 37 per cent of full values. The area of Lake township was enlarged slightly from 1935 to 1939, but the change had a negligible effect on comparative total valuations, the survey found.

Lake township is the only city township of the five announced so far that shows an increase in land values for the four years. Declines were reported previously for Rogers Park, Lake View, and Jefferson, all on the north side of Chicago.

Building Aids Land Values.

"Building activity in Lake township brought a demand for land and pushed up the prices of lots," Clark said. "On the other hand, assessments on the older residential properties in the northern sections of both Lake and Hyde Park were reduced in line with economic trends."

In Beverly Hills the assessor marked up many lots $5 to $20 a front foot over 1935 values, increases of 20 to 30 per cent. Cuts were made, however, in property values in Hyde Park near the lake shore, where land has been zoned for large apartment buildings that are not likely to be built, Clark said.

Combined land and building valuations for 1939 were 4.69 per cent above 1938 figures in Lake township and 5.3 per cent higher than 1938 values in Hyde Park. For the five city townships reported so far the 1939 assessed value is $763,507,948, compared with $761,982,700 in 1935 and $739,341,000 in 1938.

CANADIAN WINDS BRING NEAR ZERO COLD TO CHICAGO

Storms Menace East; Snow Covers South.

Cold winds from Canada swept into Chicago yesterday and more subzero weather was forecast for the city today. The mercury, which stood at 15 degrees above zero at 8 a. m. yesterday, had dropped to 2 above at 11 p. m. and then rose to 4 above at midnight. There it stood at 1 and 2 a. m.

Forecaster C. A. Donnel had indicated that a low of 5 to 10 degrees below zero would be touched early today, but after midnight the bureau predicted the minimum would be zero or slightly below. He added that there would be only a slight rise in temperature later in the day, but he held out hopes for some moderation tomorrow. So far the deficiency of temperature since Jan. 1 is 177 degrees, an average of 7 degrees below normal for each day.

Severe Weather General.

Unusually severe weather conditions were reported yesterday in nearly all parts of the United States. Off the eastern coasts severe storms were brewing, and heavy snows were recorded in most of the coastal cities.

Residents of the southland were busy trying to dig their streets and roads out of deep drifts. Danville, Va., had 21 inches of snow, a record for 40 years. Atlanta, Ga., and Jackson, Miss., were buried under 10 inches of white. Richmond, Va., had 16 inches, the deepest since 1908.

In Washington, D. C., 2,000 men were put to work clearing the streets of 9½ inches of snow.

Live Stock Loss Heavy.

The weather bureau in the capital reported that the long continued cold had caused great damage to fruit and vegetable crops. Citrus fruits in Texas and northern Florida were hard hit.

Losses of live stock from exposure were reported in the southwest. Less hardy breeds in the cattle raising section of northern Florida suffered also, and it was said at least 1,000 head had perished in the cold.

Altho the lowest temperature in the United States early last evening was 14 below at Miles City, Mont., much lower readings were expected by morning.

50 Clean Capital Roof.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24 (AP).—A nine and one-half inch snowfall today brought up the question whether the capitol's roof might fall in—and kill a lot of senators and representatives.

The capitol's custodian, David Lynn, said he was taking every precaution. He ordered 50 men to the roof to rake off the snow, adding that he hoped congress would act soon on his request for $500,000 to strengthen the roof.

A GRADUATION ALL HER OWN IS HELD FOR MARY

Mary Brannan had her private commencement yesterday in St. Luke's hospital—mortar board, flowers, diploma, and even a commencement address from her principal, Miss Anna Henry. Her classmates will receive their certificates tomorrow at the Christopher Elementary School for Crippled Children.

Last week Mary underwent an operation, and there is to be a second one soon. She is 13 years old.

Among those who attended Mary's graduation were her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Brannan, 336 West 59th street, her sister and brother, and Miss Ethel Bonfield, bedside teacher at St. Luke's.

Goes to Widow

One of the earliest travel accident insurance policies issued thru THE TRIBUNE was converted into a death benefit yesterday. Brig. Gen. John V. Clinnin, an attorney, received a check for $1,500 from the Federal Life Insurance company, as a result of the death of his brother, Raymond J. Clinnin. The policy had been issued in March, 1925.

Clinnin, a salesman, was struck by an automobile on Dec. 23, and died the next day in St. Bernard's hospital. He was 48 years old. The check, which represented $1,000 principal and $500 in renewal accumulations, was made payable to his widow, Martha H. Clinnin, 7334 Indiana avenue, as beneficiary.

L. D. Cavanaugh, president, and L. J. Leahy, manager of the home office of the insurance company, made the presentation. Premiums on the policy had ranged from $1 to $1.25 per year, and had totaled only $16.75 in 14 years.

GULF RESORTS IN MISSISSIPPI PROVE POPULAR

Closer to Chicago by Auto Than Florida.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Biloxi, Miss., Jan. 24.—This gulf coast of Mississippi is a day's driving closer to Chicago than is Florida, and its vacation attractions are more accessible to modest pocketbooks than many of the Florida resorts. We're speaking for the string of towns on these shores disputed by the Spanish and the French in the 18th century—Pascagoula, Ocean Springs, Gulfport, Pass Christian, and Bay St. Louis, as well as Biloxi, founded by D'Iberville in 1699.

With temperatures near freezing during the current cold wave, it's awkward to write of this coast as a winter resort. Yet many like it as such, for its year around golf, its horse back riding, fishing, and hunting. Many more will stop here en route to or from the Mardi Gras carnival Jan. 31 to Feb. 6 at New Orleans, 85 miles west of here on the old Spanish trail.

Spring Six Weeks Earlier.

We prefer the gulf in its spring at least six weeks in advance of Chicago's. In late February and early March wisteria and azalea will begin to bloom. The fishing improves and by the first of May the deep sea fellows will be hitting at their best.

Our introduction to this year's food prices here was pleasant. On arrival in The Tribune road car after two weeks in Florida, a telegraph operator recommended a Main street restaurant. Twenty cents bought a big bowl of creole gumbo with rice, a succulent stew of shrimps, crab meat and oysters, a meal in itself. Elaborate seafood dinners at fashionable places are only 75 cents.

Rentals cover a wide range. You can stop in a rooming house, tourist cabin, or one of the big resort hotels that advertise in northern newspapers. But there aren't any prices like the $10 to $30 a day of exclusive Florida hotels. In one of the best Biloxi places $10 a day top pays for two persons with two bedrooms, a living room, and a kitchenette.

Motels Among Accommodations.

Modern tourist courts, Motels, approved by chambers of commerce, charge from $2 to $2.50 for a couple. One unusual place, somewhat like a golf club, charges $60 a week for lodging, meals, and green fees.

The gulf coast Fox Hunt club will hold a bench show next Wednesday night at Bay St. Louis to be followed by three days of riding to hounds. Other dates worthy of noting are March 29 to April 1, a week of carnival in which the old homes are opened to the public. The Slavonian and French Acadian fishermen who man boats in the shrimp and oyster fleet perform native dances.

The distance here from Chicago by automobile is 961 miles. Mississippi has completed some good cross state highways in the last couple of years. There is also direct train service.

LOU IS HOPING HIS FRIENDS WILL NOT SAY HE'S A CHUMP

Louis Martin, 3652 Wentworth avenue, learned Monday for the first time about an ancient racket when he became involved with a stranger who posed as a friend of Martin's father. The elder Martin returned to his native Italy many years ago.

Soon Martin was joined by another stranger who, oddly enough, said he had just fallen heir to $25,000. If Martin would advance money for legal expenses, he could have $2,500. But first Martin must prove his financial stability.

To demonstrate his good faith, Martin withdrew $4,000, his life savings, from two accounts, and entrusted the funds temporarily to the legatee. But as they passed a drug store, the legatee complained of a headache. Martin went inside for some aspirin. When he returned, his new friends and his money were gone. He took the aspirin himself. He told his story reluctantly to the Hyde Park police yesterday, fearing his friends might consider him a chump.

MY JOB REQUIRES ME to be on my toes all the time. And the hours I work are pretty unusual. Since I've been enjoying that glass of milk before going to bed I've noticed a big difference. Not only in how I sleep, but during work time, too.

GETTING UP in the morning isn't anywhere near the tough job it used to be. I don't notice that logy, still-tired feeling when the alarm goes off. Do you wonder that I'm a strong booster for the Vitality Boost?

2) It reduces the tax on your energy store that even sleeping takes. (Your body's need of fuel each sleeping hour is actually 40% of the average for all your waking, working hours! That's because your heart keeps pumping, breathing continues, "relaxed" muscles are always under tension.)

3) It gives your body, in easily digestible form, a greater variety of nutritional essentials than any other food can provide!

Tomorrow night, start getting the Vitality Boost. Drink a full glass of fresh, pure milk at bedtime. You'll enjoy it particularly if the milk is Bowman's. More people in Chicago and vicinity drink Bowman Milk than any other kind. Produced with extra care, it has a specially delicious flavor.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Europe has a set of primary interests which to us have none or a very remote relation. Hence she must be engaged in frequent controversies, the causes of which are essentially foreign to our concerns. Hence, therefore, it must be unwise in us to implicate ourselves by artificial ties in the ordinary vicissitudes of her politics or the ordinary combinations and collisions of her friendships or enmities."—From the Farewell Address.

BRITISH SHIPS AND OUR SEALING WAX.

Mr. Hull says that if the British intend to open the air mail every time a Clipper stops at Bermuda the American trans-Atlantic planes will cut that port from the schedule. If Bermuda were under the jurisdiction in which the law of political gravitation would drop it, there wouldn't be any tampering with American mails there because Bermuda would be under the American flag. The island once was a part of Virginia. Senators Byrd and Glass might build up a little irredentist movement. They are both interested in the recovery of national assets and they know that unless the British transfer some real estate to the creditor the old war debt will never be paid.

The air mail presents only one phase of the difficulties our state department is having with the British sea patrol. The British foreign office has tartly rejected as without justification all the protests Mr. Hull has made against the seizure of the mail sacks and the opening of letters and parcels, whether addressed to neutrals or to belligerents. The British declare their right and their purpose to search the mails for contraband, going directly or indirectly to Germany.

Altho Mr. Hull will probably continue to protest, the practice of seizing, delaying, and opening the mails, wherever bound, will be continued unless the United States government decides that the matter is serious enough to provoke retaliations. Mr. Hull, and even Mr. Roosevelt, might possibly become a little exasperated if they thought they were being roughly treated by a friend, but angry feelings would have a difficult time to find a way thru the resisting partiality the administration has for the belligerent rebuffing it.

Sea power in time of emergency uses its strength to get the results desired, interpreting international law in its own interests. In justification the British point to the Nazi tactics which in this war, as in the last, have no regard for the lives and property of neutrals in attacking sea-borne commerce with mines, torpedoes, and bombs. One activity in the British patrol of the sea may keep a number of German seamen virtually interned in this country. A British warship stopped a Japanese steamer within sight of Japan's east coast and took off 21 German merchant sailors who were bound from San Francisco to Japan on their way to Germany. The men had been in the employ of the Standard Oil company in South American trade and were being sent back to Germany at the company's expense. The Japanese say that the incident was very disagreeable. Their protests are angry.

The British say we gave them the precedent for the predatory cruise and that they submitted to it in our civil war. The Trent Affair of that same war established the immunity of persons from seizure on a neutral vessel. America did not give Great Britain a precedent for taking these German seamen off the Asama Maru. Mason and Slidell, confederate commissioners to Great Britain and France, were released and returned to the British after they had been taken off the British boat by an American warship.

If Mason and Slidell were as safe from seizure on a British ship as they would have been on English soil, it would seem that German seamen were safe on a Japanese boat. However, that's an affair for the Japanese, altho it bounds back at America because there are other German merchant marine crews in this country. Sentiment here is against the Nazis, but it probably wouldn't insist that these men be shipped off to certain captivity. The British discarded the civil war precedent during the world war. Can Japan fish it out of the discard?

FILIPINO HOSTAGES.

President Manuel Quezon and members of the Philippines national assembly agree that their national independence, which under the present law they will get as a Fourth of July gift six years from now, will face a world of uncertainties. Quezon, addressing the assembly, said the choice must be made. The people could take their chances or resign themselves to dependence under protection. With courage they could take the chance, altho in his opinion no one could predict the future of small, independent countries anywhere.

The Filipinos do not seem to be wavering much and there is no evidence of a change of opinion here. It is a part of our heritage to give them their freedom; it should be their heritage to receive it. What they will do with it we cannot know, any more than they can know how safe they will be with it. Here some of us have thought that the period of transition from their liberty under the protectorate to their complete independence without it was too long—too long for America and possibly too long for them.

When they are entirely free they must defend themselves, but—and this is important—they will make their own wars. Now we can make one for them. Our foreign policy in the far east might bring an enemy down on them. They cannot insist that we keep the peace with Japan. They have no voice in the matter. It remains significant to us that Japan could attack them, but more significant to them. They would be the people overrun. They are the hostages of America's action in the far east.

JUSTICE IN ADMINISTRATION.

The revelation of abuses in the National Labor Relations board and other administrative agencies has evidently stirred a good many congressmen to thought and action. Steps are being taken to revive the Walter-Logan bill and there is reason to hope that these efforts will be successful.

The bill was sponsored by two Democrats, Representative Walter of Pennsylvania and the late Senator Logan of Kentucky. During the last regular session it won the indorsement of the judiciary committees of both branches of congress and was approved in the senate by unanimous consent. Under heavy pressure from the administration, the approval was later withdrawn and the bill accordingly died.

Meanwhile the country has learned a good deal. For one thing, the Supreme court has declared that there can be no appeal to the courts from such administrative determinations as the labor board's regulations for conducting an election among employés, no matter how unfair these arrangements may be. For another, the country knows as a result of the Smith investigation how prejudiced the zealots in the quasi-judicial agencies can be and are.

The Walter-Logan bill does not go so far as to abolish the administrative agencies but places them under the necessity of observing some of the elementary principles of fair play. The bill forbids the administrative commissions, for example, to change their rules in the middle of the game. The tribunals must establish rules for themselves and adhere to them. Once these rules have been published, any interested person may appeal to the Circuit Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia to pass upon them. Further than that, the findings of the administrative tribunals in all particulars are subject to review in the courts. The bill is intended to protect the citizen from arbitrary action at the hands of a tribunal which is at once prosecutor, judge, jury, and executioner.

Plainly some such law is needed if the trend toward the nazification of this country is to be checked. The news that the judiciary committee of the house has requested a special rule to place the bill on the calendar is, indeed, welcome. There are corresponding stirrings in the senate. There is reason to believe that the majority of the members of both chambers favor the measure and will adopt it unless the administration, under pressure of the brain trusters, again intervenes to save the new tyranny.

THE LOUP RIVER FLOP.

Two items on the financial page the other day ought to be read together.

One of them reported the losses which have been sustained by the government thru defaults on loans made by the Public Works administration. At the request of Representatives Wigglesworth of Massachusetts and Dirksen of Illinois, the figures were produced at a secret hearing. In all, 51 million dollars worth of bonds and notes have gone sour. The heaviest losses were recorded against the Nebraska power projects. The Loup river public power district is already in default of nearly $600,000 of interest on the 9 million dollars it borrowed and the Platte Valley power and irrigation district has failed to meet nearly a million dollars of its obligations on a borrowing of a little less than 9 million dollars.

The other item reported an address by Dr. Henry Heald, the president of Armour institute. In the course of his remarks he said that "the engineers' responsibility is now with the social significance of the civilization they have created." If that is true, it follows that the engineering profession has been derelict in its duty in the last half dozen years. It has permitted, with only the feeblest of protests, the wasting of the people's money on such absurdities as the Nebraska projects, the Florida canal, Passamaquoddy, and Grand Coulee.

Laymen who took the trouble to inquire knew that the Loup river scheme was cockeyed before it was started. It was foisted on the public treasury by political manipulators and the fanaticism of Senator Norris. The project was bound to incur losses as this newspaper was at great pains to point out over and over again.

The engineers had their opportunity to denounce this waste of money, and if they had done so would have been performing a work of considerable "social significance." In fact, scarcely a peep was heard from the profession. When Honest Harold Ickes authorized the loans he had to square himself not with the engineering profession, which might have been hard to do, but with his own conscience. That was a pushover.

NEWS FROM ST. JOHN'S.

[Baltimore Evening Sun.]

Two St. John's college students, who made off with a big sign from an Annapolis office building, were caught by the police after great excitement and made to carry the sign thru the streets of the town and put it in place again. In addition, they were fined a total of $18.50, and one of them spent a night in the Crabtown poky.

Our impressions of St. John's, since the great change in 1937, have been gained largely from what President Barr has been telling us about the place, plus the fact that we never hear much any more about St. John's football teams. This recent evidence that the studious young men there are capable of rah-rah escapades, that they can leave their Æschylus and their Ptolemy and their Francis Bacon long enough to engage in horseplay, is a bit disconcerting. We had grown accustomed to thinking of these young men as individual minds illuminated and energized by the common heritage of human wisdom, reëducating the faculty, and maintaining a fine integrity and balance between the poetic and the mathematical, between the literary and the scientific, thru intimate contact with the 100 greatest books in the world.

Alas, the impression was one thing, the collegians another. While we were thinking of them as young Erasmuses they have been snitching street signs, getting chased by the cops, hiding under freight cars, spending nights in jail, and generally having the high old devil of a time, right in the Yale '06 turtle neck sweater tradition.

SPEAKING OF MONEY.

Did you know that there are about 250 legally certified spendthrifts who figure as characters in Probate court proceedings? They are the beneficiaries of "spendthrift trusts," which prevent them from wasting their inheritances, small or large. Whenever a spendthrift feels that he could use a piece of change, over and above the regular allowance, he goes to the conservator in charge of the trust, and says that he needs a new overcoat, or that the baby is sick. Then the conservator files a petition to the Probate court on behalf of "John Doe, a spendthrift," and the money is forthcoming—maybe.

Here is a good character to put into a novel. Our vast reading in fiction, whether it be literature or tripe, has not yet encountered a certified and probated spendthrift.

Blast the war news! What about this mysterious millionaire, George Firmenich, whose story is told in three "sticks"? We want the complete details on George. He died at the age of 83, leaving more than $2,000,000, almost a year ago, and nobody ever heard of him until the state inheritance tax appraiser filed an inventory.

All thru the depression, when famous millionaires were jumping out of windows and fortunes were disappearing like dry ice, old Mr. Firmenich lurked in the ancestral dwelling at 3149 South Michigan avenue—a good address once—and froze onto his. Was he a mysterious mastermind? Was he wiser about investments than all La Salle street? We are curious to know.

* * *

There is a Balzacian atmosphere in this brief item on Firmenich. It recalls the Gobsecks, Grandets, and other queer fish in the Comédie Humaine—forgotten old men who hid in the shadows of Paris with the gleam of gold in their eyes. . . . Does any one read Balzac now? Embryo journalists should tackle him, in spite of the rough going, to cultivate their nose for the grotesque.

JANUARY SHOPPING.

I'll take the whistle, muffled and hoarse,
Distantly borne on the frosty air,
Of the long thru train on its westward course
Urgently, gruffly hooting, "Beware"!

I'll take the pillar of smoke by day,
The pillar of fire by night
Of the mammoth engine grinding away
To the places I'd go if I might.

And the wild prints left in the snow,
While the treasures of Italy aren't a patch
To the pictures these windowpanes show.

I'll take the moon, if it isn't too much,
And the jewels some prowling thief may clutch—

And things are expensive, that I see,
So I'll take these laces, I couldn't do worse,

A Voice from Old Siwash.

I should not be a true son of Old Siwash if I did not mention that among the Lincoln shrines that Raymond Massey should visit is Old Main on the Knox college campus in Galesburg. The building, a simple but striking structure of Tudor Gothic design, was erected in 1857 and was in the following year the scene of the fifth debate between Lincoln and Douglas. It is the only surviving structure where any of these historic contests were waged, and in June, 1936, the department of the interior recognized its worth and designated Old Main a national historic site.

Each Oct. 7 the college commemorates the debate with some sort of celebration and at present is fostering discussion of public problems by prominent persons. In 1938 the two candidates for the United States senate set forth their views, speaking [I think] from the same platform for the only time during the campaign. In 1939 Philip La Follette was the speaker. And in the past the celebrations have been attended by President McKinley with his cabinet, President Taft, and Robert Lincoln.

I think, too, that Mr. Massey might find interesting the not inconsiderable collection of Lincolniana housed in Knox's Henry M. Seymour library. Much of it has been contributed by Emmanuel Hertz of New York, the noted Lincoln scholar.

The campus of Knox college is where Abraham Lincoln, LL.D., 1860, found it possible to remark, "Now I have gone to college."

LEAP YEAR SCHEMER.

I earnestly pray that, ere the last day
Of '40 comes to a close,
I can, with grace and keeping my place,
Find the courage to propose.
I want to do it, yet nevermore rue it—
I couldn't be bold—no, never.
But I hope to devise a proposal wise,
A proposal subtle and clever,
Which will culminate in a marital state
So filled with bliss and devotion
That my prize all the while (in true masculine style)

In one of the usual shipboard groups we had a boy named Don, who was a master at dead pan goofiness. Everybody liked him except one recent graduate of a swank eastern school who could never understand that Don was razzing him to death with his dumb questions and apparent acceptance of absurd statements. Finally the easterner popped:

"If you know so much, can you define onomatopoeia?"

Don's jaw dropped, and his eyes rolled as it bewildered. Then he said:

"Why it's one of them words that means what it says. You know, like biff-bang, ding-dong, shut-up, and go-to-hell."

HEALING A PEPTIC ULCER.

As most of us know, ulcers can form along the digestive tract and they occur far more often in the stomach and duodenum. They are termed "peptic" because they are related to digestion. The typical victim belongs to the nervous, worrying type who takes the happenings of the day seriously—often losing sleep over inconsequential rebuffs. This would indicate that among the causes we must include nervousness.

But there must be a starter. Something must occur which destroys the blood supply to active functioning cells and hence hastens the death of a tiny bit of the mucous surface. Then—because of the presence of the acid gastric juice—the spot may enlarge with increasing deterioration of tissue.

An ulcer possesses, as a rule, a round or irregularly shaped crater. Normal elements which have been injured have sloughed away and infection may enter the picture—bacteria may grow—thus adding to the damage. We may say that any disturbance in the circulation—for example, arteriosclerosis or a type of nervous reaction causing constriction of the tiny vessels—may lead to trouble. If, in addition, the diet consists of a generous proportion of alcohol, spices, very hot or very cold materials we have an ideal setting for the origin of one of these annoying lesions.

The characteristic distress which comes on from one to three hours after a meal, and which is relieved by the taking of food, is well understood. Many of these sufferers will relate that during a vacation or on a trip to some distant point—with the mind freed from all worry and responsibility—the symptoms disappeared as if by magic. But when regular duties were resumed, peace departed and the discomfort returned in full force.

If the duodenum is the area affected, aching will continue until nourishment is taken. In fact, even a glass of milk will bring comfort whether the difficulty is located in the stomach or the duodenum. In some instances, pain may appear shortly after a meal but this occurs only when the ulcer is situated near the inlet to the gastric pouch. Now and then signs of coronary disease are confusing. But there is no letup to the agony brought on by this latter condition and eating may even make it worse.

Fortunately, the X-ray will clinch the diagnosis altho there are a few cases in which the shadow pictures will fail to point to the exact region. Treatment, after all, is the important thing and no one should allow a malady of this character to continue without some effort to bring about recovery. Surgical intervention will be necessary only should complications arise—such as bleeding or perforation—and we may assume safely that strict dietetic management will be followed by satisfactory results.

First of all, we must use nutriment that will take up the acid of the gastric secretions like a sponge. Second, we must not stimulate excessive production of this substance. Hence, edibles such as white of egg and salt-free butter may be employed. Many physicians will begin with hourly feedings of a cream and milk mixture, holding the patient on this régime for a few days or until all signs have vanished. Some cereal or gruel is then added and, later, such items as boiled rice, custards, soft egg, milk toast, and strained vegetables are allowed. After two or three weeks, meats, such as chicken, lamb chops, fish, etc., may be included.

Numerous drugs have been suggested and it is frequently desirable to add enough alkali to make certain that the irritating effects of the acid are fully neutralized. Granular gastric mucin has found much favor with some medical men, but no medicine can take the place of a carefully graduated diet which provides rest for the involved site. It goes without saying that the proper vitamin and mineral intake must be watched, as a deficiency may easily develop in some one or more elements if the special feeding is prolonged greatly.

[A peptic ulcer diet will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.]

CASTOR OIL FOR WOUNDS.

E. R. B. writes: In your article on the use of crude cod liver oil in the treatment of wounds you mention also that olive oil, linseed oil, and paraffin are somewhat beneficial, but that they do not possess the bacteria destroying properties attributed to crude cod liver oil. For a number of years I have used castor oil as a wound dressing for corns, warts, and skin troubles in general and have found that it gives satisfactory results. Is it possible that castor oil also has the power to destroy bacteria, or are the benefits due entirely to the exclusion of air from the raw surfaces?

REPLY.

Vegetable oils or animal fats are known to be soothing—chiefly because of the exclusion of air from irritated surfaces. Cod liver oil has been shown to be beneficial because of its antiseptic qualities—due probably to its vitamin content and other factors. We feel that it is valuable mainly in chronic infected wounds. For routine injuries, soap and water for cleansing plus a sterile bandage is sufficient. No objection to castor oil.

CANKER SORES.

P. A. D. writes: Are white spots on the lower lip anything to worry about?

REPLY.

Because the lips are subject to irritation and injury, any persistent spot, sore, or growth should be investigated. The chances are that your trouble is due to canker sores. These small ulcerations become covered with a white material and are frequently quite annoying. Some correction of your diet may be necessary. In the meantime employ a mild antiseptic mouth wash.

PAINFUL SHOULDER.

REPLY.

Irritation of the lining of the bursae is responsible for the secretion of fluid and hence swelling of the sac. Rest and heat are helpful. If the pain persists surgical relief may be necessary.

TOBACCO SENSITIVITY.

W. L. S. writes: Is it possible to be allergic to tobacco smoke? I have a friend who develops symptoms of hay fever whenever he is in a room where some one is smoking.

REPLY.

Quite so. The nasal membranes no doubt absorb enough nicotine to produce symptoms. The possibility of mechanical irritation should be investigated, also.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY NORMAN INGREY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile.—Latin America should imitate the United States economically and end all loose talk about Pan-Americanism and continental spiritual solidarity. That is the conclusion of an editorial in El Mercurio, a newspaper published in this city.

There are 110 million Latin Americans living in 15 million square miles of territory with every natural advantage, according to the newspaper after a study of inter-American relations. But they are "slaves of the most favored nation clause, which prevents privileged trade among themselves," the editorial said. Figures and comparisons were given in this way:

Trade between Latin countries represents only 1 per cent of their total overseas commerce. Together, the score of nations do not possess half the amount of shipping owned by Sweden with its six and a half million inhabitants. Native Latins own barely one-third of total capital in operation. Seventy per cent of the population is illiterate.

It is argued that Pan-Americanism means nothing unless it produces trade. Yet, for all the conferences held and continuing to be held, not one country has sold an extra ton of produce to the other, nor has one customs obstacle been overcome.

No reliance can be placed on the United States market, it was claimed.

"The good neighbor policy will never produce anything concrete while the great American market measures out the consumption of our produce in drops and the middle west regulates their acceptance," the editorial argued.

Therefore, according to the author, Latin nations have to place less emphasis on their sovereignty and frontiers and return to the economic unity of the colonial days preceding political division.

As a first step to real trade it was recommended that Pan-American conferences be closed down for a long period—no matter whether these deal with security, law, or technical matters. Ridicule was heaped on the 300 mile wide security belt. The writer said it is madness to talk about reprisals against Europeans who buy their meat, copper, wheat, nitrate, coffee, and wool.

There should also be less talk about neutrality, as it is "obvious that peace is guaranteed in the new world for another 100 years."

The time has come to close down the American juridical laboratory, it was declared, and open another laboratory for more practical ends—special trade favors among themselves. It is also advisable to take a leaf out of the American book and organize industrially, the editorial went on.

The writer asked Latins to imagine what would happen," if, by some act of magic, the 110 millions of their countries could be traded for the 120 millions living in the United States." This is what would happen according to him:

"In the United States, naturally, we would begin by changing the American constitution, on the pretext that it is out of date. After all, we have written, taken away, and revised 168 constitutions during the last 100 years whereas the Americans are still governed by theirs of 1789. After improving their constitution we would form a series of political parties. Then we would only consume one-third of what is produced there. There would be no efficient men in business or government. In fact, in a short time the United States would cease to be what it is.

"But what, on the other hand, would happen to us? In a few years we would become a great federal empire. From a mere producer of raw materials we would develop into a manufacturing emporium, masters of our own destiny and not, what we are today, largely dependent on foreign supplies."

How Our States Got Their Names

16. LOUISIANA.

Louisiana was named in honor of King Louis XIV. of France by the explorer La Salle in 1682. It became a state on April 8, 1812. The first settlement was near what is now Biloxi, Miss., in 1699.

Louisiana state seal. It depicts pelican with three young, justice scales, and motto: "Union, Justice, and Confidence."

Louisiana is known as the Creole, Pelican, and Sugar state. There are many Creoles, descendants of the early French and Spanish settlers, there. There also are many pelicans and much sugar is grown in the state. The pelican is the state bird and the magnolia the state flower. The state motto is "Union, Justice, and Confidence." The state song is "The Song of Louisiana."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

A TRIBUTE TO SENATOR BORAH.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—The passing of Senator Borah is regrettable. He stood out in strong contrast to certain of our leaders now in Washington by reason of his honesty, veracity, and patriotism.

To him the oath of office really meant something. His position in public office was more to him than an opportunity to hand out patronage or to sell his country down the river in exchange for contributions from a racketeer labor leader or the plaudits of disloyal elements.

Borah was a liberal, for he believed and fought for the constitution, the very pillar of liberalism, and which even aimed to protect the employer. His presence in the senate was refreshing in a day when patriotism seems prostituted, oaths of office broken, and solemn promises forgotten.

Borah was a good orator and he wrote his own speeches. He won elections without using Tammany tactics or the graveyard vote. He kept his promises to his constituents and told the truth. Before entering public office he had demonstrated his ability to earn his living without depending on patrimony.

In American politics the election to public office of one with character, ability, and true love of country is indeed rare, and after their death we have a way of giving belated homage. We revere Lincoln more and more as the years go, not so much for the reason that he saved the country and freed slaves, for these things would have taken place in any event, but because he was an honest politician.

When once again Americans have regained their political equilibrium they may think of this man Borah likewise.

M. H. W.

AN IMPOSING RECORD.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—I heard Mr. Roosevelt's speech last Friday. I thought the speech was very good, but during this talk certain questions occurred to me. This speech was made at a meeting of the White House Conference of Children in a Democracy. This conference is called periodically to record and review the accomplishments since the last conference on child care. The previous conferences have been called the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection. Why the change of title? Are children "in a democracy" the only ones entitled to these findings?

Mr. Roosevelt mentioned that when he started his campaign on social reforms all the records that he could gather showed that one-third of the children in this country were ill housed and ill fed. He stated that recent findings of the White House conference showed that fully one-half the children are ill housed and ill fed. Is this Mr. Roosevelt's own admission of the accomplishments of eight years of the New Deal?

Mr. Roosevelt delivered a splendid eulogy in this speech in commenting on the death of Mr. Borah. I could not but help recall the appropriate words of Henry Ward Beecher when he said: "Speak approving, cheering words while their ears can hear them and while their hearts can be thrilled by them." Of late I have been noticing that Mr. Roosevelt is realizing one of the world's costliest lessons, and that is that even an opponent may be right.

STANLEY A. JACQUES.

THE LION OF IDAHO.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—A truly noble American statesman and patriot has passed to the great beyond. The Lion of Idaho, this son of Illinois, dauntlessly fought for the principles of sound Americanism as given to us by the father of our country. As the roll is called by future generations Senator Borah will rise majestically to answer it. The people of these United States stand at attention, paying homage and due respect to venerable Borah. A day should be set aside each year for this purpose. S. H.

ANOTHER.

Villa Park, Ill., Jan. 20.—Thanks for your noble cartoon of today by Parrish, titled "Roll Call."

When we review the events of the last 22 years and contemplate the many times that the incontrovertible logic, eloquent voice, and brave heart of Senator Borah prevented the sapping and mining of our constitution by foreign propaganda many of us will ask ourselves the question: What will become of us now?

AMERICAN CITIZEN.

THE CHRISTIAN FRONT.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—In its story of the treason plot of certain elements in the so-called Christian Front organization THE TRIBUNE carefully refrained from pointing out that this organization has enjoyed the good will if not the active support of the notorius Father Coughlin. Will the editors explain this apparent tenderness with respect to Coughlin and why it has so deliberately minimized the gravity and seriousness of this threat to the nation's liberties?

SAMUEL Z. RETHIG.

THE BORAH CARTOON.

Kankakee, Ill., Jan. 22.—We Americans appreciate the fine cartoon in Saturday's paper. It is an inspiration to all young Americans. Why not more of them instead of destructive criticism?

HARRY L. TOPPING.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

TERMS OF WILL.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 17 [Legal Friend of the People].—In 1938 I wrote a will on a regular form of will printed for the purpose, one for myself and wife. In each case we stated the facts and our wishes. In my will I left a stated amount for my brothers and sisters and the balance to my wife, which would include the greater part of my assets. We have no children. My wife's will simply stated all should go to me. She has nothing in her own name [1] except our house, which is in joint deed. These wills were signed and had acknowledgment by two persons, all in the presence of each other.

2. Recently I have heard rumors that a will drawn by an individual and not by an attorney was illegal. Please advise me regarding this. O. T.

1. The wills would be ineffective as to this joint tenancy property.

2. There is no such absolute rule of law. The only question is whether you have sufficient skill and experience to do the job right. While the statute does not require the employment of an attorney, we consider such employment advisable. If you try to economize by dispensing with expert help you are likely to make mistakes which will cost much more than an attorney would have charged to see that the job was done right in the first place. In addition, an attorney might make valuable suggestions as to the wisdom of your testamentary plan. If, despite the above, you wish to try to handle the matter for yourself, you should obtain a printed form from a stationer and see that it is executed in strict accordance with the attestation clause which precedes the space for signature of witnesses. The services of a notary are not necessary, and it is not safe to assume that a notary will be a competent adviser. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PRONUNCIATION
All but one of the words selected for consideration in this section are familiar. Don't be too sure of their pronunciation, however, until you have studied the following pages. You may discover a number of words in this lesson that you have been mispronouncing. Repeat the correct pronunciation for each of them at least three times. You will discover that it is more difficult to correct a mispronunciation than to learn a totally new word.
Pronunciation Exercise 6-A
1. tepid (tĕp'id). Tepid means lukewarm. We may speak of tepid water, tepid interest, tepid affections, etc.
EXAMPLE: The doctor prescribed a tepid bath for the patient.
2. architect (är'kĭ-tĕkt). The first syllable is pronounced are, not arch—är'kĭ-tĕkt.
EXAMPLE: Which architect won the award?
3. miserable (mĭz'ẽr-a-b'l). Not mĭz'ẽr-b'l; the word has four syllables—mĭz'ẽr-a-b'l.
EXAMPLE: He looked so miserable that we forgave him.
4. aviator (ā'vĭ-ā'tẽr). Don't say ăv'ĭ-ā-tẽr or ā'vĭ-ā-tẽr', but ā'vĭ-ā-tẽr. In spite of the fact that some famous flyers say ăv'ĭ-ā-tẽr, the word should always be pronounced with both a's long—ā'vĭ-ā-tẽr.
EXAMPLE: The aviator flew over the mountain.
5. radish (răd'ĭsh). Not rād'ĭsh, but răd'ĭsh. Radish comes from the Latin word radix, which means root. A radish is the root of a radish plant.
EXAMPLE: Radishes will suffice for the hors d'oeuvre.
6. horizon (hō-rī'z'n). Not hŏr'ĭ-zŏn, but hō-rī'z'n. Remember that the first syllable is hō.
EXAMPLE: The ship disappeared beyond the horizon.

IF you recognize the importance of your speech and seek a pleasant, practical way to improve it, order this invaluable course today while it is available at such low cost. You will find it one of the most stimulating subjects you have ever pursued, and each lesson will inspire you to greater effort toward personal success and achievement.

UNTIL NOW, the supply of Seagram's Ancient Bottle Gin has been limited. But today, however, it is generally available. Every Tavern listed in this advertisement stocks it and features it. No gin, domestic or imported, we believe, is so deliciously delicate . . . so utterly fine.

Seagram's Ancient Bottle Gin is pale golden—a color acquired "naturally". It has the smoothness of a rare vintage Sauterne.

A Martini made with Seagram's Ancient Bottle Gin is rightly called a "Golden Martini". It's the smoothest and smartest drink of the year. Ask for it at your favorite Tavern. Try Seagram's Ancient Bottle Gin with soda—a new kind of highball—a taste triumph. Ancient Bottle is so fine it is often preferred straight.

Correct Constipation Before—Not After!

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of emergency relief. Why let yourself suffer those dull lifeless days because of constipation, why bring on the need for emergency medicines, when there may be a far better way? That way is to KEEP regular by getting at the cause of the trouble.

If it's common constipation, due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, a pleasant, nutritious, ready-to-eat cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran—goes straight to the cause by supplying the "bulk" you need.

Eat this crunchy toasted cereal regularly, drink plenty of water, and see if you don't forget all about constipation. All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

HOUSING CENSUS HIT AS SNOOPING ON TAXPAYERS

Bill to Repeal Authority Is Introduced.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—Representative Daniel A. Reed [R., N. Y.] today introduced a bill in the house to repeal the act authorizing the special census of housing as unwarranted and unnecessary snooping.

Representative Reed.

This census which is scheduled to begin on April 1 along with the census of population and farming, would cost the government 8 million dollars, Reed said. It has been pointed out that farmers will be asked 232 questions, many of these having subdivisions.

A census of business and manufacturing concerns began Jan. 2. Detailed information on employés, wages paid, cost of materials, inventories, and sales figures is required. There are 12,000 enumerators engaged in this job and 121,000 will work on the census of population, farming and housing.

Cites Annoying Questions.

Reed declared that unless his repealer is approved by congress before April 1, all of the annoying questions now in the census forms must be answered. The law, as it stands provides penalties ranging up to $500 fine or six months' imprisonment, or both, for refusal to answer, or willful misrepresentation in the citizen's response to the census-taker.

"This is compulsion by government in its most repugnant form," he declared. "Such prying and snooping runs counter to every tradition of American life, and violates directly the personal security guarantees of the constitution itself."

"Never before in our history has the decennial census been distorted into a national snooping expedition," Reed said in explaining his repeal bill to the house.

"The questions in this special housing form pry into every intimate concern of the citizen's life—how much he paid for his home, the amount of mortgage against it, whether the mortgage is carried by the government or a private lender, the type and condition of the plumbing, and other questions equally objectionable to free men and women.

Lashes at Burocracy.

"Our people feel deeply that they have some rights and some concerns in life which they should not be compelled, under criminal penalties of law, to lay bare before the snooping eyes of our rampant federal burocracy."

Many protests have reached him, Reed said, chiefly that citizens dislike the idea of making all their affairs public thru the local census-takers—who often are men and women selected on the basis of political considerations.

"We all know, of course," Reed cautioned, "that the census material is supposed to be regarded as confidential. But it is perfectly apparent from the mail which has reached my office during the last two months, that the people do not feel secure in this matter, particularly when the data must be given a census-taker selected by local political appointment."

Housing Program Rejected.

Reed declared that the housing census was designed primarily to supply information on which to base the New Deal's proposed housing program, which was rejected by congress last August.

"Since the housing program itself has been emphatically rejected," Reed continued, "why squander this $8,000,000 of the people's money for the special housing census? Of course it will make jobs for many loyal New Dealers and thus help the Roosevelt third term campaign. But I, for one, do not concede that every home in the land should be compelled to submit an elaborate financial balance sheet to Washington merely because some burocrat wants to press on in the Roosevelt program of planned economy and social regimentation."

Currency Exchange Truck Owners Oppose Licensing

A proposed ordinance to license currency exchanges, imposing on each a $25 annual fee, was attacked yesterday at a meeting of a subcommittee of the council license committee. A delegation of owners of currency exchange trucks, who send trucks to manufacturing plants to cash pay roll checks on pay days, said the measure would put them out of business because it provides for the licensing of immediate exchanges only. This protest was taken under advisement.

Pensions Withheld from State in 1938.

Columbus, O., Jan. 24 [Special].—Gov. John W. Bricker criticized President Roosevelt today for vetoing a bill to reimburse Ohio for suspended old age assistance payments. The veto message was read before the house in Washington this afternoon.

"This action," Gov. Bricker said, "once again illustrates the willingness of the New Deal to sabotage humanitarian principles whenever it can serve its own selfish political purposes by so doing.

"This is only another evidence of the unfair attitude of the federal administration toward Ohio. This time it has resulted in hitting at 125,000 innocent persons who are on Ohio's pension rolls. The money provided by the bill is due Ohio."

Lose Fight Against Veto.

Gov. Bricker was informed that a fight immediately begun to override the veto was lost by a vote of 171 for and 153 against, 45 votes short of a required two-thirds majority.

In the tumultuous session that preceded the vote, Representative Robert T. Secrest [D., O.] charged that the social security payment was refused in an attempt to defeat Gov. Martin L. Davey, a Democrat, for reëlection.

The bill had provided that Ohio be reimbursed for October, 1938, social security payments which were withheld after federal investigators reported that Gov. Davey was using pension payments as a club to get votes. Davey was defeated in November, 1938, by Bricker, a Republican.

$1,338,160 Asked for State.

After the funds had been withheld investigations were conducted by the federal Social Security board, which found that there was inefficient administration of the state's assistance program, wholesale violation of the state civil service laws, a faulty accounting system, and other defects.

As originally introduced by Jenkins, the bill would have ordered payment of $1,338,160 to Ohio without certification by the Social Security board. It was changed to meet objections of Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator.

In his veto message Mr. Roosevelt said it seemed to him that disapproval of the measure "will serve notice on every state in the Union that all kinds of federal aid must be conditioned on full compliance with the federal law and wholly without discrimination or inefficiency."

The President said he was refusing approval because he believed that an expeditious, effective, and nonpolitical administration of the social security act is indispensable.

SUPPORT CEASES, SO FAMILIES JAIL A LOVE FLAT PAIR

When Anna Damato and Anthony Canello moved into a flat at 1012 Cambridge avenue they didn't forget Mr. Damato and the five little Damatos or Mrs. Canello and the five little Canellos. Both of them sent part of their WPA pay home each month. And their mates didn't protest until the money stopped coming.

Then Mrs. Lillian Canello of 459 North Peoria street and Joseph Damato of 455 North Morgan street got warrants charging disorderly conduct. Mrs. Damato, who is 32 years old, and Canello, who is 35, were arrested. Judge Francis Borrelli fined them each $200 in Domestic Relations court yesterday. Both went to jail to serve out the fines.

MOVE TO BOOST N. Y. INCOME TAX STIRS REBELLION

State Budget Total Nears 400 Million Mark.

New York, Jan. 24 (AP).—The rumble of tax rebellion was heard thruout the state today as tax payers' groups consolidated their opposition to a proposed $15,000,000 increase in the state personal income levy.

The little man—the chap in moderate circumstances, married and with children to support—appeared the most likely to raise the loudest complaints against the projected increase, but tonight the legislature at Albany seemed bent on ignoring demands for postponement of the Feb. 6 public hearing on the new $396,707,223 budget.

Republican Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck, commenting on appeals for more time to study the budget, declared two weeks were ample. Meanwhile most of the legislators had returned to their homes until next Monday.

Examples of Increase.

Under the proposed increase a man with a wife and no children and an income of $5,000 will pay $70 instead of the current $58. This figure is based on net income before personal exemptions are made.

The head of a family with four dependents and a $5,000 salary will see his income tax upped from $27 to $31, while the single person with no dependents and a $5,000 income would have to pay $215 instead of $160.

Besides this straight income tax, there is a 1 per cent emergency levy on income after exemptions, and this is payable in one sum April 15.

Point to Other Increases.

The taxpayers' groups were particularly incensed because the tax on motor fuels had been increased in recent years until it is now 4 cents a gallon; the tax on liquor was increased 50 per cent last year; the rates on the stock transfer tax were doubled in 1933; in the same year there was a 25 per cent increase in the inheritance tax; franchise taxes and insurance premium taxes were increased in 1935, and there is a state tax of 2 cents a package on cigarets.

"Gov. Herbert H. Lehman's state budget for 1940-'41, which is said to have the approval of Republicans in control of both houses of the legislature, is a direct slap in the face for taxpayers," said Col. Leopold Philipp, president of the Uptown Chamber of Commerce of this city.

Thruout the state tax payers' groups and civic organizations assailed the budget, demanding more time for study and demanding also greater economies in the expenditure of state funds.

A WELL TRAINED DOG OBEYS AND THEN DISOBEYS

Thomas Hamrock prized his dog, Cocoa, as a good friend and an able servant. Every noon she would fetch his lunch in a basket, suspended from her neck. Cocoa even met the mailman to get Hamrock's letters.

Last night three bandits invaded Hamrock's tavern at 4916 North avenue. Cocoa growled and darted toward the bandits, but retreated at Hamrock's command when the robbers said they would kill her.

Taking $15 and a bottle of whisky, the bandits turned to leave. At that moment Cocoa, disregarded her master's warning, lunged toward the bandit leader. He fired a shot, and Cocoa fell dead.

ROBBED OF CASH AND RING.

Morris Serota, 2540 North Kedzie avenue, reported to police yesterday that an armed man robbed him of $50 and a $250 diamond ring outside his home.

CLAIMS $236,000 FROM ESTATE OF GEORGE HARDING

Former Associate Values Wealth at $1,576,000.

Gregory T. Van Meter, former associate of the late George F. Harding, Republican leader, filed a claim for $236,000 in Probate court yesterday against Harding's estate. Acting Probate Judge Harry McEwen then issued an order restraining Harding's daughter, Mrs. Mary Harding Thompson, from disposing of $1,076,000 in securities in the estate.

G. T. Van Meter.

In a supplementary petition Van Meter's lawyer, Donald P. Vail, said that the estate consists of these securities and $500,000 in real estate, an aggregate of $1,576,000. But if all claims allowed, pending and which may be filed in the future, were paid out in full, the estate would be insolvent, the petition said.

Van Meter was Harding's assistant when the latter was county treasurer and later was collector of internal revenue for the Chicago district. According to his petition he bought 110 shares of Central Republic bank stock in his own name, but actually for Harding's account.

One Payment Made, He Says.

In May, 1937, Van Meter was ordered to pay $12,000 as stockholders' liability on the shares. Shortly before Harding's death last April 2, Harding agreed to reimburse Van Meter for this amount at $500 a month, but only made one payment, the petition said.

Van Meter asks for the remaining $11,500 and also that the estate assume $224,500 due on mortgages and notes on property to which Van Meter held title, but which he alleges was actually owned by Harding.

Three banks—the Continental Illinois, the First National, and the Harris Trust—also are defendants in the restraining order issued by Judge McEwen. The Continental holds the securities, and interest payments to Mrs. Thompson have been made thru the other two banks.

The petition asks that these securities be regarded as belonging to the estate and not to Mrs. Thompson. Further hearing was set for Feb. 7.

Cites Claims on Estate.

Van Meter's supplementary petition recites that $140,000 is due in taxes on the Harding estate, $534,000 in claims has already been allowed and $432,000 in claims is pending. Adding this to the $236,000 sought by Van Meter gives a total of $1,342,000. The petition states, however, that other claims for more than $200,000 are known to exist.

Harding's will left his daughter an income of $12,000 a year and provided the remainder of income from the estate should be used for the maintenance of the art gallery housed in a miniature French castle adjoining the Harding home at 4853 Lake Park avenue. This collection has been incorporated as a free public museum.

Daughter Seeks to Break Will.

Mrs. Thompson is seeking to break her father's will, charging that it did not express his wishes but was inspired by Miss Jessie Katz, his confidential secretary for 20 years.

A motion to dismiss Mrs. Thompson's bill was made yesterday before Judge William V. Brothers in Circuit court by Attorney Floyd Thompson, counsel for Miss Katz.

INDUSTRY FORCED TO BUY OFF NLRB, COMMITTEE TOLD

Lawyer Says Ruling Would Have Cost $200,000.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—Many industries are being slugged into buying their way out of National Labor Relations board orders, the house committee investigating the administration of the Wagner labor act was told today by a Chicago lawyer.

George B. Christensen, member of the Chicago law firm of Winston, Strawn & Shaw, appeared before the committee as a witness in connection with a case involving the Mount Vernon Car company, of which he is counsel. He narrated circumstances which led the company to agree to a payment of $20,000 in order to avoid the provisions of a board order which might have cost it $200,000.

Ordered to Deal with C. I. O.

The original board order had required the company to disestablish an American Federation of Labor union and to deal collectively with a C. I. O. union. The company also was commanded to reinstate 76 men with back pay and to reimburse about 1,000 other employés for dues and assessments they had paid into the A. F. of L. union.

Christensen said that the company's auditors figured this order would cost the company as much as $200,000.

"We felt that the order was not a good one and probably would not be upheld in the courts," he told the committee, "but there was no guarantee of that and the back pay ruling represented a liability which accrued daily. We thought we could prove that the C. I. O. had been selected wrongfully as the bargaining agent and that the conduct of the trial examiner was at least questionable. Moreover, the two unions had consented to an election, but the board would agree only to an election with the C. I. O. union alone named on the ballot.

Consent Decree Entered.

"These facts are typical of the desperate situation in which industry finds itself as a result of these orders. Even tho you have an order which you feel is not good, you have to buy your way out. We were slugged into paying a nuisance value. We bought our way out of a bad situation."

This so-called buying out was accomplished by the entrance of a consent decree replacing the board's original order. The company agreed to pay $20,000 to the regional director of the labor board, who was to divide it among the 76 men who were to be reinstated. The order to reimburse the employés for their A. F. of L. dues was abolished. In addition, an election was to be held to choose between the C. I. O. and A. F. of L. unions.

C. I. O. Asks Court to Act.

This settlement has not yet been put into effect, the committee learned, the C. I. O. having asked the federal court to intervene.

"If we had gone into court, printing of the huge record alone would have cost thousands of dollars," Christensen remarked. "In addition, there would have been attorneys' fees and other expenses. If we had petitioned the board for a rehearing that would have meant expenses of thousands of dollars more and the employés would have been stirred up all over again.

"So we were forced to make the best settlement we could, calculating that the $20,000 payment represented a probable saving of $175,000."

HEWITT WILL ASK $8,480,749 OF IERC AS WPA JOB FUND

Oscar Hewitt, commissioner of public works, will go before the Illinois Emergency Relief commission tomorrow to ask that $8,480,749 be contributed as part of the sponsor's share of city WPA projects during 1940. Lawrence Jacobson, local WPA director, and members of the council subcommittee on relief also will appear at the meeting.

Hewitt told members of the subcommittee yesterday that of $14,516,445 estimated as the necessary sponsor's contribution, the city can furnish $6,035,696. He said the cost to the IERC per month for each employable reliefer would amount to $24.98, which is lower than the average relief check. He estimated reliefers now getting $35 a month would receive $64 on WPA jobs.

Leo M. Lyons, executive secretary of the IERC, said that the employable reliefers could be put on WPA on a basis of $17.86 per man each month, instead of at the higher figure. He denied that reliefers were averaging $35 a month. The average relief check, Lyons said, is about $29.

BERNARD NACZKI JR.

Bernard was born Feb. 29, 1936, and will celebrate his first birthday this year. He is very excited about it, as are his parents, Bernard and Lillian, in their home at 1400 Cleveland avenue, for at last it looks as tho he will have a birthday cake that means something. He has had one every year on Feb. 28, but it wasn't his—it was his cousin's, who was born on Feb. 28.

"I was terribly worried before Sonny was born," Mrs. Naczi said. "I thought if I had a Leap Year baby I wouldn't like it. Now I feel fine about it. I didn't know when it would be just right to celebrate it, in February or in March. Then I decided he was a February baby, wasn't he, so why not?"

HOTEL WORKERS BAR SYMPATHY STRIKES IN PACT

Sign 2 Year Contract; Win Pay Raises.

A two year wage contract designed to stabilize labor conditions in the hotel industry was signed yesterday by the Miscellaneous Hotel Workers' union No. 593 and the Chicago Residential Hotel association.

The contract was seen as another step in the trend in employer-employé relations to ban sympathetic strikes. One clause in the contract guarantees that the union members will not go on sympathetic strikes if other unions walk out on the hotel managements. This had been provided previously in a contract signed by the Chicago Flat Janitors' union, which has assured the Chicago Real Estate board that it will avoid sympathetic strikes.

200 Hotels Affected.

Two hundred hotels, all outside the loop area, and about 3,000 workers are affected in the new contract.

Provisions were made for arbitration of all disputes, and the method of reaching agreement on moot points was put in writing. In the event representatives of the two sides fail to agree, an arbitrator whose decision is absolute will be chosen.

The union members are to have a six day, 48 hour week, with time and a half for overtime and a week's vacation with pay. The wage scale varies between $55 and $90 a month and represents an increase of 5 to 10 per cent.

60 Per Cent of Members Women.

About 60 per cent of the union members, who include seamstresses, maids, cleaners, porters, and many other classifications, are women.

Representatives of the hotel men were F. L. Winston, president of the association; Ralph Spafford, R. L. Vanderslice, and Douglas Leroy. The union was represented by James Blakely, president; James Crowley, and Louis Romano.

The Miscellaneous Hotel Workers' union is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

Coercion of Workers to Be Stamped Out.

New York, Jan. 24 (AP).—The trust busting law that Theodore Roosevelt generated long ago against business monopoly was turned today on labor unions in a widening effort to defeat what the government called secondary boycott and threats of violence to coerce employés to join a union not of their choosing.

Grant W. Kelleher.

Grant W. Kelleher, special assistant to the United States attorney general, charged that unions and their leaders indicted here and elsewhere on antitrust charges, had flouted the Wagner labor act.

"It is beyond the power of a labor union, acting under the Wagner act, to force or try to force, by use of coercive means, a change of affiliation on the part of employés, tying up interstate commerce or interrupting the flow of such commerce," he said.

Drive Is Nation-Wide.

Kelleher spoke as special prosecutor of Joseph P. Ryan, president of the A. F. of L. International Longshoremen's association, 10 individual associates and the union, indicted yesterday on charges of violating the Sherman antitrust law. Within recent weeks unions and leaders were indicted in Chicago, St. Louis, New Orleans, Washington, Cleveland and Pittsburgh, and Kelleher made clear that further inquiries were proceeding on a nation-wide basis.

Ryan and his I. L. A. associates were accused of badgering employers into forcing their employés to join the longshoremen's association.

The government charged the I. L. A. in one instance tied up 2 million dollars' worth of lumber on city piers rather than let it be removed by blacklisted retailers.

The penalties upon conviction could be one year prison sentences and $5,000 fines.

"It is the policy of Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold [in charge of antitrust prosecutions] to invoke the provisions of the Sherman antitrust law in cases where pressure is being put on an employer thru secondary boycott and threats of violence to coerce employés to join a union not of their choosing," Kelleher said.

ANOTHER IS INDICTED FOR FALSE SWEARING TO OBTAIN PASSPORT

New York, Jan. 24 (AP).—Federal authorities, following up their successful prosecution of Earl Browder, communist leader, on passport fraud charges, today obtained an indictment against Joseph Schaltan, an official of the Yiddish newspaper Freiheit.

The indictment was handed up to Federal Judge Vincent L. Leibell, who issued a warrant for the arrest of Schaltan on charges of fraudulently obtaining a passport by posing as a native of the United States. He has been sought for a month by the United States attorney's office.

Federal officials said Schaltan swore on Aug. 4, 1937, that he was born in Chicago and never had lived outside the United States. Actually, United States Attorney John T. Cahill said, Schaltan, also known as Sultan, was born in Kovno, Lithuania, in 1886 or 1887 and came to the United States on Jan. 25, 1908. Browder was sentenced to four years and fined $2,000.

Northwest Airport Hangar Burns; Six Planes Saved

Fire apparently starting in oil waste destroyed a large hangar yesterday at Northwest airport, Milwaukee avenue and Central road, Des Plaines. Attendants wheeled out six planes before they were damaged. The fire departments of Des Plaines and Glenview responded to the alarm. Damage was estimated at $5,000.

LABOR LEADERS DENY PLEAS FOR SCALISE PARDON

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24 [Special].—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Joseph A. Padway, its general counsel, today denied published reports they had sent to the White House letters indorsing the pardon application now pending before President Roosevelt on behalf of George Scalise, international president of the Building Service Employés union.

Green and Padway explained that an agent from the department of justice called on them recently and informed them their names were among 100 submitted to the department by Scalise as references in his application for the restoration of his civil rights which he lost by serving four years in Atlanta penitentiary for violation of the Mann act.

"I told the agent," Green related, "that I knew nothing about the original crime and, therefore, could say nothing in condonation of it. However, I told the agent I had known Scalise a good many years and know nothing against him which should influence me to oppose his plea. I told the agent I could recommend restoration of his citizenship." Padway said substantially the same.

FIRE DAMAGES APARTMENTS.

Women Voters Begin Child Aid Campaign Tour

Leaders of the Illinois League of Women Voters began a two week tour of local leagues thruout the state yesterday to discuss means of obtaining federal aid for dependent children in Illinois.

The league's executive board decided Tuesday to sponsor the tour. Mrs. George G. Bogert, president, said the league seeks to arouse public interest in a bill to make Illinois eligible for the federal aid.

"Mothers' pensions now reach only about 17,000 of the 70,000 children eligible to receive aid," Mrs. Bogert said. "Illinois pays federal taxes to support aid to dependent children in 40 states now eligible for it, but Illinois receives nothing in return because it has not met social security act requirements."

In order to receive this aid, Illinois must have a law making mothers' pensions mandatory in all counties, under supervision of a single state agency. Any individual denied a claim must be granted a hearing before this agency.

The bill supported by the league, which did not get out of committee at the last session of the legislature, would place mothers' pensions under supervision of the state department of public welfare, with administration by county welfare units.

For its 70,000 eligible children, Illinois would receive $6,300,000 a year from the federal government under the provisions of the social security act, provided the state—or state and local governments together—paid a like amount.

"The annual increase in the present cost of mothers' pensions to Illinois would be about $4,000,000," Mrs. Bogert said, "but it would be more than balanced by the decrease in funds spent for children on relief. The Illinois Emergency Relief commission has established that relief grants to dependent children represent about 16.4 of Chicago's relief costs and 9.7 per cent of the cost outside Chicago."

Among the organizations cooperating with the league to make Illinois eligible for federal aid to dependent children are the American Legion and auxiliary, the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, the Catholic Youth organization, and the Illinois Conference on Social Welfare.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

A slight tendency toward optimism is not a liability in bidding. In fact, some of the greatest experts are consistent "pushers." But I must emphasize my use of the phrase "slight optimism" in referring to their bidding propensities. Obviously they cannot overbid by any appreciable amount and "get away with it" against any except dub opponents. Moreover, they give their enthusiasm free rein only on so-called safe hands, that is to say, on hands in which they know that the trump suit is completely under control, so that if things go wrong no catastrophe can happen. But the real crux of their bidding is that, while they may venture a trick more than their values actually justify, they almost invariably choose the right suit in which to play the hand. Consider the slam bid in today's hand.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	2 diamonds	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	5 hearts	Pass
6 diamonds	Pass	Pass	Pass

Altho an inspection of the North-South hands together discloses that the final contract had a splendid chance for success, a further scrutiny of each hand individually brings to light that this slam was difficult to reach. North's jump rebid was not bad but was certainly questionable. Such a bid usually indicates a hand substantially better in top cards, and rarely can be properly used when only one ace is held. South had a hard nut to crack when three hearts came to him for further action: He did not have the values for a conventional four no trump bid, and properly considered his five heart slam-try the best bid available. Four hearts would have been more cowardly than five hearts was brave. North, having already "stretched" to bid three hearts over two diamonds, really had no right to go on, but apparently North was determined to "gamble." His selection of six diamonds rather than six hearts did much to justify his recklessness.

He correctly diagnosed that if South's diamond suit were no longer than five cards, it might be vital to ruff a couple of clubs with his [North's] diamonds. With hearts as trump, North would have to use his own trumps for club-ruffing purposes, and could not depend on more than one discard on dummy's fifth diamond.

On the actual lay of cards, the slam was a laydown. West opened a club, and East won with the king, but after that there was no defense. Declarer won the spade return with the ace, ruffed a club, drew two rounds of diamonds and, after finding that the heart suit broke, claimed the balance.

How useful and how accommodating is a mashed potato! Mashed "spuds" are good served as potatoes in any of their hundred and one guises, but they also help to make certain baked products more tempting.

Mashed potatoes help a loaf of bread or a chocolate cake, for example, to keep moist and tender for a longer period of time than the normal one. And they seem to do something for texture and flavor as well.

All whole wheat bread, made with mashed potatoes, is better than most whole wheat breads. This recipe makes four loaves, but may be divided for a smaller number.

WHOLE WHEAT POTATO BREAD.

[4 Loaves.]

2 cups lukewarm water
2 cups water in which potatoes were cooked
2 cups warm mashed potatoes
2 cakes compressed yeast
3 tablespoons molasses
2 tablespoons lard or butter, melted
1 tablespoon salt
About 9½ cups whole wheat flour

Put liquids, mashed potatoes, molasses, fat, and salt into a mixing bowl and stir until salt and molasses are dissolved. The mixture should be lukewarm when the yeast is added. Stir until yeast is blended. Add enough flour to make a soft dough. It should be as soft as can be handled. Turn out on a floured board and knead about 10 minutes, or until dough is elastic and will not stick to the board. Round up, place in a large greased container, cover, and let rise in a warm place until the dough has risen to double its bulk. Knead down and leave covered for a second rising. Divide dough into four parts, shape each into a loaf, and place in greased pans. Brush the tops of the loaves with melted shortening. Cover with a cloth and let rise until light and higher than the sides of the pans. Bake in a 400 degree oven for 45 minutes or longer until bread is done.

Potato buttermilk rolls are tender and fluffy.

Potato Buttermilk Rolls.

[About 20.]

½ cup hot riced potatoes
¼ cup shortening
1 or 2 cakes compressed yeast
1 tablespoon sugar
1 cup lukewarm buttermilk
1 teaspoon salt
1 egg
About 3¾ cups flour

Add shortening to hot potato and allow to melt. Crumble yeast into sugar and let the mixture liquefy. Then add to potato and shortening, mixing well. Add buttermilk, salt, and beaten egg. Mix in three cups of flour thoroly, turn out dough on a floured board and knead in remaining flour. Knead until dough is smooth and satiny, place in a greased bowl, cover, and let rise in a warm place until light and spongy. Punch down, let rise again, and shape into small balls. Place by threes in greased muffin pans. Brush the tops with butter. Let rise until double and bake at 425 degrees.

Pumpernickel bread, for which you'll find a recipe in "Better Homemade Bread and Rolls" [23 cents by mail] also contains mashed potato to give it moisture.

Most of the cakes made with mashed potatoes are chocolate ones. Since there'll be a recipe for a chocolate potato layer cake in next Sunday's paper I won't precede it with anything of a similar nature.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Out of the Mouths of Actors.

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 24.—In the pages of "Lorenzo Goes to Hollywood," the autobiography of Edward Arnold, published by Liveright, Arnold enjoys the last laugh on the Independent Theater Owners' association. . . . You may or may not recall that on May 3, 1938, an advertisment signed by them appeared in a Hollywood trade paper, calling on the producers to "wake up" and rid themselves of certain performers who were, according to the exhibitors, "poison at the box office." . . . This startling libel was so sensational in import that papers all over the world picked it up and discussed it editorially.

"Among these players," quotes Arnold on page 278, "whose dramatic ability is unquestioned, but whose box office draw is nil, can be numbered Mae West, Edward Arnold, Joan Crawford, Katharine Hepburn, and many, many others. Garbo, for instance, is a tremendous draw in Europe, which does not help theater owners in the United States. Dietrich, too, is poison at the box office." . . . Arnold comments on the flaws in this statement, points out that immediately after the harsh attack he appeared in such box office hits as "The Crowd Roars," "You Can't Take It with You," "Man About Town," and "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington."

If Arnold were penning his book today he could point out that Marlene Dietrich, with Jimmy Stewart, is busting all box office records in "Destry Rides Again." . . . He could point out that Greta Garbo's "Ninotchka" is shattering American box office records; that Joan Crawford's flicker with Gable promises to be one of the big money makers of the Metro schedule; that Mae West, with W. C. Fields, has just completed a sure-fire grosser at Universal; that Katharine Hepburn has been playing so long to packed houses on Broadway that it is no longer news. . . . In other words, the Independent Theater Owners' association jolly well didn't know what they were talking about. . . . I doubt that ever again will such an attack on performers win such a respectful hearing.

In "The Story of Helen Hayes," published by Random House, you learn that "Coquette," one of her greatest successes, was given a lukewarm reception in Atlantic City, was panned in Philadelphia and Newark, and was panned, too, by Alex Woollcott, who has built up a legend of accurate guesses. . . . "On Nov. 8, 1927," writes her mother, "'Coquette' opened at the Maxine Elliott theater in New York City. She had allowed the out-of-town critics to get her down, and then Uncle Alec's [Woollcott] opinion given to her in Newark completed her demoralization. She said, 'I am glad Charlie [fiancé MacArthur] won't be here to see my humiliation.' . . . After the play was over the applause and cheers were so thunderous that they penetrated even mommy's first night deafness, tho she said: 'I must be crazy. I can't be hearing that commotion out front.'"

From the autobiography of Katharine Cornell, discussing the rôle of Elizabeth in "The Barrets of Wimpole Street," one of her greatest triumphs: "Elizabeth doesn't look like a difficult part to play, but she is—physically, I mean. Just lying on the sofa with your feet up and playing your scenes facing the side walls of the stage is a strain. Then it is hard to stay quietly in one position and talk; to project your voice to the gallery, and still be a sick woman. From start to finish she does nothing but 'feed' everybody; 'feed' lines to the father, Browning, her brothers and sisters—build them up, and then they come in and take the scene. She is on the stage from start to finish, except the last three minutes, and never has one scene of her own, that little quiet moment with Wilson before she goes away. In fact, Besier [the author] was surprised that I wanted to play the part. 'I thought that Miss Cornell, being an American star, would not like being out of the last scene,' he said. And Guthrie—very haughty—answered: 'You are mistaken. Miss Cornell is an artiste. The last scene is one of the main reasons she bought the play.'"

In "Backstage with Actors" Authoress Helen Ormsbee, whose dad once was dramatic critic of the Brooklyn Eagle, recalls a statement by Richard Mansfield: "Every character the actor creates is a child he has borne. There is labor and there is pain. When it is born it is born like the children of a king—in public. It is either a beautiful and perfect child or he drags himself home in misery to weep away his sorrows, unpitied. . . . I have had so many of these 'children,' and a number of them are forgotten by everybody. Only I still think of them at night over my pipe. No—they are not all beautiful. Very few of them are. But the mother always cherishes most dearly the ugly one."

In "Barnum," M. H. Werner's story of P. T. Barnum: "Four days before Barnum's death the Evening Sun sent a reporter to the circus to inquire whether it would hurt Barnum's feelings if the newspaper should print an obituary notice of him before he died. 'Not at all,' answered Tody Hamilton, the circus press agent, knowing his boss. The four column tribute appeared the next day. Barnum, much pleased, improved in health immediately."

Illinois Opera Guild Makes $500 Gift to Foundation Fund

A contribution of $500 to the Opera Foundation fund was made yesterday by the Illinois Opera guild. The presentation was made at a meeting of the guild which was organized last May to raise funds to supply opera tickets to music students. Mrs. James G. McMillan, chairman of the guild, presented the check to Mrs. Jacob Baur, vice chairman of the women's committee of the campaign to raise $200,000 to insure opera in Chicago.

Speakers reminded guild members that the fund must be raised if Chicago is to have opera. They added that it had been necessary to extend the dead line a second time because the fund is not in sight.

Mrs. McMillan reported that parties given by the guild raised enough funds to provide Thursday night box seats for 3,885 music students during the last season. The guild has 400 members and gave 34 parties to raise funds.

Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, chairmen of the women's division, will entertain the committee at tea at her home on Lake Shore drive tomorrow.

A rustproof, light weight steel is used to make a new type of window ventilator that looks a little like a section of a Venetian blind, since it has slats that direct the air either up or down. It may be used permanently outside a window, or as a removable ventilator. Sturdy and easy to clean, it is priced according to size. Two sizes are available.

Mary Pickford Will Produce Films Again; May Return to Screen

New York, Jan. 24 [Special].—Mary Pickford is reorganizing her own film production company and plans to make two pictures for release during the 1940-'41 season thru the United Artists corporation, of which she is a part owner.

Miss Pickford also disclosed that she is considering returning to the screen and said she was collaborating with Adele Rogers St. John on a story which is as yet untitled. She does not intend to personally produce this film; it probably will be made by one of the producers associated with United Artists. Her last appearance on the screen was in "Secrets," produced in 1933.

Buffet Suppers Are Popular at Racquet Club

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE Thursday night buffet suppers at the Racquet club are becoming quite the thing, and every week on "cook's night out" there are gay gatherings in the newly decorated club at Dearborn parkway and Schiller street.

There are bridge and bowling tournaments occasionally, but tonight most of the members are planning to go on to the première of the movie "Gone with the Wind" after enjoying their supper. Gerald Cudahy, Mrs. Michael Cudahy, and Charles S. Dewey Jr. are on the entertainment committee that arranges the Thursday night parties.

Potter Palmer III., Hulburd Johnston, Horace Wetmore, Ralph Hines, and Miss Betty Keith are among the best bowlers. Mrs. Robert S. Pirie and Mrs. Byron S. Harvey Jr. are beginners, but enthusiastic and quick learning ones.

Mr. Hines and the Howard Linns are among those who have invited friends to supper tonight at the club and who plan later to take their guests to see the long anticipated movie in which lovely Vivian Leigh is Scarlett O'Hara. The Linns and Mr. Hines expect that they and their guests will go back to the club for some bowling later, for the alleys are open until about 2 a. m.

The senior Mr. and Mrs. Harvey are others who are entertaining at the movie première tonight. Their guests will dine at the Harvey home. Mrs. Harvey is giving a luncheon at the Racquet club next Tuesday for Clifton Webb, who is appearing in "The Man Who Came to Dinner." Miss Constance Bennett has a guest card to the club and makes frequent use of it.

Miss Bennett, who is appearing at the Selwyn in "Easy Virtue," will be the especial guest at the Emerson house benefit party Saturday night. A number of cocktail parties at the Racquet club will precede the dinner-dance, which is to be held at the Union station.

English Union Tea for Raymond Massey.

Invitations to a tea the English Speaking union is giving this afternoon at the Arts club for Raymond Massey were restricted to members of the union and their families and some of the members of the cast of "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," in which Mr. Massey is playing.

Mr. and Mrs. Massey, George F. Spaulding, who is the new head of the union, succeeding the late Rufus C. Dawes, and Mrs. Spaulding, and the Thomas I. Underwoods will receive. The Underwoods and the Masseys are old friends. Pouring will be Miss Mary Hale, Mrs. John Paul Welling, Mrs. Charles F. Cutter, Mrs. W. J. Riddiford, wife of the Canadian trade commissioner; Mrs. Edison Dick, and Mrs. Douglas Buchanan.

Among those who have made reservations for the party are Mrs. John Crerar, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Durand Smith, Mrs. James Winston, and Miss Jane Cummings.

Seeing Eye Starts Enrollment Today.

The Chicago committee of the Seeing Eye is opening its 1940 membership enrollment with a luncheon today at the Racquet club. Mrs. Harrison Eustis, president of the national Seeing Eye, has come from her home in Morristown, N. J., to attend. Mrs. Frederick A. Preston is general chairman of the 1940 enrollment for Chicago and vicinity.

Morris S. Frank of Nashville, Tenn., who started the guide dog movement in this country, also is in Chicago for the occasion.

"Today's Best Sellers and Why" is the subject of a lecture George Dangerfield, critic and author, will give at 11:30 o'clock today at the Woman's Athletic club.

Mr. Dangerfield will have luncheon with board members at a table with Mrs. Raymond C. Dudley.

Among those who have reserved tables for luncheon after the lecture are Mrs. Edgar D. Smith, Mrs. Philip R. Clarke, Mrs. Walter Engle, Mrs. James Bremner, Mrs. Joseph H. Defrees, and Mrs. William B. Hales.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

For decades and decades, we were rather surprised to learn, a large group of women have been quietly wending their way to their pet cosmetic counters to buy a certain little known cold cream. Other creams, much touted, have no charms for them; they're firm in their allegiance to this white, unperfumed and inexpensive cream for a flock of sound reasons.

There is nothing splashy about its presentation. It doesn't claim, and never has, to make you a Garbo in one easy application. It's just a plain, pure, rather old fashioned cold cream for cleansing and softening the skin.

The cold creams are the real old timers, and lots of women prefer them to the newcomers. This cream is, at least by comparison with the liquefying creams, rather heavy. Many dry skinned women consider this a definite advantage. It's not too heavy, however—not so heavy that in applying it you pull the skin about.

It's an excellent cleanser, tho not as speedy as some. The way to use it is to apply it generously and work it in well. When you remove it you'll find that it takes every smidge of grime with it. And it's soothing to the parched skin, so much so that we rather fancy it for a massage cream. The skin can soak up a lot of it and will benefit in the process.

Not long ago we asked a dry skinned friend to try this. She found that it was an excellent two purpose cream. Using it a couple of times a day to cleanse and at least once a day to massage with, she kept her skin softer than it had ever been before during one of our Chicago winters.

There Are 64 Kinds of Smile You Can Have

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Some time ago, we recall, an investigator figured out that there were 64 different types of smiles—each, he added, a delight in itself and welcome.

We were reminded of this when we overheard a couple of frank teenagers discussing their own chances as beauties. Amusing to notice the deference to age here. Beauty to the teeners meant something they'd have or might have when it got around to marrying age. But that's beside the point.

One girl enumerated the good qualities of the other directly to her face, as "you have nice hair and a perfectly grand figure. Your mouth is a little large, but then," the wise young one added, "some of the movie stars have big mouths, so that doesn't matter." But this was the blast that brought our ears to sharper attention:

"You know, when you smile, my dear, you are lovely to look at. But the trouble is you frown more often than you smile."

"Then I'll never frown again," the victim volunteered. "Believe me, I won't."

The girl's mama probably had said the same thing a hundred times to the youngster, but the frowns kept up. And how that young critic did hit upon a vital beauty aid. Is there a more magic aid, we ask you? We've never met it. It's what gives youth its devastating sparkle. It's what gives age its magnificent face lift. Indeed, today it might be said that the face with a ready, wholehearted smile is so rare as to give its owner unusual distinction. It's not right that faces aren't more often smiling ones.

We shouldn't let that downcast countenance rule us the way it does. The older face especially needs those upturned mouth corners. Just notice today how many women have deep graves dug at the mouth corners—deep lines, deeply imprinted and woefully ruinous to a face. The sight ought to hike ours up, for let that deeply etched one burst into merriment and see time fly out of her face. Yes, there is beauty magic in the smile.

Lecturer on Music.

Composer and Musicologist Nicolas Nabokoff is a model other lecturers could well emulate. To our mind he is the best lecturer we ever heard. Yesterday, when he talked on The Influence of Bach on Contemporary Music at the Arts club, this impression was revivified. He doesn't talk down to musical laymen, yet manages, thru the very soundness and scope of his knowledge and the simplicity of his delivery, to make it interesting. Despite the fact that he is a Russian, there is none of that foreign rhythm to his English that makes many lecturers difficult to understand. Some lecturers are like bottles of good wine—from which it is impossible to remove the cork. Nabokoff's good wine flows freely.

• • •

In the late nineteenth and twentieth centuries, said young Composer Nabokoff, composers began to feel that music had again become a formal structure instead of a vehicle for the transmission of ideas and feelings. Altho some composers continued on the road of German romanticism and French impressionism, like Schoenberg and others of the modern Viennese school—and many Russians as well as composers of other nationalities went the road paved by Wagner and Debussy—others, like Hindemith and Stravinsky and Béla-Bartók turned on a new road. There was a reaction against the "decaying romanticism" of the earlier period.

• • •

Mozart would have seemed to have been the answer in the turn against romanticism, Nabokoff said, but, instead, it was Bach this school rediscovered—Bach "with his intraverse style, in which everything lies hidden behind carefully worked out lines."

Nabokoff played records—Hindemith and Milhaud and others—to illustrate the influence of Bach on contemporary composers. Even jazz—"the jazz of 1921 was close to Bach in many ways," he said. Other trends are rising now, he added.

"But the lesson is a positive one," he concluded. "The concern of young composers with Bach not only clarified their conceptions of form and meaning, but developed a technique and skill in polyphony and instilled a greater desire to experiment with new instruments."

Echoes of Lincoln in Illinois.

Mrs. Mary Sterling of Sterling, Ill., has an interesting antique in her attic—a wooden hat box the top and bottom of which are lined with an issue of the Pennsylvania and National Gazette, published in Philadelphia, for June 22, 1844; the sides with a perfectly legible copy of the Springfield (Ill.) Journal for June 6, 1844. The leading article in the Springfield paper is headed by indorsements for "Henry Clay for President. For Vice President, Theodore Frelinghuysen."

Senatorial electors indorsed are L. Lisle Smith and Abraham Lincoln, and the indorsement for senator is for Ninian Edwards. A piece on "Whig Principles" is signed by Henry Clay. Another article reads:

Mr. Clay gave his vote for Mr. Adams under a deep sense of duty, yet he never employed, in reference to Senator Jackson, the indecent statements quoted above: "One might as well make a sailor of a cock, or a soldier of a goose, as a President of General Jackson."

Adopted Child Should Be Told About It Early

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS
[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

I have a letter from parents who have an adopted daughter of 16 whom they dearly love and who is not a problem in any way except this: They have not told her she is adopted and her foster mother and father are now very anxious about this fact. The father wants the daughter told now and the mother cannot bear the thought. They are asking my advice.

The first part of my answer will, I fear, be discouraging—but I must put it in for the sake of all those other people who have very young adopted children.

It would have been better if this young girl had been told when she was very little that she was adopted. The term "adopted" is not usually used then, but another expression; the parents speak of "a chosen child." When these little children are told that their father and mother chose them out of all others to be their very own, it seems to create in them not only a sense of love, but a sense of pride. One little girl was even heard to boast: "Your mother had to take you because you were born to her, but my mother chose me."

This advice is not only my advice, but the advice of all those who have had anything to do with giving out babies and children for adoption and with following up their lives.

There are several reasons for this. One is that when very young there is little or no shock connected with the knowledge.

The other and the more important is that if you do not tell your child yourself, the knowledge is almost sure to come to him from outside. If this happens, either sooner or later in life, the consequences to him may be very serious.

All that advice is no help now to those parents whose adopted children are in their teens and do not know the facts of their relationship. To them, all I can say is, lose no time in informing your child that he is adopted. In doing this the vital thing is to make your child know how deeply you love him and that he is to you your very own.

You must think out very carefully how you are going to give him this information. Whether it is to be done gradually, over a period of time by leading up to it and paving the way, or whether you can do it all at one time is something you must decide yourself. If your son or daughter happens to know of another child who is adopted and who is devoted to his parents, that would be a help.

In any event, you must be prepared for some degree of shock, and allow time for your adopted child to adjust herself or himself to the idea.

Banish Fears of Nipped-In Girdle Styles

BY REA SEEGER.

A smooth princess streamline is the newest waistline news from the girdle and corset midseason showings. Any definite uncomfortable emphasis on a nipped-in or laced too tight middle circumference is just a vanished fear. These new smoothies are the last word in easy comfort and expert design. Every one of the new models is made to fit without bulging, pinching, or anything but the newest idea of long torso streamlining. It's really the old princess line in the 1940 version.

Unbroken lines are achieved with expert cutting, with front and back panels of satin, side panels of comfortable lastex or similar models of satin lastex panels at the back combined with the side panels and front panel of satin or other material. The smartest things are the simply cut new girdles for the slim young figures, the girdles with matching bras—girdles of weather weight, but made so perfectly that they mold the figure without constriction, accent long, slim, young figures, and make the crisp, smart dresses, suits, and even spectator sport clothes fit as they should. This means that the 'teen ages and the subdebs have plenty of expertly designed underlayers, all modestly priced.

Most of the girdles have an extra width at the top; this height stays up and prevents any incipient bulge. No bones, long lines, a smooth sheath of satin and elastic are details that all combine to make figure control with supercomfort. Pastels and street shades offer the correct color harmonies for a wardrobe, models for active sports, for dancing and party wear and for daytime wear. All these new youthful models have surprisingly low price marks, all tub with but average care, and do wonders for the figure lines.

The Girl in the Shadows

By Roy Vickers

SYNOPSIS.

On the eve of her marriage Cynthia Brentiford, fashion artist, is sentenced to 18 months in prison under the name of Clara Brown, an innocent accomplice in crime with Rory Clarke. Unaware of the disaster her fiancé, Michael Alloway, is on his way from Malta for the wedding. At Honebyker, Cynthia's childhood playmate, Bessie Stockley, is a prison wardress. Bessie manages to change places with Cynthia and let Cynthia have her two weeks' leave as wardress and marry Michael. After the honeymoon, Cynthia persuades Michael to go back to Malta alone, pretending she has to have an operation and will join him later. Returning to prison, Cynthia discovers she is going to have a baby. Determined not to have her child born in prison, Cynthia escapes. In her flat she finds her sister-in-law, Marion, who has been worried by Cynthia's silence. Explaining everything as a lapse of memory, Cynthia goes to stay with Michael's people. Rory Clarke stalls her there and blackmails her, arousing Marion's suspicions. Anonymously Cynthia informs Scotland Yard where Rory Clarke can be captured. Clarke escapes, but the police trace Cynthia's phone call. Detective Stevens arrives to interview Cynthia. Marion pretends to be Cynthia and gains more basis for suspicions.

INSTALMENT XVI.

A WARNING.

Stevens closed his notebook. In his mind the official business was over.

"Well, we are trying to find some one who gave us some information about that time. But, of course, a box doesn't help much. People can get out of a car, use a box and be off again without any one seeing 'em. I'm sorry to have troubled you, Mrs Alloway, and thanks very much."

When the detective had gone, Marion went thoughtfully back to the kitchen. Jessie was agog with interest.

"Was that a plain-clothes detective, Miss?"

"Not really. At Scotland Yard all the clerks are called detectives," answered Marion glibly. "And it was only about Mrs. Michael's passport. She had taken a passport in her married name but had forgotten to give in the old one in her maiden name. And instead of writing they send a man all the way down from London."

That disposed of the servants. There remained the riddle that she was determined to solve. By the time Cynthia came down to lunch she had prepared a simple trap.

"Cynthia," she said with mock solemnity, "you owe the household accounts sixpence. Pay up, please."

"Do I?" laughed Cynthia, opening her bag. "Is it a fine for being down late or something?"

"When you made a trunk call at the box in Cloutleigh yesterday afternoon the operator asked you for sixpence too little."

Cynthia's soft lips twitched, a pulse thudded in her throat. Deliberately, Marion watched her lovely color fade. Then——

"Don't look so frightened, my dear. It's the old story. No Londoner ever realizes that in a scattered countryside like this everything you do is seen by somebody. You don't know the village postmaster—but he knows you. He saw you go into the box. And when inquiries were made, he remembered."

"In that case, I'd better pay up," laughed Cynthia. But it was a very shaky little laugh.

Marion salved her conscience by dropping the coin into the charity box. Her thoughts hammered on. The trunk call had been made by Cynthia. But it proved nothing. It left untouched the enormous barrier of Cynthia being at large and marrying Michael at a time when Clara Brown was in prison.

All the same, Marion decided to follow up a young solicitor named Brentiford, working in a firm of which one of the names was Stainham.

Cynthia felt no more than a passing twinge of ill-ease. It was annoying that Marion knew she had made a trunk call. But this was a mere pinprick. There was the bitter disappointment that Rory Clarke had escaped.

Again it did not occur to her that Rory Clarke might suspect her share in the incident. She settled herself to enjoy the moment—and it was very sweet. The physical comforts of the Manor, simple tho they were, seemed the height of luxury after Honebyker. If only Michael were here, too!

"I have to drive into Taunton this afternoon," announced Marion. "Would you care to come, Cynthia?"

"I think I'll stop at home and keep Mrs. Alloway company, if I may," said Cynthia.

"I shall be delighted," answered Mrs. Alloway. "But must you call me 'Mrs. Alloway'?"

"Not if you don't want me to—Mother," returned Cynthia and felt again that life was very good in spite of her grim secret.

Just as they were rising from lunch the telephone rang. Marion answered and a moment later came to Cynthia.

"A trunk call from London. It's for you, Cynthia."

Cynthia's heart missed a beat. The only person in London who knew she was at Cloutleigh was the porter of the flat and it was extremely unlikely that he would be ringing her.

"Mrs. Michael Alloway speaking."

"How are you, my dear?" came the voice of Rory Clarke.

This was horrible, for it was one of those earpieces thru which the voice can be heard by any one standing near enough. And Marion was at the back of the hall.

"I thought I'd just ring up to ask you something," continued Clarke. "Did you happen to speak of our business to any third party?"

"What an absurd question!" retorted Cynthia, struggling to keep her voice steady.

"I ask because when I arrived in town I was—er—called upon by the representative of a firm who seemed to know the nature of my business and my movements."

"Well, I don't know what you expect me to do about it." Cynthia felt that boldness was best.

"Nothing, my dear, nothing. I just thought that I would warn you, as your solicitor, that such a course of action could not serve your interests. In fact, it would certainly precipitate the very disaster you are most anxious to avoid. That is all I have to say. You will bear it in mind, won't you? Thanks, awfully!"

"Good-by," said Cynthia and banged down the receiver.

Marion was still hovering at the back of the hall. Had she heard, and if she had would Clarke's form of words mean anything to her?

At tea time came a caller in the person of Gen. Sir William Merrowbridge.

When the formal introductions were over, he treated Cynthia with marked geniality.

"I'm supposed to be on the bench this afternoon," he announced. "But I heard that Mrs. Michael was here and might not be staying long, and as I missed her last time I wasn't going to take any risks. I'm your husband's godfather, Mrs. Michael. Has he told you that?"

"Often, Sir William. He's told me how you taught him to ride when he was very little and how he only did it because he was more afraid of you than of the horse."

"Ah, that's just a little joke of his," said the general sadly. Cynthia had not realized that horses were a very serious subject to him. "He'd make a fine horseman if he'd only give his mind to it. No reason why a man shouldn't be a good horseman as well as a good engineer. You must talk to him seriously about that, my dear. I'm an old cavalry man, you know, and I'd like to see him keener. I'm attending the World Cavalry conference at Marseilles next week. Going to fly over there on Wednesday."

"How exciting!" exclaimed Cynthia. "I'd love to go in an aeroplane." And then, on sudden impulse: "Is it possible to fly to Malta? Or is it too late in the year?"

"I think there's a winter service. And you can go by Marseilles. Is there any chance of my having the pleasure of your company, Mrs. Michael?"

"Do you think you'll be strong enough, dear?" put in Mrs. Alloway.

"I feel perfectly well."

"Magnificent!" said the general. "I hope the seats aren't all taken. Let me use your telephone, Mrs. Alloway, and I'll make the reservations now."

"O, but Cynthia ought to think it over," protested Mrs. Alloway. "She mustn't take any risks."

Pattern for Lovely Blouses

WOMAN'S AND MISS' BLOUSES.

This one pattern creates at least two types of blouses. The duet is illustrated. Top, a fitted model with peplum effect. The collared neckline is V and has revers. Tiny buttons do honors down the front. Unusual silks make up well, and sleeves may be long or short.

Below, a shirt blouse with either short or long sleeves that makes up as well in stripes as it does in plain colors. The neckline may be buttoned high or left open in rever fashion. The pocket is optional. Silks and cottons make up equally well, and both are as "good" in the north as they are in the south.

Style No. 3180 is designed for sizes 12, 14 and 16, and 36, 38 and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 1⅞ yards of 39 inch material for short-sleeved, fitted blouse; 2 yards for long-sleeved shirt blouse.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

N. U. Course to Test Value of Movies in Town Hall Classes

A new educational technique, combining the use of documentary films and the town hall type of discussion, will be tested at Northwestern university during the second semester. Six programs will be presented by the university college in Thorne hall on the Chicago campus.

The six programs will be concerned with contemporary American problems, illustrated by films and utilizing as discussion leaders Dr. Irving J. Lee of the speech division and visiting experts. The programs will be open free to students enrolled in the college, and open on payment of a small fee to the general public.

Democracy and education, the first topic, will be discussed Feb. 21.

Gives a Beau the Air; Now She's Unhappy

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Dear Miss Blake: I told my boy friend I never wanted to see him again, and now when he hasn't called me on the telephone for over two weeks I'm so unhappy! I wish I could 'eat' my words. I meant them at the time, but now I'd give anything in the world to get 'X.' back. Can you tell me what to do? The reason I said I never wanted to see him again was because he criticized me all evening long for the way I wore my hair, the way I was dressed, and for other little things which also hurt my feelings. Honestly, I'm so miserable that I can't eat, sleep, or work well on my job.

"PINING AWAY."

Now see here, darling, are you going to "pine away" for a boy who doesn't know the first thing about women? If, by saying those "nasty" things to you his purpose was to make you angry at him so he'd have a good excuse for breaking away from you, you are well rid of him. Should he, on the other hand, be ashamed of himself for the way he talked to you, he will call you again when he has had time to gather together his courage for an apology.

In the meantime, while you are waiting to see if he might possibly realize that you were so hurt by his unkind remarks that you did not mean it when you said you never wanted to see him again, you should go out with other boys. Life is too short to sit at home brooding, when you could be out having a good time.

There was a time, perhaps, when women did such a foolish thing, but not in these days. Women have more freedom of thought and action. If there is no other man available to take "X.'s" place, you can have good times with your girl friends. You can go to the movies or the theater. You can get in touch with your old friends whom you may have neglected because "X." was seeing you frequently. And, you can make yourself so charming and attractive that you will be asked out by the first nice man you meet.

WHAT'S MOR! Something NEW for 1940

A dealer of my acquaintance says it is no uncommon thing for a woman to look over his display counter and wish audibly that "someone would invent a new meat." Well, that is about what the makers of Wilson's Tender Made Ham have just achieved for the housewives of America, in introducing MOR to the public. I have eaten MOR just as it comes from the tin and I have heated and cooked MOR. I am sure that you will find that the MOR you eat, the more you'll want.

George Recton

Food Consultant Wilson & Co.

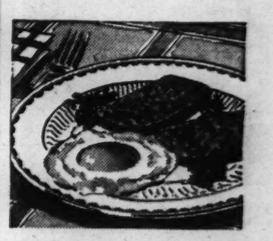
Introducing MOR

It is a new Wilson quality cooked pure pork-meat product made from selected pure pork cuts, perfectly seasoned and blended with choice spices.

MOR makes a meal. MOR can be heated like Tender Made Ham, sliced and fried, or combine it with other appetizing foods such as scrambled eggs, scalloped potatoes, or macaroni and cheese.

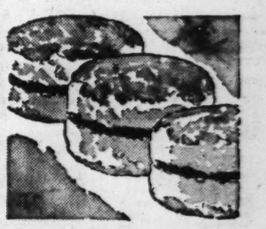
MOR is cooked and ready to eat. Serve chilled MOR sliced or in sandwiches or as appetizers. It's the meat everybody goes for!

You'll find MOR is economical, too. Every morsel edible—not one bit of waste in any tin of MOR. Just one large, whole piece of meat, ready to be used and served in a score of interesting ways.



CHILDREN LOVE MOR

They enjoy its appetizing flavor, smooth, tender texture and its satisfying quality. And MOR is good for them. It is pure pork-meat, already cooked. Let them eat all they want of it—at meal times and for those important in-between snacks that growing children need.



EVER EAT A MOR BISCUIT?

Here's how to make them: Make a biscuit dough from 2 cups of flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons Wilson's Certified Pure Lard and about ⅔ cup cold milk. Sift the dry ingredients together, cut in the lard, add milk and mix with a fork until the dough holds together. Roll out on a floured board to ¼-inch thickness. Cut with a 2-inch cutter. Cut out circles of sliced MOR with a 1¼-inch cutter. Place a circle between 2 rounds of dough, spreading the inside and top surfaces with melted Clear Brook butter. Bake at 450° F. for about 12 minutes. Serve at once.

THE FLEET'S IN!

For an amusing, quickly prepared appetizer, cut thin slices of MOR in triangles, for sails, and affix with a cocktail pick to half a hard-cooked or deviled egg.

STATE TRUCKERS BEGIN TESTS FOR SAFETY STICKERS

250,000 to Be Examined Under New Law.

Illinois truck operators began visiting official testing stations yesterday to have brakes, lights, and wheel alignment examined as required under the new Illinois truck act. In addition to passing the safety tests, truckers will be required to carry public liability and property damage insurance, or to provide assurance of financial liability.

The tests are being conducted under auspices of the new Illinois division of motor carriers, of which F. Wood Lewis is superintendent. Lewis estimated that 250,000 trucks will be tested by March 1, when the law becomes effective. Of these, 125,000 are in Cook county, and 85,000 in Chicago.

Yellow Stickers Issued.

Truck operators passing the tests will receive yellow stickers that must be pasted on the windshield.

Two types of testing stations have been established: class A, with equipment to test trucks of any size and weight, and class B, with equipment to test vehicles of 1½ tons capacity, or under.

Fifty privately operated testing stations in 36 counties have been approved, 14 of them in Cook county. The number will be increased to approximately 300, Lewis said. The motor carriers division, fearing that the approved stations will not be able to accommodate all trucks by March 1, has asked the Chicago public vehicle license commission for assistance.

Commissioner John A. Szumnarski said yesterday a plan probably would be worked out so that truckers might take their state tests in the 16 city testing lanes.

'For Hire' Provisions Made.

Truckers operating for hire may obtain licenses without examination before March 1, if they have been operating since July, Lewis said. "For hire" truckers applying after March 1 will have to submit affidavits from 25 shippers showing the need for such service.

Private truckers, such as farmers, may receive licenses without affidavits.

Truckers in the Chicago area may receive information on the new act at the new branch of the division of motor carriers, 10 North Clark street.

PROPOSAL TO BAR TOY GUN SALES WILL BE STUDIED

The city council judiciary committee will meet Monday to consider a proposal to prohibit the sale of toy pistols, Ald. H. L. Brody [39th], chairman, said yesterday. Brody said Police Commissioner Allman has been asked to advise the committee at the meeting and that it would hear any others interested in stopping the sale of such toy guns to children.

The proposal originally was submitted to the council early last year. It was referred back to Brody's committee when several aldermen said such a measure would make criminals out of children buying toy pistols filled with candy.

Chicagoans Seek $10,800 Damages for Car Crash

Fond du Lac, Wis., Jan. 24 [Special].—Damages of $10,800 are sought by Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Rinn of Chicago from Arnold J. Vetter of route 1, Mount Calvary, in a suit filed today in Circuit court. Mrs. Rinn seeks $10,000 for personal injuries and $300 for damages to her car alleged to have been caused last July 1 when a car driven by Vetter collided with the Rinn vehicle here. Rinn, a jeweler, asks $500 for medical expenses.

FOUR ARE HURT WHEN AUTO HITS FREIGHT ENGINE

Four persons were injured, one seriously, last night when their automobile crashed into a North Shore freight engine at County Line road in Highland Park. There are no gates or warning signals at the crossing.

The injured, taken to the Highland Park hospital, are Mrs. Myrtle Wagner, 41 years old, 2110 Walters avenue, Northbrook; her husband, Edward, 42, driver of the car; James Rogers, 19, her son by a previous marriage, and Warren Klug, 19, of 2206 Walters avenue.

Wagner said he waited for a train to pass on the North Western railroad tracks, east of the North Shore tracks, and then started across, unaware of the approaching freight train.

Ludwig Komarek, 67, a machinist, who formerly lived at 2432 Ridgeway avenue, was killed last night when he was struck by an automobile at Pulaski road and Cullerton street. The driver was Arthur Wiemeler, 1712 West 89th street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 62 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 46 were killed in Chicago, where 1,493 were injured in the same period.

Screen Quiz Game Is Held Lottery; Police to Halt It

Police Commissioner Allman was informed yesterday by Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes that "Screen Quiz," a question and answer game played by movie patrons for a $25 prize, is a lottery and illegal. Allman asked for the opinion when Capt. Patrick O'Connell of Town Hall station told him the game was played at the Essex theater at 717 Sheridan road. Allmann said the game will be stopped.

SENTENCE TIPSY DRIVER TO JAIL; FINE BALKY ONE

Henry Geffe, 1927 Barry avenue, was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail yesterday by Judge Frank Donoghue in Safety court for driving while intoxicated. His car sidewiped another Jan. 15 in front of 6110 Irving Park road and then ran over the sidewalk.

Frank Campion, 4900 Blackstone avenue, was fined $50 on a charge of resisting a policeman, but was discharged on complaints of driving while intoxicated and driving over a fire hose. Police said he drove thru police lines at a fire Jan. 3 at Armour street and Chicago avenue.

BARE MYSTERY MAN'S HOLDINGS IN 64 CONCERNS

The inventory of the $2,170,118 estate of George Firmenich, retired cereal manufacturer, showed yesterday that he had a wide variety of investments. Firmenich, who was 83 years old, died last March in his home at 3149 Michigan avenue. His wealth was not brought to light until the state inheritance tax appraiser filed the inventory in County court on Tuesday.

He owned stock in 64 companies. The largest of these holdings were 1,275 shares of National Biscuit company stock valued at $209,100, Commonwealth Edison company stock valued at $95,284, and stock in the Corn Products Refining Company of New Jersey valued at $55,080. The inventory also lists United States treasury bonds totaling $214,668, bonds in 38 industries aggregating $540,000, and bank deposits totaling $162,488.

Firmenich was a bachelor, and the bulk of his estate was bequeathed to a sister, Mrs. Emma F. Hull of Los Angeles. On her death, the estate will go to the Chicago Community trust, a charitable trust agency at 10 South La Salle street.

OUR NATION'S DEFENSE RESTS IN THE HEARTS OF ITS MEN, VETS TOLD

National defense rests in the hearts of American men, not in guns or ships, J. Monroe Johnson, assistant secretary of commerce, asserted last night. He spoke at a reunion of the Illinois chapter of the Rainbow Division Veterans in the Hotel Sherman.

Col. J. M. Johnson.

The meeting was largely given over to eulogy of Father Francis Duffy, famous Catholic priest and division chaplain, who died in 1932. A welcome address from Mayor Kelly was delivered by Circuit Judge Cornelius J. Harrington.

The veterans also were given a preview of the new motion picture, "The Fighting 69th." The 69th infantry of the New York National Guard, "the fighting Irish," became the 165th infantry of the Rainbow division, which was backed up by the 149th field artillery, largely composed of boys from Chicago.

DOCTOR WARNS OF POISON PERIL IN COLD TABLETS

The dangers of self-medication thru the use of "cold cure" tablets containing a chemical combination of cinchophen and guaiacol are emphasized by Dr. Cyril R. MacBryde of St. Louis in an article in the current Journal of the American Medical Association.

Cinchophen is a coal tar drug, derived from benzol, a distillate of coal, and is used frequently to relieve pain in gout, arthritis, or rheumatism. Guaiacol is obtained from beechwood creosote, and is used for a number of different diseases.

Dr. MacBryde cites reports of poisoning from cinchophen in which the death rate ranged from 43.6 to 46.8 per cent of those poisoned. Yet in 1931, he says, 90,000 pounds of cinchophen were consumed in the United States. He refers to one physician who reported that 32 drugs in common use contained cinchophen.

The tablets most frequently attack the liver, Dr. MacBryde says. He cites the serious illness of a mother and the death of her son as the result of severe liver damage from the use of cold capsules.

ARMSTRONG STOPS MONTANEZ; RETAINS TITLE

And Boston Aims for 14th Straight.

Games Tonight

New York Americans at Montreal.
Toronto at New York Rangers.
Boston at Chicago.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Blackhawks feel they just must do something about the Boston Bruins, and that tonight's the night. Thirteen straight times, beginning with the last game in the 1937-'38 season, the present possessors of the Stanley cup have slapped down the Hawks. That last game in 1937-'38, all eight last season, and all four this season. That makes 13, which would seem to be about enough in a row for the time being.

Bobby Carse.

If the Hawks play in the Stadium tonight with the verve and luck they displayed in stopping the New York Rangers Jan. 14, after a world record streak in the National league, they have a chance to halt the Bruins in their wanton behavior toward the Hawks. If the Hawks play as they did last Sunday night in taking a licking from the New York Americans, the score may mount to something like 15 or 20 to 0, to give the Bruins their 14th straight over Chicago.

May Strike Happy Medium.

As a matter of fair calculation, however, it is probable that the Hawks will be neither as good as they were against the Rangers, nor as terrible as they were while on the ice with the Americans the other night.

A rather striking feature of play involving the Hawks, Rangers, and Bruins is found in the fact that the Hawks have handed the Rangers two of their four defeats this season. The New Yorkers have been able to beat the Bruins in eight of the last nine meetings of the teams, the one Boston victory coming last season.

While all hockey fans were focusing on the recent streak of 19 Ranger games without a defeat, the world record streak halted by the Hawks, the Bruins were hanging on, winning all of their games except their meetings with the Rangers.

Bruins May Tie for Lead.

As a consequence the champions tonight will go into a tie for first place in the National league if they beat the Hawks and the Toronto Leafs take the Rangers. And this hanging-on has been done thru a scourge of injuries involving such stars as Roy Conacher, the league's leading scorer last season; Mel Hill, who scored the winning goals in three of the Bruins' Stanley cup success last spring; Jack Crawford and Capt. Dit Clapper. Capt. Clapper probably will not play tonight. He busted a thumb in the Ranger game Jan. 22.

Two of the Boston players who will appear against the Hawks this season, Milt Schmidt and Herb Cain, have been sizzling hot this winter. Schmidt on Tuesday night took over the rôle of the league's leading scorer and on Jan. 11 Cain established a season record by scoring four goals against the Leafs on their home ice.

Two Rookies to Make Debuts.

Manager Paul Thompson of the Hawks yesterday continued his preparations to unveil two more rookies—John Chad and Bobby Carse—tonight. They will play on a line with Les Cunningham. The starting line will be composed of Bill Carse, George Allen, and Mush March and a third line will be made up of Doug Bentley, Cully Dahlstrom, and Phil Hergesheimer.

Goalie Frank Brimsek will be in the nets for the Bruins. He has never seen the Hawks win a hockey game. The last Hawk victory over the Bruins was a 3 to 2 affair here on March 3, 1938, and Frankie did not join up until that start of the 1938-'39 season.

Paul Goodman, severely injured in the game last Sunday night, has assured Manager Thompson that his vision has not been impaired by the accident which made it necessary to take seven stitches in the lid of his right eye.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

EIGHT HUNDRED young men have been invited to answer the call to arms tomorrow night. . . . They comprise the first group that will show up for physical examinations, which mark the beginning of another Golden Gloves tournament. . . . It's an old story to this department, but it never loses its appeal. . . . It's thrilling to observe the virility, the ambition, the determination of Young Chicago as it attempts to pass inspection for the greatest test sport provides. . . . It is gratifying to know these men aren't going to march away to a war from which many never would return. . . . They are marching in the direction of Chicago Stadium and Madison Square Garden, where later in the winter thousands of spectators will prove that America still admires young warriors equipped with boxing gloves rather than men carrying bayonets and wearing highly polished boots. . . . The examinations for Golden Gloves are conducted with great thoroness. . . . The slightest irregularity or abnormality is grounds for disqualification from the tournament. . . . Only those physically sound are permitted to enter. . . .

Every contestant is hopeful that he will be numbered among the finalists March 6. . . . But before this happy ending there is plenty of work for every one. . . . This may be a good time to warn entrants who want to make the Chicago team which will fight New York's champions in Madison Square Garden, March 18, against overtraining. . . . Light exercises are all they need at present. . . . They can afford to come to the examination carrying a few pounds of surplus suet. . . . Boys underweight have nothing to work off and no time to build up. . . . Golden Gloves is a tournament in which contestants fight their way into shape. . . . It is more important to get plenty of sleep and rest at this stage than it is to spend hours in a gymnasium. . . . New York hasn't whipped our Chicago champions since 1934 and they are pretty sore. . . . They'll be set to knock our ears off this time, so we've got to be ready. . . . That's why we want every one in condition. . . . After we whip New York the champions of Europe will be in our path. . . . It's a long pull from the physical examination tomorrow night until the international bouts in April, but we can make it if we work together.

Journey's End.

It isn't death we fear—
It's parting with the old and well loved faces;
It isn't death we dread—it's separation;
That going away from old familiar places;
We do not dread the coming of the night,
For with the rich bright luster of the moon
It yields much beauty, too; the thing we miss
Is just the friendly world at sun-drenched noon.
Nothing that is natural should be feared;
We did not dread the day when we were born,
And, after all, what is death but sleep,
Deep, untroubled, dreamless as the morn?
I think that when the moment comes for each
To cross the border of that last long mile,
All fear is gone, we bravely step across,

DETROIT TO OPEN GOLDEN GLOVES WARS MONDAY

962 Seek Eight Titles in 15 Night Program.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Detroit's eighth annual Golden Gloves tournament, sponsored by the Detroit Free Press and starting Monday night, will require 15 nights of battling before the eight champions are selected to compete in Chicago's Tournament of Champions in the Stadium, Feb. 26, 27, and 28. Detroit has an entry of 962 boxers.

Detroit probably has been more widely publicized nationally than any other of the 45 cities which this year will send their champions to Chicago. Some cities, notably Davenport, Cleveland, South Bend, Milwaukee, and Gary, have been associated in the Tournament of Champions for a longer period.

Other cities such as Cleveland, whose tournament will start tonight; Memphis, Nashville, Fort Worth, Minneapolis, and Kansas City, have made tremendous progress in recent years. But Detroit, home of Joe Louis when he began fighting as an amateur, is remembered for that reason even as Chicago's Golden Gloves tournament is associated with the development of Barney Ross, former lightweight and welterweight champion of the world.

Chicago Stars Are Little Men.

Louis won the 1934 Tournament of Champions, light heavyweight title. He then won the National A. A. U. 175 pound championship in St. Louis, made his professional debut in Chicago in 1934, and Chicago has been his home since his marriage.

Chicago's amateur boxers have made their best records in the Tournament of Champions in the bantamweight and welterweight divisions. Johnny Brown and Frank Kainrath, for instance, held the 118 pound title for four years from 1935 to 1938, inclusive, Johnny Phagan, Chester Rutecki, Verne Patterson, and Jimmy O'Malley have been outstanding Chicago welterweights. Detroit, at various times, has developed champions in five weight classes, and of these has done best in the 112 pound class. Patsy Urso, Jimmy Urso, and the 1939 champion, Vic Saccoia, came from Detroit. Saccoia, incidentally, is defending his Detroit title and if successful, you will see him in the Stadium Feb. 26.

Detroit Has Big Program.

Other Detroit boxers who are favorites in this year's tournament are Jimmy Edgar, 147 pounds, and Joe Tison, heavyweight. Lorenzo Pack, in 1935, was the last Detroit boy to win the heavyweight title in the Tournament of Champions. Al Nettlow, 1934 featherweight champion; Edward Kozole, 1937 lightweight champion; Dave Clark, 1935, and Milton Shivers, 1936, welterweight champions, are other Detroit winners in Chicago.

Detroit's Golden Gloves candidates fight in four sections of the city next week, finishing Friday in the Naval armory. Detroit's 15 night program exceeds the number of shows in Chicago. There are three Chicago sec-

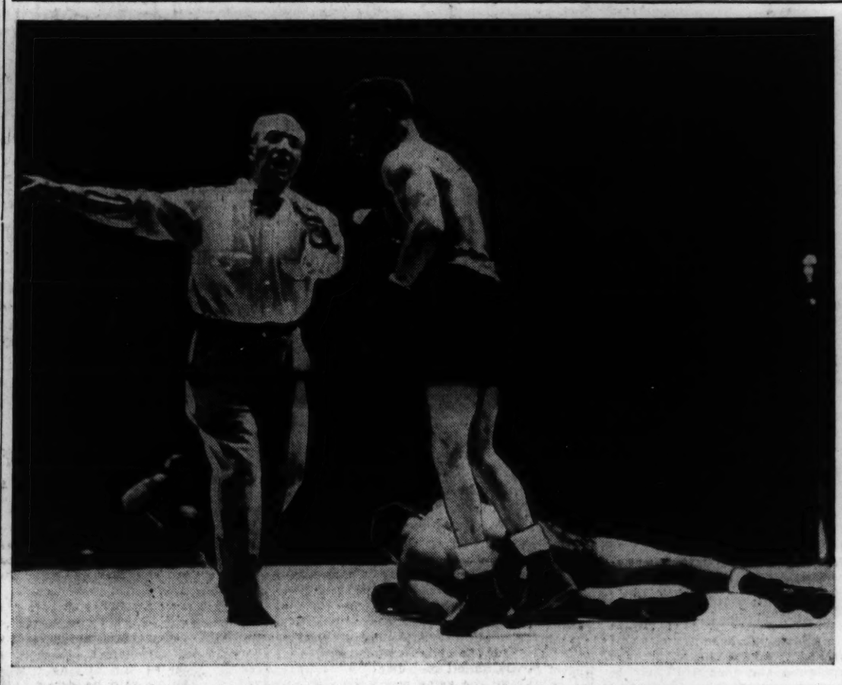
A Champion's Answer to Fifteenth Challenge



Welterweight Champion Henry Armstrong starts for a neutral corner in response to Referee Billy Cavanaugh's command after scoring one of his three knockdowns over Pedro Montanez last night in Madison Square Garden. Armstrong won on a technical knockout in the ninth round. This was the fifteenth time he had successfully defended his 147 pound title. [Associated Press Wirephoto.]

USE YOUR DOGS OR GO TO 'EM, SAYS GOLF PRO

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24 [Special].—"The country will go to the dogs if it doesn't exercise its dogs."

Such is the wording of a sign which will greet members of the Kenwood Golf and Country club here when they enter their clubhouse. Its author and designer is George Diffenbaugh, the club pro, a little man with a big swing and a lot of ideas about the value of golf as a means of national fitness.

"If it were not for golf," Diffenbaugh told an audience at the club today, "the American city dweller, and a lot of his friends who live in the country, wouldn't get any exercise. I think golf is the game that will save the United States from becoming soft."

Diffenbaugh doesn't anticipate any immediate invasion of the country, but he said if we did have one golfers would be among the few Americans in shape. He asked his listeners to look at Finland.

"Skiing and skating are saving the Finns," he said. "There is a nation that's fit and exercise has done it. Nowadays the car has taken the place of our legs. We use our legs only to get to and from our automobiles. Your wife asks you to go to the grocery store, and what do you do? You jump in your car or grab the telephone."

This general refusal to walk bothered Diffenbaugh so much that he recently took an informal poll among the members of the Kenwood club.

"Only one man," he said, "walked to work. A generation ago half of them would have been walking, and a generation before that 90 per cent."

PITTSBURGH MAY FILL MICHIGAN'S OPEN DATE, NOV. 2

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 24 (AP).—Pittsburgh rates high on the list of potential foes for Michigan's 1940 open date in football, but the Wolverines still are keeping their plans secret.

Officials warded off questions tonight on Pittsburgh's reported selection with the remark that the Panthers have been and are under serious consideration. The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph said Pitt has scheduled Michigan for 1940.

The fact that both Pitt and Michigan have the same open date—Nov. 2—makes the Panthers a favored selection. A decision may be made by the end of this week, officials said. They said a number of teams remain under consideration.

Chicago's Fighting Men

Bantamweights Made Little Impression on Scales, but Plenty on Their Foes

[Chicagoland's greatest all-time fighters? This is the second of a series that will attempt to answer the question, tracing the topnotchers of the gay '90s down to the present time and recalling some of the famous battles in the city's ring history.]

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Down thru the years in the exciting fistic history of Chicago, the bantamweights have been in the forefront, providing thrills equal to those of their bigger, harder-hitting colleagues. Four of the 10 world champions produced in this area were bantamweights. Tragedy marred the careers of the first and last to head the division.

After Jimmy Barry knocked out Casper Leon in Lemont, Ill., he was recognized as the American champion, but his claim to world supremacy was challenged by Walter Croot, an Englishman. In those days—1894—world championships were not settled merely by Americans on American soil. England always had its pretenders.

Croot's Death Makes It an Empty Victory for Barry.

Barry, confident he could beat any man in the world at his weight, decided to invade England and risk fighting under English rules. More than three years after he conquered Leon, Barry met Croot in London. The date was Dec. 6, 1897.

Croot sank to the floor in the 20th round and was counted out. Barry had won the title, but it caused no demonstration of joy on his part. His opponent died. The Chicagoan was exonerated, returned home, and retired in 1899, undefeated overlord of his class. Barry has been ill in a Chicago hospital since 1938.

Two years after Barry quit, Harry Forbes, another Chicagoan, won recognition as champion when Terry McGovern vacated the title. McGovern had claimed the bantamweight title when Barry retired. A year later McGovern entered the featherweight class.

Just before the turn of the century, Forbes was the idol of Chicago fans. He was a master of scientific boxing and carried a hard punch. All of a sudden a young Italian with a windmill style made a meteoric rise, knocking out one opponent after another. He was Benny Yanger, called the Tipton Slasher by Paddy Carroll, a referee of that period.

Yanger graduated from Tattersall's semi-windup ranks by knocking out Jack Madden, a Brooklyn importation. Fans started clamoring for a showdown between Forbes, the boxing master, and Yanger, the terrific puncher. Several thousand spectators were in the South Dearborn street arena when the two squared off the night of March 17, 1900. Forbes was a 3 to 1 favorite. Few gave Yanger a chance.

Johnny Coulon. Benny Yanger.

Yanger Has His Troubles, but So Does Forbes in End.

For two rounds Forbes made his opponent look like a novice. Then, in the third, Benny started to connect with his short, powerful punches. He kept it up and at the end of the fourth had evened the contest with tigerish thrusts that broke thru his foe's superb defense. In the fifth, a short punch to the chin sent Forbes down for the full count. Yanger, exhausted from his own efforts, leaned on the ropes as Referee George Siler finished the count.

Yanger never won the title, but he continued to supply thrills at Tattersall's. Now the cry went up for some one to take his measure. Two south side gamblers approached Lou Houseman, Tattersall's matchmaker, and dumped $5,000 in gold and currency on his desk to wager they could furnish an opponent to beat Yanger. The money was covered by Benny's downtown backers. Thousands more were bet before it was learned that the mystery opponent was Tommy Mowatt, called the Fighting Conductor. Between his run on the Cottage Grove line he engaged in private fights and backroom saloon contests. He was a rough and ready fighter who never had been

Fight Decisions

At New York—Henry Armstrong stopped Pedro Montanez [9]; Frankie Wallace and Carmine Fatta drew [6]; Lenny Mancini and Marty Servo drew [6]; Frankie Terry beat Frankie Cavanna [6]; Art Dorelli and Al Fiora drew [4].

New York, Jan. 24 [Special].—Henry Armstrong successfully defended his world welterweight title tonight in Madison Square Garden for the 15th time since he won it from Barney Ross in May, 1938. He scored a technical knockout over stout hearted Pedro Montanez of Puerto Rico in the ninth round of what was to have been a 15 round fight.

Nineteen thousand one hundred fifty-seven noisy fans attended, paying $59,575. It was the largest crowd in the Garden since Joe Louis defended his heavyweight title there last winter. Jeering the champion at times, yelling encouragement at the sporadic counter-offensives of Montanez, whose effectiveness waned after the second round, the spectators enjoyed a primitive struggle until the intervention of Referee Billy Cavanaugh after 47 seconds of the ninth.

Scores Three Knockdowns.

Before Cavanaugh stopped it the crowd had seen Montanez on the floor for the first time in his career—not once, but three times. The noisy gathering saw the same Montanez, fighting a losing battle almost from the outset, rally courageously in the face of a deadly, relentless succession of punches.

Montanez had his second chance at a title and failed, but he failed without being disgraced. It appeared no man near Armstrong's inches, or poundage, could have survived the fire of blows the little Californian unleashed tonight.

Thru the first and second rounds Montanez thrilled the crowd by standing up to fight shoulder to shoulder and head to head with a compact little bundle of fighting fury. Undismayed by Armstrong's blows, he countered solidly with left hooks to the body and right uppercuts to the face. At times these blows sent Armstrong back on his heels.

Crowd Likes Challenger.

The crowd yelled approval to the challenger, who entered the ring the underdog in the betting, which at ring time made Armstrong the favorite at 5 and 6 to 1. But Montanez's sharp and forceful blows failed to slow up Armstrong.

Whether shaken by a blow or caught off balance, Armstrong always charged back on the attack, battering tirelessly with both hands, gradually wearing Montanez down to the point of weary exhaustion.

Montanez Shows Courage.

But Montanez rallied surprisingly. He threw aside all caution and slugged. This was a brave gesture, but a costly mistake. Armstrong beat a tattoo on that injured left eye until the bleeding became so severe that Lew Burston, Montanez's manager, tried to persuade the challenger not to answer the bell for the eighth round.

"Me not yellow; me fight on," protested Montanez, as he was assisted off his stool and pushed toward the champion, who welcomed his foe's advance.

Referee Stops Bout.

Montanez won only the second round when Armstrong essayed a long-range battle and missed many blows. From the third round to the finish Armstrong was the boss.

Pirates Receive Signed Contract from John Rizzo

Champion Appears Off Form in Drills.

"I seldom make a prediction when one of my boxers is a principal in a contest, but I'll stake my reputation on a guess that Tony Zale will beat Al Hostak, probably by a knockout."

Zale went four rounds against two sparmates in impressive fashion, while Champion Hostak appeared below form, also against two partners.

Hostak Is Off Form.

Hostak, who flashed considerable skill prior to postponement of the match, occasioned by Zale's illness, has not showed to advantage since he resumed boxing last week. Nate Druxman, Seattle, Wash., promoter, who has an option on the champion's services, fears Hostak may be overtrained. The encounter originally was set for last Friday.

"The next time Al fights in this town we'll bring along our own sparring partners," he moaned.

Nate Is Apprehensive.

Druxman, who says he is only a friend and not Hostak's adviser, is displaying concern over whether the Illinois boxing commission will recognize Zale as the new champion if Tony wins Monday.

On Tuesday in the presence of Joe Triner, commission chairman; James R. Fitzpatrick, a member of the board, and a reporter, Druxman delivered quite a monologue.

"I know," he said, "this commission won't do what the New York board did when Freddy Steele [then middleweight champion] lost on a technical knockout to Fred Apostoli in the Garden in 1938. In spite of the fact that the bout was an overweight engagement New York gave Apostoli championship recognition. I know this commission is too honorable and fair to recognize Zale as champion if he gets lucky and beats Al."

Clarence Brown, Chicago heavyweight, has asked to be excused from going thru with a scheduled 10 round bout against Arne Anderson of St. Paul in Omaha tomorrow because of a back injury. . . . Milt Aron, foremost welterweight challenger, yesterday opened training in Trafton's gymnasium for a 10 round contest with Bep Van Klaveren in the Coliseum Feb. 8.

The Inland Steel amateur boxing team from East Chicago, Ind., will appear in a series of contests in the Madison Athletic club tomorrow against a Chicago delegation. Walter Schramm, Inland Steel heavyweight, will oppose Clayton World of the south side in a five round event. Additional members of the visiting squad include Eddie Polk, light heavyweight; Al Calpalby, middleweight; Vernie Alvarez, lightweight, and Jack Ida, bantamweight. . . . Davey Day, claimant of the No. 1 lightweight contendership by virtue of a 12 round decision scored over Sammy Angott last Dec. 8, is ready to meet the survivor of an elimination tournament recently recommended by the New York athletic board to find a challenger for a match with Champion Lou Ambers in March. The commission has asked Day to participate in the tournament, but Sam Pian, the Chicago boxer's manager, countered with an offer to meet the winner of the meet. The first round of the tourney will be held in Madison Square Garden Feb. 2. Matches of 10 rounds bring together Pete Lello and Angott, and Billy Marquart and Tony Marteliano. F. M.

SEABISCUIT IS SCRATCHED DUE TO WET TRACK

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 24 (AP)—Santa Anita race track was too slippery today for Seabiscuit, so Owner Charles S. Howard again delayed his big money winner's comeback test.

Scheduled to run in the fourth race today in his first start since last winter when he lost to Today, Seabiscuit took a gallop this morning with Red Pollard up. Trainer Tom Smith said the track was too sloppy to take a chance.

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS.

Akron Firestones, 59; Sheboygan, 38.
Detroit, 42; Indianapolis, 39.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Chicago Bruins last night trailed the Hammond Ciesars, 10 to 0, at the end of the first quarter of their National Basketball league battle in the 132d armory. The Bruins didn't make a point until after 11 minutes and 35 seconds of play. The Ciesars led at the half, 20 to 12, and at the third period, 29 to 22. But the final score, in spite of all this seemingly hopeless cause, was:

Bruins, 33; Hammond, 31.

It was Mike Novak's long shot from past mid-floor and almost on the sideline that climaxed the Chicagoans' most stirring triumph of the year. With five seconds to go, the ball spun into the basket, climbed partly out, and dropped thru.

Move to Second Place.

The victory was not only satisfying as a thriller, but as a means of boosting the Bruins to second place in the Western division of the league, with 8 won and 7 lost. Next Wednesday the Bruins meet Oshkosh, Western division leaders, at the Armory.

The Bruins' marksmanship in the first period was bad, as revealed by their total of nary for that stretch. The Ciesars, on the other hand, made good on their first three shots from the field, Glenn Downey, Jim Currie and Pim Goff all connecting for baskets. Then Goff added a free throw to make it 7 to 0 before the customers settled back.

With four minutes of the half to go, Bob Neu of Hammond, former De Paul star, and Wibs Kautz of the Bruins went to no-decision in a rassling match along the sidelines. This seemed to rouse the Bruins and they came from a 19 to 4 deficit to the half time score of 20 to 12.

Kautz Ties Score.

In the third period, the Bruins drew up to 23 to 20, Elmer Johnson making good on two free throws after the ball rested on the bracket on his attempted basket. The Ciesars, paced by Currie's expert ball handling, broke away for a 31 to 23 lead early in the final period. Kautz contributed a basket and free throw, Eddie Oram a followup shot, and Novak a free throw. With a minute to go, Kautz tied the score, 31 to 31, on a fast break, and then came Novak's prodigious toss.

Kautz and Goff led their teams in scoring, each with five field goals and a free throw. Novak, who was rather convincingly handcuffed by Vince McGowan of the Ciesars until the latter retired, finally emerged with three baskets and four free throws.

Marshall and Crane Juniors Win; Unbeaten

Four teams, two junior and two senior, kept their records clean in the Chicago Public High School Basketball league race yesterday.

In the junior circuit, Crane and Marshall each won their fifth straight in the west section. Crane turned back McKinley, 35 to 28, and Marshall triumphed, 45 to 27, over Austin on the latter's court.

Phillips Beats Tilden.

Phillips moved into a tie for first place with Lindblom in the central section senior race by beating Tilden, 24 to 22, for its fourth consecutive victory.

The Klein twins, Pete and Jack, playing their last game for Waller led the north section senior team to its fifth straight. The eight semester ruling has ended the prep careers of the twins. Pete made 11 baskets, Jack eight baskets and two free throws.

Rough Riders Win Two.

Roosevelt ran up the highest scores of the day in both junior and senior divisions. In the junior circuit the Rough Riders trimmed Taft, 68 to 28, and the seniors won 70 to 14, over Taft. Jack Needham, senior forward made a new mark of 34 points, 15 field goals, and four free throws.

WALKER TO QUIT NEXT JUNE AS WHEATON COACH

Fred Walker, football, basketball, and baseball coach at Wheaton college for four years, last night said he would resign, effective in June. "I will not be back for the fall term," Walker declared.

He added that recent developments at the school and his desire to devote more time to his security business were the reasons for his decision.

On Monday Dr. James Oliver Buswell Jr. was ousted as president by the board of trustees and Dr. V. R. Edman was named his successor.

Walker made no secret of the fact he was a close friend of Dr. Buswell, but made no comment on the change of presidents.

Walker is 55 years old. A graduate of the University of Chicago and a half back on the Maroon's 1905 championship eleven, he came to Wheaton in 1936. He began coaching in 1907 as athletic director of the Utah Aggies. Other schools where he has held coaching positions include Mississippi, Michigan State, Williams, University of Texas, Loyola of New Orleans, and the University of Chicago. He also coached for a time at Morton High of Cicero.

Walker said he had not yet filed a formal letter of resignation.

PICK DRAKE MAN FOR TRACK JOB AT STANFORD U.

Palo Alto, Cal., Jan 24 (AP).—Appointment of Franklin Johnson of Drake university as track coach at Stanford university was recommended to President Ray Lyman Wilbur tonight by the Stanford board of athletic control. The appointment would become effective next fall, in time for Johnson to train Stanford athletes for the 1941 season.

Johnson, 39, has been at Drake since 1928 and has directed the Drake relays. He would succeed William Ellington, appointed last spring for one year after Robert Lyman [Dink] Templeton took a leave of absence.

Johnson was graduated in 1924 from Illinois, and the same year was a member of the United States Olympic team, competing in the high hurdles. He returned to Illinois after the games and served as assistant track coach until 1928. Since 1933 he has been an officer of the College Track Coaches' association, and recently was renamed a member of the track and field rules committee of the N. C. A. A. for a new four year term.

Lost Hunter Trespasses; Is Forgiven

BY BOB BECKER.

How a deer hunter from Ohio, lost in the woods and lake country near Land O'Lakes, Wis., obtained shelter, warmth, and food by forcibly entering a summer lodge owned by a Chicagoland sportsman, is one of the amusing sidelights of the recent deer season which has just come to light.

The cabin which was entered by A. P. Rothenburger of Montpelier, O., the deer hunter, is owned by Ralph Davis of Geneva, Ill. The first word that Davis received on how his cabin had helped a hunter out of a tough situation was when Rothenburger wrote that he wanted to pay for the broken glass in one of the doors and also for the food he had eaten.

A Conscience Speaks.

After telling how he was lost, tired and hungry just before dark [temperature 17 degrees], Rothenburger writes:

"I found myself just across the channel from your lodge late in the afternoon. I couldn't cross the thin ice there so I walked all the way around the lake [Lindsey] to your place. On the walk I shot a porcupine with my last rifle cartridge.

"Your doors and windows were too securely locked so I cut a slit in the screen door, unhooked it, and then broke the glass in the door leading into the bedroom.

What, No Lard.

"I then built a fire in the fireplace. Being terribly tired and hungry I scouted for food at once and helped myself to your cocoa and pancake flour, baked some pancakes in the fireplace by using the porcupine grease, took a couple of mattresses off the single beds and slept in front of the fireplace until morning.

"Then I swept up the broken glass, boarded up the opening in the door where I broke the glass, placed the mattresses back on the beds, washed the skillet and prepared to leave. I took the sectional maps on the wall of your lodge. By using these and my compass I reached the end of the Thousand Island trail by 10 o'clock that morning.

"Now I want to pay for the glass that I broke, and for the food, and I also want to tell you how grateful I am for the use of your place."

This interesting episode of the north country closes with Davis' reply to the Ohio hunter. He wrote Rothenburger as follows:

"Forget the glass. The cost is not worth the effort of writing a check. I regret that we didn't have more comforts available to you. Next year we'll keep you in mind and leave some blankets handy, a few candles within reach, and we'll certainly leave some grease for you, so you won't have to use porcupine fat."

Lawrenceville, N. J., Jan. 24 [Special].—Lawrenceville academy's basketball team ran its two year victory streak of 20 games and its season's record to eight straight here today by defeating the Princeton freshmen, 34 to 30.

Dog Gone! Prize Schnauzer Gets Tired of Crate

Perhaps it was the desire to get into warmer climes after reading the weather man's report that another cold wave was on its way toward the middle west. At any rate, Ziggle Lustucru, a handsome 1 year old male schnauzer dog owned by Mrs. Myrtle Cooper of Evanston, was being sought last by police, railroad detectives, and the Anti-Cruelty society.

Ziggle Lustucru, winner of the midwest standard schnauzer contest in the Western Specialty club's show last November, escaped from his crate in the Rock Island freight yards yesterday morning. He was to have been shipped to Cleveland, and groomed by Billy Lang, professional handler, for the Madison Square Garden show in New York next month. Ziggle Lustucru's departure was scheduled for 11:40 o'clock yesterday morning. Mrs. Cooper arrived at the yards at 11 o'clock and discovered the broken crate.

CHICAGO RUGBY CLUB SEEKS 3 EASTERN FOES

Plans to bring three of the leading Eastern university rugby teams to Chicago for games with the Chicago Rugby football club this spring were announced at a meeting in the Hotel La Salle yesterday. The squads which may appear in Chicago are Yale, Harvard, and Princeton.

Officials of the Chicago organization have been assured that Yale will accept the invitation to play here, probably on May 1, to open the series with the eastern clubs. Definite announcements regarding the acceptance of Harvard and Princeton are expected to be made within a few weeks.

Three members of the Chicago schedule committee are graduates of the three eastern schools. They are Bob Childs of Yale, Vic Harding of Harvard, and Peter Fortune of Princeton. Others who attended yesterday's session are Alec Crawford, Hamil Reidy, and Chuck Kingston.

Women's Golf Dates Set for Chicago Area

The 1940 major tournament schedule of the Chicago Women's District Golf association was announced yesterday by the organization's executive committee. The only work necessary to complete the entire schedule is the allotment of sectional and intradistrict matches.

The association's annual tournament will be held at Northmoor, July 22-27. The schedule will open with the state championship event, beginning June 17 at the Aurora Country club. Both of these titles are now held by Ellamae Williams of Medinah, who, in addition to winning these two, also finished runner-up in the women's western closed tourney.

The pro-ladies tournament conducted by the C. W. D. G. A. and the Illinois section of the P. G. A. is scheduled for Aug. 12 at Glen Oak. The Champion of Champions tournament will be held at Knollwood on Aug. 26, and the season finale, including election of 1941 officers, will be conducted at Olympia Fields on Aug. 30.

Mrs. A. D. Collins of North Shore, president of the association, yesterday also announced the retirement of Mrs. A. D. Herrmann of Sunset Ridge as secretary and the appointment of Mrs. Landon L. Phelps of Midlothian to fill the vacancy.

Sam Snead Ready to Start Winter Tourney Circuit

Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 24 (AP).—The professional golfing brigade now on the annual treasure hunt in California had better make the most of current opportunities because Sammy Snead is getting ready to resume shooting for his cut.

Thrown off his stride by illness, Snead started a comeback by winning the Miami open last month, but again had to drop out of the big time circuit because of his health.

Snead has had more teeth pulled since then and thinks he is about ready to swing back into competition—probably within the next two weeks.

"I'm just getting started again," Snead said. "The doctor wouldn't even allow me to play until a week ago last Monday. But it feels good to be hitting them again."

Observers agreed Snead must be feeling fair-to-middling good. Saturday he shot 68 over the par 70 Palm Beach Country club course and Monday he really warmed up with a 32—32—64 over the Palm Beach Golf club layout, lopping six strokes from par and setting a new course record.

Sammy, who has been one of the more popular figures in the pro golfing caravan, had to pass up the $5,000 San Francisco open, the $3,000 Bing Crosby tournament, and other California events, but plans to rejoin the top fighters on their swing back to Florida.

"I'll probably pick them up at San Antonio about Feb. 6," he said, "and I hope to be in condition then to go after titles in the balance of the winter schedule."

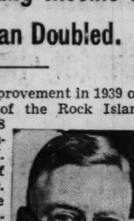
1939 EARNINGS OF ROCK ISLAND LINES IMPROVE

Net Operating Income Is More Than Doubled.

Substantial improvement in 1939 operating results of the Rock Island Lines over 1938 was reported yesterday by E. M. Durham Jr., chief executive officer. He said that the road's net operating income totaled $5,458,853, an increase of 117 per cent over the $2,512,843 in 1938.



E. M. Durham Jr.

The gain in net operating income (income before provision for fixed charges) was made despite an increase of only $690,011 in gross revenues. Durham said the improved showing was accomplished largely thru a reduction of $1,685,371 in transportation expenses, due to more efficient operation and economies effected by improvements to road and equipment, as well as to the increasing use of Diesel power.

December Income Higher.

The road's net operating income for December was $597,033, compared with $578,733 in December, 1938.

The Northern Pacific reported 1939 net income [income after provision for fixed charges] of $73,653, compared with a $4,322,414 deficit in 1938. Included in the company's income were dividends of $1,660,358 from the Burlington and $922,000 from the Northwestern Improvement Company, a wholly owned subsidiary.

The Erie for 1939 had a net operating income of $11,464,135, against $3,-214,328 in 1938.

PERSONAL INCOME TAX—1.

[This is the first of a series of articles on how to report your personal income and compute your federal income tax for 1939. The series will attempt to answer general questions about income tax. Specific inquiries will be answered by mail.]

Federal income tax returns must be filed on or before March 15 with the collector of internal revenue in your district. Stragglers are fined 5 per cent of their tax for each 30 days they are late in filing their returns, but the total penalty may not exceed 25 per cent.

The income tax itself must be paid on March 15 or in four equal quarterly instalments beginning on that day. The return must be accompanied by a duplicate on a green form. Failure to file this copy will cost the taxpayer a $5 fine.

Who Must File.

1. Any person whose gross income in 1939 was $5,000 or more.

2. Any single person or married person not living with husband or wife whose net income in 1939 was $1,000 or more. [Net income refers to gross income less proper deductions, but before personal exemption and credits.]

3. Any married person living with husband or wife who had net income of $2,500 or more in 1939.

Those whose net income was $5,000 or more and those who had income from other sources in addition to wages, salaries, dividends, interest, and taxable income from annuities must use individual income tax return form 1040.

Those whose net income was under $5,000 and whose income was derived solely from wages, salaries, dividends, interest, and annuities must use form 1040A.

Government Salaries.

For the first time in the history of federal income taxation the salaries of all state and local government employés in 1939 are taxable. Until March, 1939, it had been assumed that the federal government could not tax compensation received for services rendered to a state or municipality in exercise of necessary governmental functions.

The Supreme court ruled last year that the federal government can tax the salaries of state, county, and city employés and that the constitution does not exempt government employés from income taxes. Federal employés previously were the only class of government workers who paid the federal income tax.

The return should be prepared after a thoro reading of the instructions and an examination of the items to eliminate all deductions allowed under the law. It is illegal to evade legitimate taxes, but it is not unpatriotic, the courts have held, to pay only the minimum tax required by law. Overpayment is unjustified and results from carelessness.

Save the notes used in preparing the return. Explain clearly any item that might be questioned.

[The next article will be printed Sunday and will discuss gross income.]

START 10 POINT 1940 DRIVE FOR BETTER CHICAGO

Program Is Outlined for A. of C.

The 10 point program developed by the Chicago Association of Commerce for the attainment of a better Chicago will be pressed in the coming year with renewed vigor, Oscar G. Mayer declared yesterday at the Palmer House. The occasion was the start of his third term as president of the organization.

Mayer divided the objectives of the association into two groups: one a program of business service and development and the other a program of civic development and community organization.

New Industries for City.

The divisions of the first group include:

1. Increased effort to bring to Chicago and the Chicago area those industrial and commercial enterprises which can be located here advantageously. Among the activities which it is hoped to bring is the proposed federal research laboratory devoted to air transportation.

2. Increased effort to develop Chicago as a central market and especially to develop the relations of Chicago with downstate Illinois and nearby states.

3. Stimulate export trade, particularly with Latin America.

4. Endeavor to bring more visitors to Chicago thru exploitation of its recreational and educational life.

5. Continued effort to bring more conventions to the city.

6. Work to give Chicago as advantageous a place as possible in the nation's transportation system.

Objectives of Second Group.

The objectives sought in the second group include:

1. Study of the local governmental agencies with a view to getting a greater return on dollars collected in taxes.

2. Advancement of the association's legislative program designed to protect the interests of business and the lic generally.

3. Furtherance of city planning, neighborhood development and improvement, proper land uses, rezoning and a sound building code. Mayer said these problems are closely related to taxes, blighted areas and to expansion in the construction industry.

4. Effort will be made to obtain the coöperation of the citizens in achieving the association's program. It is believed that this can be done thru work with outlying business and civic groups.

Hopes for Civic Unity.

Mayer said the association hopes it will be able to create compelling civic unity regarding such objectives as law enforcement, rackets in business and labor organizations, more scientific handling of tax and other governmental problems, city planning, and the like.

Business, Mayer continued, should make greater effort to expand and stabilize employment. This can be achieved in part, he said, thru the stimulation of production—particularly in construction.

"Our effort will be directed not only toward more satisfactory relationships between workers and employers and more effective devices for adjusting differences between them, but will be concerned with the rights of individuals and of industries," Mayer said. "The association will oppose by every proper means, racketeering, violence and coercion. In this work it will seek the coöperation of labor and government."

Cites Cut in Budget.

Leverett S. Lyon, chief executive of the association, outlined the efforts made in the last few weeks to bring about greater coöperation of the association with governmental agencies. Among other accomplishments he cited the reduction of about $1,500,000 in the city's budget and the establishment of a special police group to fight rackets.

Arthur Perrow, chairman of the ways and means committee, presided at the meeting at which the association's officers for the coming year were installed.

SEC's Agents Halt Chicago Insurance Quiz

Investigators of the Securities and Exchange commission who were probing files of insurance companies in Chicago and elsewhere recently, have disappeared since newspaper accounts of their activities were published two weeks ago, Charles Burton Robbins, manager and general counsel for the Amereican Life convention, said yesterday.

Robbins said the SEC agents have disappeared from Chicago, and that he had reports that they have been called in thruout the country. The latter reports could not be confirmed, he added.

The SEC probing was first brought to public attention when Robbins told of being threatened with a subpena if he failed to turn over private files and correspondence of the convention to H. A. Blomquist.

Described as SEC Agents.

Blomquist described himself as an insurance investigator for the SEC. The files in question contained private letters of members of congress and the convention.

Two days ago the Metropolitan Life Insurance company declared that agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation had "sought to extract informatiton regarding sales and other agency activities" from its agents in Philadelphia, Pa., and Newark, N. J., last fall.

Insurance men said yesterday that the SEC investigators had attempted to examine into the private files of a number of companies thruout the country, but that most of the companies had feared to announce publicly what had happened.

They said that former SEC Chairman William O. Douglas, now a justice of the Supreme court, had announced at the time the SEC first began investigating the insurance business that it would be a friendly investigation.

Use Private Correspondence.

When the companies coöperated and opened their files to the SEC agents, private correspondence and interoffice memoranda between company officials were thrown into the records of hearings before the Temporary National Economic committee [monopoly probe].

The American Life convention, having a membership of more than 140 American insurance companies, has undertaken a campaign to keep the insurance business under state control. It has charged that the present SEC investigation is being conducted in order to build up a case for federal supervision of the insurance business.

AMERICANS SCOTCH? DRINKING OF SCOTCH SCOTCHES THAT IDEA

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24 (AP).—"There is no doubt," the commerce department said today, that American consumption of Scotch whisky is surpassing all records.

Summarizing a report from the American consulate in Edinburgh, the department said that 1939 shipments from Scotland, altho not yet tabulated, set a new record and orders for 1940 supplies "continued far above former levels."

Heaviest orders were said to be originating in New York, Washington, San Francisco, Chicago, Philadelphia, and Los Angeles.

[Copyright: 1940: By the New York Times.]

SAN JUAN, P. R., Jan. 24.—Puerto Rico offers itself as "exhibit A" to prove it makes good rum—it drinks more of its own manufacture than it exports. The chamber of commerce today issued a statement showing the growth of rum exports since the end of prohibition. In 1935 a total of 43,200 cases were exported to the United States, compared to 407,383 cases in 1939. Local consumption in 1939 exceeded 600,000 cases, approximately a gallon per capita.

I. C. C. CONDEMNS PROPOSED CUT IN GRAIN RAIL RATES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24 (AP).—The Interstate Commerce commission today condemned as "less than reasonable minima" proposed reduced all-rail rates on whole grain to North Atlantic ports for export.

The rates never became effective. They were scheduled to go into effect last June 20, but the commission suspended them and they expired last Nov. 30.

Eastern railroads proposed to reduce by 4 cents per 100 pounds their all-rail export rates on wheat, corn, oats, rye, and barley to United States North Atlantic ports from Chicago and Peoria, Ill.; Milwaukee, Wis.; St. Louis, Mo., and related points.

The Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie railway and its connections proposed a similar reduction to United States and Canadian ports on the North Atlantic and St. Lawrence river.

The eastern railroads contended the reduction was necessary to put them in a better position to compete for export traffic with thru all-water routes to St. Lawrence river ports and with lake-canal and lake-rail routes via Lake Erie ports to Atlantic ports.

JOBS AND WAGES IN ILLINOIS RISE MORE THAN USUAL

Employment made noteworthy gains in Illinois during December, the Illinois department of labor reported yesterday. It said that reports from 6,550 manufacturing and nonmanufacturing establishments employing 658,772 workers in December indicated increases over November of 1.5 per cent in employment and 2.6 per cent in pay rolls.

These increases were substantially larger than the averages for the preceding 16 years of 0.1 per cent in employment and 0.5 per cent in pay rolls. As compared with December, 1938, there were increases of 10.3 per cent in employment and 15.4 per cent in pay rolls. Compared with December, 1937, the increases were 1.2 per cent in employment and 7.1 per cent in pay rolls.

The average weekly wage for the entire reporting group was $27.40. Workers in the manufacturing division got a weekly average of $27.77, and in the nonmanufacturing division the average was $26.68.

Lee flowed at the rate of 6,000 barrels a day from the deep formation in the Lake field to set a record. It later made 6,200 barrels in a 24 hour test.

The Magnolia company also announced completion of the No. 31 S. Shanafelt, another deep test, as a 4,585 barrel well.

New funds invested in the company during the year, he reported, totaled $3,105,686, while earnings of $174,636 were distributed.

All officers were reëlected at the meeting, and Nathaniel A. Owings, a member of the architectural firm of Skidmore, Owings and Merrill, was elected to the board of directors.

DON'T TREAD ON LITTLE RIVALS, BIG BOARD TOLD

Complaints Noted by Chicago Exchange.

The Chicago Stock exchange yesterday took its first official notice of recent complaints by the New York Stock exchange that it was losing securities business to the Chicago market and other outside exchanges. It had been reported that the New York exchange might take action to recover this business.

Arthur M. Betts.

"We are confident no hasty or ill-advised action will be taken to interfere with the continued functioning of the smaller exchanges," said a statement issued to Chicago exchange members by Arthur M. Betts, chairman of the board of governors.

Considered a Veiled Hint.

"Nothing should be done which would prejudice the welfare of the business as a whole, or impair the efficiency of service rendered customers."

La Salle street circles considered the statement a veiled hint to New York's "big board" not to step on the toes of the smaller exchanges if it does attempt to recover its lost business.

"The smaller exchanges perform essential services in their communities, and their members, directly or indirectly, are responsible for a substantial portion of the New York Stock exchange volume," the statement said. It cited the "cordial and coöperative" relations between the New York and Chicago exchanges for many years.

Favor Revision of Tax.

The statement expressed the opinion of the board of governors that the New York state transfer tax should be revised, but said that there were many other factors contributing to the "big board's" loss of business. The New York exchange has laid the blame on the transfer tax.

The statement also cited figures showing that the New York Stock exchange accounted for 87.5 per cent of the listed stock volume of the country in the first 11 months of 1939, the New York Curb exchange for 6.4 per cent, and the 18 smaller markets for only 6.1 per cent.

The 71 issues listed both in Chicago and in New York account for about half of the Chicago exchange's volume of trading.

BILL TO CUT TAX.

New York, Jan. 24 [Special].—A bill will be introduced in the legislature tomorrow to revise the New York state stock transfer tax downward. The bill repeals the emergency tax which doubled rates in effect before 1933, and repeals double taxation on odd lot trading [less than 100 shares]. New tax rates set up: 1 cent per share sold for less than $10, 2 cents on shares selling between $10 and $50, and 3 cents on shares at $50 or more.

Cold Reports Send Eggs and Butter Soaring

Prospects of continued zero weather in important producing centers yesterday boosted egg and butter prices on the Chicago Mercantile exchange to their best quotations in two and three years.

January refrigerator egg contracts, which have made one of the sharpest advances in the history of the exchange during the last two weeks, gained 2 cents to 22.5 cents a dozen, closing near their peak. The quotation, traders reported, was the highest for a refrigerator future since December, 1938. January fresh firsts advanced an equal amount and closed at their peak of 24.5 cents a dozen, highest since 1937.

Butter Hits New Peak.

Butter futures scored one of their largest upturns in the last several years, reaching new two year peaks on gains of more than a cent a pound. January butter advanced to 30.75 cents a pound and held the quotation all day, while February advanced to 30.85, closing at the peak.

Wholesale eggs advanced 2¼ to 2½ cents a dozen under the pressure of lower receipts. Graded firsts sold at 24 cents locally and 24½ cents in cars. Cash butter prices also gained, advancing ¼ cent a pound, with 92 score at 31 cents, highest quotation since February, 1938.

Egg storage stocks at major distribution points dropped 16,214 cases to 87,265, and the supply will be exhausted within a week, traders said, if the severe cold expected in the north central states acts as a further hindrance to marketing.

Coöperative Sells Holdings.

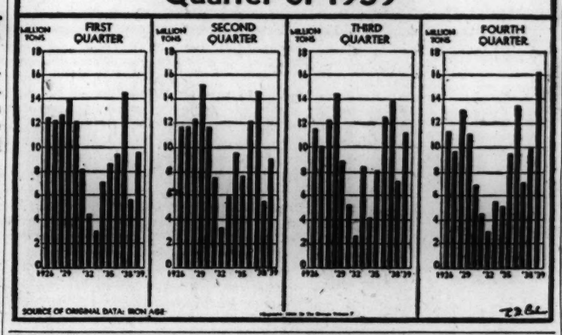
Butter dealers on the exchange reported yesterday that the dairy products marketing association, producer coöperative financed with government funds, has disposed of local holdings of butter purchased to stabilize prices.

Approximately 780,000 pounds were sold yesterday. The dealers said the bulk of the butter graded 90 score and was priced slightly above 29 cents a pound which compared with 22 to 23 cents, the purchase price. In the last 15 days the marketing association has disposed of 4,473,228 pounds, they said.

The agency still holds more than 4,000,000 pounds in New York, according to estimates here.

The American Butter institute reported butter production for the week ended Jan. 20 at 5,627,611 pounds, against 5,653,946 in the preceding week, a drop of 0.47 per cent. Production was 6,067,000 in the comparable week a year ago, the institute said, or 7.25 per cent higher than the current figure.

Never Has So Much Steel Been Produced as in the Last Quarter of 1939



Copper Supply Is Cut in Half by War Buying

Statistics on copper production and stocks, which were reported yesterday by the Copper Institute for the first time since last July, showed that United States supplies of refined copper were cut in half by the buying wave which followed the outbreak of the war in Europe.

Stocks at the end of December were 159,485 tons, a decrease of nearly 50 per cent from the 316,543 tons available at the end of July.

Domestic Shipments Increase.

Total shipments to domestic consumers increased sharply during the entire year 1939, amounting to 814,407 tons, against only 481,803 tons in 1938. Copper experts recalled that successively new monthly sales records were established in July and October, and said that this record volume of buying contributed to the large shipments.

Shipments to domestic consumers in the five months ended Dec. 31 were 457,315 tons, exceeding total production of 409,072 tons in the same period. Shipments averaged 91,443 tons a month during the period, compared with 59,681 tons in July. Export shipments during the five months totaled 79,584 tons.

Further Weakness in Prices.

Meanwhile further weakness was evident in copper prices, which began to crumble last week after holding for three and one-half months at the high levels established on the wave of war buying. The bid price for scrap copper was reduced another ¼ cent a pound to 10 cents.

The new price put scrap copper at the equivalent of 11½ cents for refined, altho refined was still quoted at 12 cents, down only ½ cent from its recent peak. In the outside, or resale, market, refined sold for slightly more than 11½ cents.

New York copper futures advanced .04 to .09 cent a pound, reversing the downward trend of the last few days. Tin futures gained .15 to .60 cent, but lead declined slightly. Zinc was unchanged.

Cottonseed oil, wool tops, cocoa, silk, and world sugar futures moved ahead for small gains. Domestic sugar futures and both Santos and Rio coffee declined.

HOLLAND TO REVALUE GOLD STOCK UPWARD AS CURRENCY FALLS

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 24 [Special].—The Netherlands government today announced that on March 31 it proposes to mark up the value of the gold reserves of the Bank of Netherlands sufficiently to offset 18 per cent of the 22 per cent depreciation which has taken place in the foreign exchange value of the Dutch guilder recently.

This does not mean a formal devaluation of the guilder, a return to the gold standard, or any alteration in the present status of the floating guilder.

Writing up the gold value of the bank's reserves in terms of guilders will mean a paper profit of slightly more than 221,000,000 guilders [$117,373,100].

The gold profit will be devoted to a new government loan fund for mobilization purposes, to cover losses sustained by the Dutch exchange equalization fund since its establishment, and to reimburse the central bank for sterling losses incurred in 1931 when England abandoned the gold standard.

PEEK ACCUSES HULL OF FRAUD IN TRADE PACTS

Former Head of AAA Opposes Program.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull and his associates in the state department were accused today of fraudulent methods in gaining original authorization in 1934 for the negotiation of the reciprocal trade treaties and in the administration of them thereafter.

George N. Peek.

The charge was leveled by George N. Peek, former administrator of the Agricultural Adjustment administration, and special advisor to President Roosevelt on foreign trade until November, 1935.

Peek appeared before the ways and means committee of the house, which is considering an administration measure to continue the trade agreement act, which expires in June. He vigorously opposed continuation of the program.

"Santa Claus to World."

"The United States is acting as Santa Claus to the rest of the world," Peek told the committee. "I believe that we should be a good neighbor. However, it is not our duty, as a good neighbor, to impoverish ourselves for the benefits of other nations. The place for the good neighbor policy to begin is at home."

Peek related the background of the trade agreement program, which was enacted in 1934. He said he personally was responsible for the preparation of the original rough outline from which the ultimate bill was drawn, amending the tariff act of 1930, and paving the way for the reciprocal trade agreement act. The outline was drafted as a result of meetings by the executive committee on commercial policy, of which Peek was a member. A new approach to

Chicago-Made Farm Implements Encircle Globe

EVERY agricultural nation on earth, from Siberia to the Argentine uses Chicago-made farm implements. Japan, China, Australia, South Africa, the Fiji Islands—wherever you find farms, you will find Chicago tractors, harvesters, plows or threshing machines at work. In the concentrated manufacture of agricultural implements and farm operating equipment, Chicago leads the world. The total value of farm implements made here yearly is well over $100,000,000. This essential industry has done its part to give Chicago its present position in the commercial world.

Chicago, the Wonder City—The commercial progress of Chicago is one of the marvels of the century. In common with other financial institutions, the growth of the Harris Trust and Savings Bank is largely dependent on the growth of Chicago. And the growth of Chicago rests on the faith and vision of its citizens. In a series of advertisements, of which this is the Eighth, we are trying to set forth a few of the achievements of this great city. Chicago will continue to contribute to the benefit of its citizens in proportion to their faith in its future.

New York Stocks.

New York, Jan. 24 (AP).—The stock market today staged its best advance in three weeks. Steels and aircrafts led the upturn to higher prices as traders shifted into these groups on the assumption the new year decline had been overdone.

Final prices were about the highest of the day and showed numerous gains of 1 to 3 points. Bethlehem Steel, a speculative favorite among the "war babies," snapped back above 74 for a net rise of nearly 3 points. United States Steel ended 2¼ points higher at 59¼.

Some analysts ascribed the upturn in stocks mainly to improvement in the internal conditions of the market and a growing belief that any business recession largely had been anticipated by the recent fall of prices.

The political situation came in for more attention from Wall street following the comment of John L. Lewis, C. I. O. leader, forecasting defeat for President Roosevelt if he ran as a third term candidate.

Dealings broadened when the buying spurt after a quiet start ended the stalemate of the last several sessions. The turnover totaled 712,180 shares, against 513,340 on Tuesday.

Final prices were 1 to 2 points higher for Chrysler, Youngstown Sheet, Sears Roebuck, United States Rubber, Douglas, United Aircraft, American Airlines, du Pont, American Smelting, Glenn Martin, and United States Gypsum.

New York Bonds.

There were numerous gains of two or more points and virtually the entire list proved responsive to improved demand by moving up. This better showing did much to dispel the nervousness exhibited by utility loans on Monday and Tuesday.

Portland General Electric 4½s, one of the chief targets of sellers in recent sessions, moved up two points on sales of $274,000, par value. Dispatches from the Oregon city said a movement was afoot to submit to voters a petition for establishment of a public utility district. This was taken in brokerage quarters to be the real basis for recent weakness rather than possible court action involving the company's stock, pledged as collateral for a bond issue of its parent company.

Chicago Stocks.

Six issues traded on the Chicago Stock exchange reached new 1940 highs yesterday in a market in which advances predominated. Of the 97 issues traded, 61 moved higher, 15 declined, and 21 were unchanged. Sales totaled 26,000 shares.

Berghoff Brewing reached a new high at 10¾, and closed ¼ higher at 20¾. Sunstrand Machine and Tool set a new peak at 17¾, but eased to 17¼ at the close, up ¼. Four issues closed at new high marks: Central Illinois Public Service preferred, 84½, up ⅝; Pictorial Paper Package, 5½, up ¼; South West Light and Power preferred, 99, up 1½, and Viking Pump common, 20, up ⅝.

Middle West was the volume leader on transactions of 4,200 shares. The stock closed ⅜ higher at 9¾.

Bank Stocks.

First National shares again staged a spectacular advance in bank stock trading yesterday, advancing four points to a closing bid of 246. The issue, active for several days, was quoted at 226 bid on Jan. 2.

Northern Trust shares advanced two points to 562 bid and Continental Illinois was up half a point at 90½. Chicago Title and Trust declined a point to 120. Other issues were steady.

WESTINGHOUSE EARNINGS SHOW GAIN OVER 1938

But Fail to Reach Levels of 1937 and 1936.

Net profits of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company increased well over the preceding year during 1939, the company reported yesterday, but fell below the totals of both 1937 and 1936.

Based upon the monthly earnings statements offered in connection with the company's wage and adjustment plan, 1939 net income aggregated $13,854,360, compared with $9,052,773 in 1938. In 1937, however, the company had net profits of $20,126,408, and in 1936 a total of $15,099,291.

Earnings last year were equal to $5.18 a share on the company's combined common and preferred stocks. Altho no comparable per share figure was given for the previous year, the 1939 amount was reported as more than 50 per cent over the comparable 1938 figure.

December net profits were $1,598,595, the company reported, against peak earnings of $1,822,117 in November, and $763,294 in December, 1938.

Wages Adjusted Upward.

As a result of the rise in profits in the final three months of 1939, the company reported, the wage adjustment to be paid to employés in January will be 12 per cent of the base rates, compared with 10 per cent paid in December and July, the peak payments last year.

The company's plan has been in operation more than three years and provides that wages and salaries be adjusted upward or downward each month within certain limits as the state of business indicates.

A. W. Robertson, chairman of the board, said that altho the adjustments are made in accordance with the average earnings of the company for the preceding three months, the wages paid are part of the cost of production and are not taken from accrued earnings.

Liggett & Myers Shows Gain.

Liggett & Myers Tobacco company reported net profit for 1939 of $20,705,549, or $6.13 a common share, against $20,560,884 or $6.08 a share in 1938. Net sales, the company reported, were $232,892,614, against $237,764,151 a year earlier, while inventories totaled $134,688,929, compared with $141,173,222.

Freeport Sulphur company reported net income of $2,200,762 for 1939, equal to $2.76 a common share. In 1938 the company, which maintains sulphur deposits in Texas and Louisiana, had net profits of $1,506,059, or $1.87 a share.

CANADA MOVES TO ENCOURAGE TOURIST TRAVEL

OTTAWA, Jan. 24 (AP).—Canada sought today to encourage tourist travel. The exchange control board announced a new regulation authorizing merchants, hotel keepers and other residents serving tourists to accept foreign currency from visitors at the official rates. The board noted there was to be no deduction or charge other than the ordinary bank charges on checks and other negotiable paper. The control pays a premium of 10 per cent in Canadian currency for the American dollar.

The Netherlands guilder yesterday dropped 0.04 cent in terms of the dollar in New York following an announcement by the Netherlands government that it proposes to write up the value of its gold reserve.

Recent Japanese offerings of sterling disappeared, money dealers said. The French franc advanced 0.00⅝ cent and the Belgian belga gained 0.07 cent. The Swiss franc was unchanged.

CLOSED BANKS RECEIVE, PAY OUT AT FASTER RATE

Both receipts and disbursements in Cook county state bank receiverships took a sharp upturn during the final quarter of 1939, according to State Auditor Edward J. Barrett.

Income of the 132 banks still remaining in receivership at the close of the quarter was $2,966,487 during the three-month period. This compared with receipts of 2,167,442 by 134 banks during the September quarter.

Barrett announced yesterday he had authorized additional repayments totaling $31,767 to the 17,500 depositors of the Citizens Trust and Savings bank, the Lyons State bank, and the Congress Park State bank.

Largest of these distributions is to be made to the 15,000 depositors of the Citizens bank, who will get $18,204. This amounts to 1.7 per cent of the total, and is the fourth and final repayment. The payment brings the total payout to 31.7 per cent.

The Lyons bank is dividing another $8,470 among its 1,500 depositors. This final distribution amounts to 4 per cent, bringing the total to 39 per cent.

The Congress Park bank's payment, also a final one, totals $5,092, or 18 per cent, and it is being shared by about 1,000 depositors. The disbursement brings the final payout to 63 per cent.

FARR INSTALLED AS PRESIDENT OF REALTY BOARDS

Newton C. Farr, former president of the Chicago Real Estate board, was installed as president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards last night in the Drake hotel. The ceremony took place at a dinner sponsored by the former presidents of the Chicago Real Estate board.

Arthur W. Binns, of Philadelphia, chairman of the housing committee of the national association, outlined a program by which the realtors will coöperate with the FHA in putting the dormant section 207 of the national housing act into effect.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

The congestion in wholesale and retail pork channels, which since Jan. 1 have handled some of the largest volume in more than five years, was reflected in the market for hogs yesterday. Receipts of hogs were lighter, but prices sagged again when buyers came out with small midweek orders.

Losses of 10 to 20 cents were general in all classes, with packing sows closing 15 to 25 cents lower. The day's top, off 10 cents at $5.55, stood only 15 cents above the lowest level in almost six years. Prices for the season averaged 10 cents lower at $5.10, or only 10 cents over the bottom for recent years.

Lighter receipts strengthened the trade for some other classes of meat animals yesterday. Steers and yearlings ruled strong to 15 cents higher, with some up 25 cents. Steady to strong prices werep aid for most slaughter lambs.

RIPS SEC STAND ON COMPETITIVE SECURITY BIDS

Eastern Banker Analyzes Effect on Public.

New York, Jan. 24 [Special].—The theory of competitive bidding was attacked as an example of a current "public be damned" attitude of government officials in an address made here today by Allan M. Pope, president of the First Boston corporation, before the finance conference of the American Management association.

Allan M. Pope.

Striking at testimony before the temporary national economic committee in Washington, Pope denied there is monopoly in the investment banking business.

Criticizing advocates of competitive bidding, the investment banker said the present agitation for it is directly contrary to principles set up by the Securities and Exchange commission five years ago as part of its program to protect the investor.

Competitive bidding seeks to give the issuer the maximum price the market will allow, Pope explained.

Criticizes SEC Theories.

"About five years ago a few investment bankers, including myself, were called to Washington, and a full commission [SEC] there told us, among other things, that the public must be given a break and new issues of bonds must be priced to the public, so that the expectancy would be for a rise of at least one or two points in the open market after the flotation of the issue. The bankers applauded this idea.

"We referred to the difficulty sometimes encountered when the issuer wanted a better price. The reply to this was substantially to the effect that we should not worry about the issuer, as the public alone counted.

"Today the same commission seems to be upside down on this subject to such an extent that underwriters are forced by this commission to get the topmost price for the issuer, particularly if it is a public utility holding company, and to offer such securities to the public as high as possible.

Questions Effect on Public.

"The fact is, shorn of all bias and profit motif, competitive bidding exemplifies the theory of 'the public be damned' more than any other single factor I can think of in investment banking.

"The layman, naturally, thinks competitive bidding produces good prices for the seller. Can you recall, however, any sound advocacy of this principle when the bidder is going to immediately turn around and sell the goods purchased to the public, and when the public has to buy these very goods, as there are no others identical, or he must go without?

"Is it not always considered fair for the seller, in this case the issuer, to give the public a break? Is it not wise for the issuer to consider the effect on his own credit, if the securities fail in price, because the price was forced too high?"

PICKLE PACKERS VOTE TO OPPOSE PUNITIVE TAXES

The convention of the National Pickle Packers association yesterday went on the record as opposed to discriminatory and punitive taxes which "would favor or penalize any selected group."

The resolution taken by the pickle packers at the Palmer House was similar to that adopted Tuesday by the National Canners' association, which is meeting at the Stevens hotel. Yesterday's session of the canners' convention was taken up with technical meetings.

Punitive and discriminatory taxes, declared the pickle packers, "would have a damaging effect on business by increasing costs of distribution," and thus cutting consumption and forcing production to lower levels in both agriculture and industry.

COTTON

American cotton markets turned upward yesterday and fully recovered the loss sustained on Tuesday. Heavy buying of futures attributed to Bombay, India, interests and mills and the strength in foreign markets were the bullish influences. Closing trades were about the top with gains of .17 to .42 cent a pound. The latter is equal to $2.10 a bale.

Demand for textiles was slow. Buyers were reported to be holding off until the market settles down.

Spot cotton closed .20 to .25 cent higher with New York 10.89 cents, New Orleans 10.62 cents; Galveston, 10.47 cents, and Houston at 10.46 cents a pound. Prices follow: increased world trade, which had dwindled as a result of the world depression, was considered.

PEEK ACCUSES HULL OF FRAUD IN TRADE PACTS

Former Head of AAA Opposes Program.

Grows Suspicious of Program.

"As time went on, I became suspicious of the purpose of many of those state department representatives who were so aggressively pushing this legislation," Peek testified. "I felt that they were driving primarily for a wholesale reduction in the nation's tariffs, without the approval of congress."

He recalled that he had made known his fears to President Roosevelt on many occasions in 1934 and 1935, both before and after the first five agreements had been negotiated and signed. He said he was assured that his fears were unfounded, when the President wrote him in November, 1936, saying:

"Nobody is asking laissez-faire or unconditional most-favored-nation general reductions in tariffs."

Only a month or so later, Peek continued, state department heads were declaring that the goal of the trade agreements program was to "mesh our domestic economy into world economy."

Cites Tariff Reductions

"The program continued and general reductions in tariffs continued to apply in trade agreements subsequently negotiated," he said. "Moreover, the original representation that these treaties would be held down to those nations which were the principal source of supply for products desired in the United States, was soon set aside also and winked at."

It was for these reasons that Peek resigned, he explained.

"I maintain," he told the committee, "that the power to carry on a general tariff reduction program was fraudulently acquired, and it continues to be fraudulently employed in the guise of 'bargaining,' supposedly for the altruistic purpose of generating world peace. I submit that this effort, too, has been futile."

Views Constitution Evaded.

Trade agreements are either treaties or tariff legislation in substance, Peek contended. He noted that the constitution provides for ratification of all treaties by the senate and provides that all revenue legislation must originate in the house.

The President's former foreign trade advisor, who was also first president of the Export-Import bank, made the following recommendations:

1. Establishment of a foreign trade authority, removed from the state department, and established by congress either by reorganizing the tariff commission, or by the creation of an independent agency, accountable to congress and the President, with power to continue negotiations looking to further agreements of a "truly reciprocal nature."

2. Enactment of a measure which would suspend the importation of any competitive farm product when the domestic price on that commodity fell below parity. Such a bill has been introduced in the house by Representative Roy O. Woodruff [R., Mich.].

ADVOCATES USE OF AAA SCHEME FOR INDUSTRY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24 (AP).—A system of production control for industry, similar to the government's agricultural adjustment program, was suggested today by Mordecai Ezekiel, economic adviser to the department of agriculture.

Testifying before the monopoly committee, Ezekiel said such procedure might serve to increase production, reduce prices and stimulate employment.

Ezekiel was one of a group of economists summoned by the committee to reply to a contention of United States Steel corporation witnesses that price cuts in depression periods would not bring sufficiently increased demand to justify the reductions.

Disputing this conclusion, advanced by Theodore O. Yntema of the University of Chicago, economist for the steel company, Ezekiel contended that it suggested that "the only way that increased production and fuller employment could be reached would be by substituting some other method of economic organization for the present right of the corporate managers of industry to decide what prices to establish."

MINNEAPOLIS FEOUR.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 24 (AP).—Carload lots, per brl in 98 lb cotton sacks; Family patents, unchanged, $6.55@6.75; standard patents, unchanged, $5.45@5.65. Shipments, 18,150 brls. Bran—$21.00@21.50 per ton.
